30,000 GERMANS RUSH TO SAVE HUNGARIANS

Hungarian Forces in Carpathians Threatened With Envelopment by Russians

VENICE, Feb. 5.—Despatches from Vienna state that 30,000 German troops have arrived in Hungary on the way to Korosmeze in the Carpathians to assist Hungarian forces said to be threatened with envelopment by the Russians.

Austrian forces, despatches say, have attacked the Russian left flank at Jacobeni, in southern Bukovina, forcing the Russians to retreat toward Radautz.

It also is stated that an Austrian advance guard has been annihilated in Ussok pass.

Confirmation is given the report that 200,000 German troops are being sent from Poland to assist in attempting the relief of Przemyel.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHT'S WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Germans repulse Russians south of Mamel river in East Prussia.

French positions extending 1-15 miles northwest of St. Menchould captured by Germans.

Germans and French fight on skies in the Vosges.

German assault northwest of Lens stopped by French cannon.

In Alsace the French gain ground near Kolschlag and repel attack at Uffholtz.

French capture 300 yards of German trenches north of Albert.

Twelve thousand Turks who tried to cross Suez canal defeated by British.

Germany declares English channel and all waters around Great Britain and Ireland a war zone.

Any neutral ships will be in danger of destruction, says German warning.

Austrians driven out of Tarnow.

Great battle in progress about Dukla, where "strong Russian pressure is felt," says Vienna.

Berlin says the German advance on Warsaw is progressing.

BLOCKADE, SAYS BERLIN

German Press Greets With Satisfaction, England's Order Putting British Waters in War Zone

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The entire German press greets with satisfaction the admiralty's declaration that the waters surrounding England, Scotland and Ireland have been included in the war zone. The headlines of several papers characterize the admiralty's action as a blockade. The Post declares it is a blockade and must be so considered.

"Neutral shipping," says the Post, "is given time to take refuge in safe harbors. Only after a measured period from all merchantmen going to and from the British Isles run into danger. Then to 24 hours men and freight not only on British ships but under a neutral flag are doomed to sink."

The Tagesschau declares: "We have accepted England's battle conditions. . . . We let England play its role and assume ours with all its rights and obligations. Let him guard himself who feels like coming between us."

The Lokal Anzeiger declares: "England's own weapons are being turned against herself and when Germany destroys the 'English yoke' under which the world has suffered for centuries, it will have accomplished a high historical mission and freed the world from one of its most dangerous enemies."

The Tageblatt says England's conduct to which the new decree is an answer has been an admission it could not defeat Germany with weapons which Germany realizes are not inconceivable. The paper expresses the opinion that neutral powers will suffer losses from the new declaration, but declares these losses will be small compared with those which England imposes upon them."

86,000 GERMANS ATTACK RUSSIANS ALONG VISTULA

Russians Forced to Give Up Mountain Positions in the Carpathians—Fierce Fighting Also in Progress in Russian Poland—Other War News

PETROGRAD, Feb. 5.—The official report of the Russian general staff given out in this city today relates that the forces of Emperor Nicholas have relinquished some of their mountain positions in the Carpathians. The troops opposed to the Russians in these positions are strong numerically and they are fighting with energy.

Near Borjomo in Russian Poland, the desperate and stubborn fighting which has been going on for several days is not yet at an end. The Russians claim progress, but mention no decisive action. The Germans, according to the Russian report, brought seven divisions into a front six miles wide. Seven divisions totals about 86,000 men. The text follows:

In East Prussia we are making progress by fighting our way along both banks of the River Scheschuppe in the vicinity of Lasdegen to the east of Tilsit.

On the left bank of the River Vistula the fighting between Borjomo and Wola Szlachecka has continued with extraordinary ferocity. The enemy has brought into the engagement compact masses of men. In the endeavor to penetrate our front the Germans have been introduced into a section of ten versts (about six miles) in progress, but mention no decisive action.

Two Thousand Captured.

In the Carpathians the fighting continues along the front which is between Dukla pass and Mount Wysz.

Now, we advanced at a point near Swednik in the valley of the River Labortich, moving in the direction of Ouhk. We took 2000 prisoners and 10 machine guns.

Repulsed With Heavy Losses.

At Mount Tarkhula and at Mount Beskid our troops during the last few days have been confronting the enemy with a desperate resistance. They accepted no less than ten engagements at the point of the bayonet. On Feb. 3 we resolved to withdraw our soldiers from the mountain positions to other positions previously selected and organized by us. The offensive strength of the enemy in this vicinity is very considerable.

Offensive operations of the enemy in the vicinity of Mount Wyszok have been repulsed with the infliction of heavy losses.

AMEND SHUTTLE LAW

MANUFACTURERS PETITION FOR AMENDMENT TO LAW FORBIDDING USE OF SECTION SHUTTLE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Cotton and woolen manufacturers and operatives from New Bedford, Fall River, Lawrence and other textile centers appeared before the legislative committee on public health yesterday on a petition of several manufacturers for an amendment to the present law forbidding the use of shuttle shuttles. The manufacturers ask to have the law changed so that it shall be amended for a mill owner or agent to permit the use of any form of 'shuttle' in the use of which it is necessary to put the thread in the mouth or for the operator to touch the shuttle with his lips.

Another section aims to provide that if a manufacturer can show to the state board of labor and industry any good reason for inability to comply with the law, that board may grant reasonable extension of time.

Among the proponents were Israel Braxton, attorney for the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association; John L. Burton of New Bedford; the Nashvans mills; Winthrop Kiltledge of Lawrence; for the American Woolen company; Gilbert T. Thompson of New Bedford, representing the Gosnell mills; A. G. Seabury of New Bedford, a shuttle manufacturer; James A. Adams of New Bedford and others.

Rep. Edward F. Harrington of Fall River conducted the case for the opponents and introduced the following speakers: John Hobbs of New Bedford, representing the Loom Fixers association; James H. Whitehead of Fall River, for the Weavers association of Fall River; Annie Burke, a weaver in the Stevens mills, Fall River; Francis Duffy of New Bedford, secretary of the Weavers union of New Bedford; John Holt of Fall River; Annie Rockett, a weaver of Fall River; Representative John Doherty, Ambrose Ogden and Frank Mulvey were recorded in opposition.

THE SHIP PURCHASE BILL

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ARE CONSIDERING NEW LINES OF ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Democratic leaders in the senate in a further effort to save the administration ship purchase bill were today considering new lines of action. Outnumbered by the opposition the majority leaders yesterday failed to carry out their plan to recommit the bill with instructions for amendment.

The new plan under consideration is to recommit the bill without instructions so as to bring it up again on a motion to discharge the bill. If it failed to return the measure with amendments recommended by the majority. Some of the leaders favor this plan if assured of enough votes to carry it.

Meantime the democratic leaders are waiting for the return here next week of two democratic senators, Newlands and Smith, of South Carolina. Then with the vote to 45 to 48 on a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to amend they would count on Vice President Marshall to break a tie in their favor.

THE COMPENSATION ACT

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE DEVOTES THREE SESSIONS TO HEARINGS ON SEVERAL PROPOSED BILLS

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—The legislative committee on judiciary held hearings all day yesterday and last evening on several of the 42 bills providing for changes in the Workmen's Compensation act. The committee will resume consideration of the measures this morning at 10:30.

At yesterday afternoon's session John Hobbs of the joint Textile committee of Fall River and New Bedford urged favorable reports on four bills, including one that increased the minimum compensation from $1 to $5, another that compensation date from the time of the injury, and a third that the injured person have the right to select his own physician.

Attorney Louis Swig spoke in favor of a bill which provides that the costs of court battles over the interpretation of the Workmen's Compensation act shall be paid by the person or persons losing the case. Representative Edward Harrington pleaded for a bill which says compensation shall be made weekly.

A bill giving employers the right of self insurance was discussed at some length, and Senator Clarence W. Hobbs of Worcester, who appeared in favor of the bill, was closely questioned on several members of the committee. Attorney A. L. Green of Holyoke also spoke in favor of the bill.

Senator Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford had seven bills before the committee, the most important of which called for an increase in the maximum compensation from $10 to $14 a week. Joseph J. Feeley of the Massachusetts Alliance of Employers and Manufacturers association spoke in favor of the measure.

Representative John J. Kearney discussed one bill calling for payment of compensation within seven days from the time of injury and another bringing workmen and mechanics employed by the transit commission under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation act.

E. P. Saltonstall represented the Boston Elevated on a measure to permit employment of certain persons on waivers of legal rights and Althus Cundy, vice-president of the Massachusetts Automobile Operators' association, spoke on a bill to apply workmen's compensation to chauffeurs.

The evening session was a quiet affair, only 20 persons attending and of these only three addressed the committee.

Henry Sterling, representing the State Branch of the American Federation of labor, opposed the bills which would permit employers to carry their own insurance, and pay their employees directly for injuries. He said the reason this proposition meets with favor from employers is that they know that many employees will keep silent concerning their injuries, because they feel, rightly or wrongly, that to insist upon their rights would be to endanger their employment. Many of them, he said, feel that they must accept what the employer is willing to give, or go into the street looking for a new job.

Frank Dresser, representing the American Steel and Wire company, pointed out that every accident must be reported to the Industrial Accident board, with heavy penalties for failure to report, and the board follows up every case and sees to it that the employee gets what he is entitled to. Thus there is no occasion for the employee to take the initiative in any case.

J. O'Malley of the Boston Law department opposed the bill providing that an injured employee may secure the services of any doctor he pleases. He said that Boston maintains a City hospital at an annual expense of more than $500,000, and it is unfair to require the city to pay other medical bills in addition. Mr. O'Malley will oppose other bills at tomorrow's session.

At the morning session Representative Henry of Westbury spoke in favor of his bill providing that employees may carry their own insurance and the same bill was also favored by Henry C. Sawyer, representing the Employ-

ALLEGED MURDERERS BREAK DOWN IN CELLS

Government Rested its Case in Trial of Grassadonio, Falzone and Morello for Murder

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 5.—The government rested its case today in the trial of Louis Grassadonio, Luigi Falzone and Ignazio Morello for the murder of James J. Connelley, a Lawrence Times jewelry salesman at Wakefield, on Dec. 20 last. Felix Pasquale, a 15-year-old boy who yesterday gave a detailed story of the crime as he allegedly Falzone had described it to him, Aug. 11.

Falzone and Grassadonio broke down in their cells today and sobbed bitterly, their cries arousing the other prisoners. Falzone complained of alleged Falzone had described it to him, Aug. 11.

ROACH WOULD NOT SELL

Lowell Man Turned Down Keady's Offer—Latter Going to Manchester—No Change in Circuit

The New England league will remain intact in 1915. Lowell and Manchester will both be in next season's circuit. Andrew Keady, president of the local club, announced that he would stick for another season at least in New England league baseball and refused to dispose of his holdings to Tom Keady, who stood ready to buy the Lowell franchise. Keady, after being turned down on the Lowell proposition, made an offer for the Manchester club which was accepted by Fred Lake and Brewer Smith. In brief this is the business transacted yesterday by the New England league magnates in their session at the Quincey house, Boston.

Yesterday's meeting of the New England league was perhaps the most important session held since the organization's birth in 1901. For two hours before the magnates were talked to order by President Tim Murran, rumors of mergers, club circuits, freeze-outs and many other impossible developments ran free through the lobby of the Quincey house which was crowded by those interested in New England league baseball.

Nobody seemed to know just what to expect. A feeling of deep uneasiness pervaded throughout the throng of baseball men. This club and that club were discussed as possible castoffs while not a single owner of a franchise would commit himself in any way.

Finally, however, the meeting was called to order and for over three hours the magnates thrashed out the situation among themselves. The ultimate result was what has been prophesied in The Sun since the first talk of a Federal invasion, and a merger with the Eastern association. The New England league will open its season in 1915 under exactly the same conditions that existed last season.

Keady Wanted Lowell Club.

Although it was announced that Tom Keady had bought the Manchester club his offer was mostly tentative. If the former Dartmouth athlete can be assured that his team will be allowed the use of Textile field next season there is no doubt that he will take over the Manchester holdings.

Tom Keady was a much disappointed man when he found that he could not buy the Lowell club. He came to the meeting yesterday with that idea in mind.

"I am ready to make Mr. Roach an offer which I think will be accepted," Keady informed the writer. "I was always thought that Lowell was the best town along the New England circuit." The local owner, however, decided to remain in baseball for another season and Tom was forced to give over his intention of locating here.

(See Next Edition)

Franks' Liability Insurance company and Frank Dresser, Henry Sterling, urged a maximum weekly amount of $15 for the present act, and also that private insurance companies should be prohibited from taking insurance under the act.

TWO DEAD, ONE DYING

FATAL AFFRAY OVER RELIGIOUS LECTURE—MARSHALL, TEX. MEN OBJECT TO ATTACKS ON CHURCH

MARSHALL, Texas, Feb. 5.—No hope was held yesterday for the life of John Copeland, bank cashier, shot Wednesday night in the hotel room of William Black of Bellaire, O., a lecturer, who with John Rogers of this city also was killed. George Ryan of this city is charged with killing Black and C. F. Hall, Black's companion, who resided from St. Paul, with killing Rogers and wounding Copeland. The shooting occurred Wednesday night within two minutes after a committee of Marshall men, Copeland, Rogers and Ryan, called on Black with a request that he stop his lectures here, attacking the Roman Catholic church. His first lecture here Tuesday night caused great feeling.

At the post-mortem, the coroner found on Black's body, in addition to the four wounds which caused his death, the scars of seven old wounds, apparently made by bullets.

Additional warrants were issued yesterday for Walter Verhalen and George Tier. The pistols carried by Black and by Rogers, who fell fatally wounded across the lecturer's body, are said to show that neither had been fired.

Women's Federation Holds Business Meeting—Excellent Supper and Fine Entertainment

At the business meeting of the Women's Federation of the First Trinitarian Congregational church yesterday afternoon it was voted to hold socials and suppers on the second Wednesday of the month. An excellent supper was served at 6.30 by a committee headed by Mrs. Nelson Hill and Mrs. Wiggins. There was a very delightful entertainment, too, consisting of a little skit, entitled "The Talent of the Sweet Family." The cast included: Mrs. Clarence Hoyt, "Ma Sweet"; Mrs. Lorenzo Ayer, "Araminta Ann, prima donna"; Miss Susie Caldwell, "Betty Bellamy," the delicate one; Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall and Miss Ben Henderson, "Caroline Cordelia and Poppy Delilah, the twins"; Miss Mary McPherson, "Elizabeth Eliza, dramatic recitationist"; Mrs. Bert McKinley, "Frances Fenway, the girl who had been in love"; Miss Irene Connelley, "Gloriana Gadabout, the singer." The chorus rehearsal and trustees' meeting were held at the same time in other parts of the church.

LOWELL GRANGE DANCE

Florida Oranges and Grapefruit Ripened Under Nature's Smiles

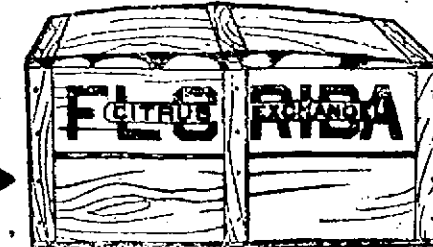

Citrus fruits came first to Florida of all America—were the heritage of the State from its Spanish discoverers. In no part of the world have oranges and grapefruit attained the perfection they have reached in their adopted "Land of Flowers." The soil and sunshine—the ocean breezes and the summer showers—develop and ripen the fruit in Florida as nowhere else. Every Florida orange and grapefruit which ripens on the tree is filled with citric acid, which has been tempered, sweetened and enriched to a most delicious flavor. The progressive citrus fruit growers of Florida work together in a co-operative organization for the mutual protection of themselves and the consumers of oranges and grapefruit. This is known as the

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald

JAMES P. SPILLANE,
Chairman Banquet Committee,
(Marion)

The large assemblage gathered last evening in the rooms of the Young Men's Catholic Institute on Stackpole street to greet and honor their brother member, Frank P. McGilly, who has been recently elected president of the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust company, must have realized before the festivities came to a close that the young man whose energy, initiative and ambition have been so notably rewarded, earned all the honor that has come his way by nobility of character and tireless enterprise. Men of state-wide reputation and holding positions of high responsibility in political and financial circles were there, both from this city and Boston to add their personal tribute to those of the fathers of the immediate conception, church, banking and business men of Lowell, life-long friends and companions and men who had worked with Mr. McGilly through many of the phases of his as yet brief but brilliant career.

The event was characterized, not only by the large group of distinguished men, gathered to congratulate the young bank president, but by the spirit of friendliness, enthusiasm and cordiality that was manifested all during the evening. All who spoke declared their personal pride in Mr. McGilly and predicted still greater things for him in the near future. Besides the regular program there were several impromptu speeches, mostly by the prominent bank men present, many of whom had accompanied ex-Mayor Fitzgerald and Bank Commissioner Thorndike from Boston.

The Banquet
Shortly after 8 o'clock the various groups that were gathered informally in the rooms of the Y. M. C. I. were assembled and marched to their places to the strains of the orchestra. The hall had been decorated beautifully for the occasion with var-colored streamers of bunting, flags and the national colors. Over 250 persons were present. At the head table sat James J. Spillane, P. McGilly, Charles B. Wiggins of Boston, Joseph H. Kennedy of Boston, Hon. John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, John C. Farrington, Frank P. McGilly, Augustus L. Thorndike of Boston, Representative John J. Gilbride, George M. Harrigan, Larkin T. Trull, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, John H. Shea, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. L., Rev. James P. McGarrin, O. M. L., Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. L., and Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O. M. L.

Many other distinguished guests were present, most of whom sat at the various tables at the head of the hall. The financial, professional, business and political life of Lowell was well represented.

John C. Farrington, Toastmaster
At the conclusion of the banquet Mr. John Shea, president of the institute, introduced James J. Spillane, chairman of the evening, who in turn introduced as toastmaster John C. Farrington. Mr. Farrington, the able toastmaster of the evening, presided with tact, intelligence and eloquence. His introductory speech was, in part, as follows: "This is a night of great pleasure and satisfaction, of encouragement, congratulation and delight for the Young Men's Catholic Institute of Lowell, for we have met to rejoice with one of our members upon his entry into a place of useful responsibility and activity in the business life of the city—

FACE COVERED
ALL HER LIFE

But Miss Ayres Got a "Beautiful Complexion" at a Cost of Only $2.00

Nov. 23, 1914:—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. I used two jars of Resinol Ointment and some Resinol Soap, the total cost being only $2.00, and this completely cured my case. My skin is without a blemish and I am the possessor of a beautiful complexion." (Signed) Mabel Ayres, Stone Mountain, Va.

his city and our city. This is essentially a young man's night—for the young men of this society and the young man who is the centre of our honored guests on this occasion. We pay all due reverence and respect to age and stability, and long and tried experience—that goes without saying—but we will be pardoned, I know, if we turn for a brief space of these exercises to the glorification of youth; youth with its dreams, its hopes and aspirations, its bright promises of success, its achieved and accomplishments to be realized.

"I can wish Mr. McGilly nothing better than that the years to come shall bring a continuation of his growth in ability, character, and that true worth and uprightness which win the esteem of honest and discerning men, and win it because they deserve it.

We shall all watch the career of Mr. McGilly in his new sphere, but none will watch it with greater interest and affectionate concern than his boyhood friends of this society. We know him, as many know him in his general outside relations with the world; but we know him also as one of the Y. M. C. I., and we feel that some part at least of the training which has made him what he is, may be attributed to his early connection with this society. Now Y is for youth, enthusiastic, untarnished, hopeful, progressive youth; Y is for manhood, masterful manhood, manly and modest; Y is for character, courage, catholic, Christian character and chivalry; Y is for integrity, industry, intelligence and independence. Little by little they are a host of good things, and collectively they stand for the ideal things of God-fearing, hopeful, intelligent, ambitious manhood.

The way to worthy and satisfying success opens attractively and with promise to our friend tonight. He has within him great possibilities for himself, and he also has imposed upon him serious duties and responsibilities, the faithful and intelligent discharge of which will bring great satisfaction to himself, joy and pleasure to his friends, and encouragement and in-

Most men shave "on the run."
More time given to shaving, or in "getting ready," soon discloses many hitherto unrealized joys of shaving one's self.
Early morning shaving is considered best for the face, because the flesh and skin have had a chance to relax and get in a normal condition during the night.
The face should be carefully washed and wiped dry before the first lather is applied.
Work in the lather with the brush, or a rubber beard softener, and not the fingers. Then use the razor.
A razor never "pulls" a beard that has been properly prepared.

FEW ENGLISH PORTS SAFE FROM ATTACKS OF GERMAN SUBMARINES

The following are some of the exploits of the German submarines since the beginning of the war. It will be seen in the accompanying map that these daring under sea raiders have almost circled the British Isles (the places where they have sunk British ships being marked with a star), and there seem to be few ports which are safe from attack:

Pathfinder—Sunk by U-21 off St. Abbs Head, Scotland, Sept. 5.

Cressy, Aboukir and Hogus—Sunk by U-9, "the North Sea," Sept. 22.

Hawke—Sunk "the northern waters of the North Sea," Oct. 16.

Hermes—Sunk in the strait of Dover, Oct. 30.

Torpedo Gunboat Niger—Sunk in the Downs, off Deal, two miles off shore, Nov. 11.

German submarine reported sunk off Dover, Nov. 13.

Audacious—Sunk off the north coast of Ireland, Oct. 27.

Reported raid by two submarines in the Firth of Forth, Dec. 9.

Formidable—Sunk off Plymouth, Jan. 1.

INTERESTED IN PEACHES

39 STATES OF OUR 48 DEAL IN PEACHES—HINTS ON HOW TO GROW FRUIT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5.—In at least 32 of our 48 United States there are peach interests of commercial importance, according to a new Farmers' Bulletin (No. 631) of the U. S. Department of Agriculture on "Growing Peaches." This bulletin is the first of three on the general subject of peach growing, which will treat of fundamental orchard operations. The questions of site, propagation, planting, tillage and soil fertility are treated in the first bulletin now being issued.

In locating a peach, as well as any other orchard, other advantages must be considered besides the natural ones of climate and soil. If an orchard is too remote from a shipping station, too far away from a suitable market, or located where ice for refrigerator cars cannot be conveniently supplied, it may not be possible to grow peaches there profitably.

Peaches may do well on a wide range of soil types including even some of the moderately heavy clay loams and clays. But whatever the type, a soil must be thoroughly well drained to be suitable for peaches. They will not succeed on poorly drained soils. It follows that the heavy clay types which are so hard and impervious that water does not percolate through them readily are to be avoided as a rule. Moreover, a soil should be moderately fertile. One very rich in nitrogen is not to be desired as a general rule, since it is likely to induce an excessive growth of foliage. On the other hand, the impression which is somewhat common that a poor, infertile soil is "good enough for peaches" is erroneous.

In districts in which alkali soils occur, sites should be selected with a view to avoiding them. While the peach tree can be grown where there is a limited amount of the alkali salts, they cause disaster if present in large quantities. It is safer, therefore, to avoid them as far as possible.

As a general proposition, a site that is elevated considerably above the surrounding areas is to be preferred for a peach orchard. Relative elevation is generally of greater importance than actual elevation above sea level. It is a well-recognized fact, though one too often overlooked in selecting sites for orchards, that cold air settles to the lower levels. For this reason it is often colder at the lower elevations than it is at higher points in the same locality. This is what is meant by "radiation drainage." The occurrence of frost in low places when there is none on elevated areas is thus explained. For the same reason peaches are often winter killed or the blossoms are injured by frost in the spring in low places when near-by orchards on higher elevations are injured much less, or even escape entirely.

Where an orchard occupies a site that is adjacent to a large body of water, the importance of a relatively-soning of peach trees situated within the zone to be delayed until after the season of spring frosts is past.

In the fall, frosts are delayed in a similar manner, except that the large body of water, having absorbed much heat during the summer, cools off in the fall more slowly than the atmosphere, and hence it tends to keep the temperature within its zone of influence warmer than it would otherwise be.

It is because of these reasons that the peaches are grown with marked success in the zone of influence of the water, and that the crops are commonly asked is, "What slope is best?" It is one that admits of no direct answer. No one slope is preferable under all conditions and in all regions. In fact, the influence which a particular exposure may have in the success of an orchard is probably much over-emphasized in the popular mind. As a rule, it is doubtless safe to assume that a site having a moderate slope in some direction is to be preferred for orchard purposes, other things being equal, to one that is level. One having a slope will usually have better soil and atmospheric drainage than a level area. The new bulletin shows how temperature is a limiting factor in peach growing. It also explains the general features of the propagation of peach trees which should be understood by peach growers, even though the average peach grower is not concerned directly with the subject. The bulletin then proceeds to give details regarding the planting and tillage of the orchard, as well as an explanation of methods of maintaining the fertility of the soil. There are a number of figures illustrating the new pamphlet which may be had by application to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

My rise in the tailoring business is probably the most phenomenal ever known in this country. Five years ago this month I opened my first store in Schenectady, New York, on a limited capital and with probably my energy and ambition to carry me along. From the very outset this store achieved great success. It was the beginning of the Tom Wilson chain of tailoring stores, of which there are now fourteen in the East and Middle West. Through these stores I have assumed a buying point second to no other tailoring concern in America. I am able to use quantities of woollens that probably no other tailor could handle and I buy at virtually my own prices. Year after year I have sought to increase the efficiency of my workshops and to reduce the cost of production by increasing the volume of business. I believe my cost of making a suit or overcoat will average twenty to thirty per cent. less than any other dealer, with the result that I am able to offer you an unrestricted choice of all suitings and overcoatings in my immense stock at $8.50, made to measure any style you desire.

MIDDLESEX SOCIAL CLUB

WHIST TOURNAMENT ENJOYED AT THE QUARTERS ON MIDDLESEX STREET

A delightful social was enjoyed at the Middlesex Social club in Middlesex street last evening, the occasion being a whist tournament between the members of this organization and those of the Broadway Social and Athletic club. The program included a game of whist followed by a musical program and the serving of refreshments.

The affair was in charge of President William Murphy of the Middlesex Social club, who welcomed the guests in a short address. Twenty-four deals were played and at the close of the tournament the score stood: Middlesex Social club, 236; Broadway Social club, 231, giving the entertainers a 42-point victory. In the first encounter on Jan. 21, the Broadway aggregation scored a 152-point win. The third and final match will be held within a few weeks.

At the close of the whist musical program was carried out, these taking part being: Highland orchestra, A. O'Hara, W. Carr, G. Kerwin, W. Brown and B. Rogers of the Manhattan club; W. McGookin, J. Kane, Patrick McGann, H. Smith, Representative Dennis A. Murphy of the Broadway club, and P. Grezole, W. Murphy, H. Edgar, H. Landry, L. Land and Adair, B. B. of the Middlesex club.

The committee in charge of the tournament is as follows: Chairman, Herbert H. Edgar; Thomas Jones, Gen. Penette, Adair Berard and Fred Tucker. Officers of the Middlesex Social club for the 1915 term are: President, William Murphy; Vice-president, Joseph Roberts; treasurer, Louis Ford; financial secretary, Russell Swann; recording secretary, Herbert H. Edgar; sergeant-at-arms, Emilio Dyer, and board of trustees, J. Landry, A. Jacques and H. Campbell.

WHAT SCIATICA IS

There is something terrifying about the word sciatica. Yet sciatica is nothing but neuralgia of the sciatic nerve and neuralgia is an inflammation caused by lack of nourishment.

Application of dry heat as hot sand bags or flannel to the course of the inflamed nerve often quiets the pain but it does not feed the nerve. It is temporary relief, a good thing to know about, but not a remedy.

What causes the nerve starvation that results in neuralgia and sciatica and how may it be corrected?

The most common cause is a run-down physical system and a frequent exciting cause is exposure to cold. Thin blood is often at fault. It is through the blood that the nerves get their nourishment. Morbid man knows of no other way of getting nourishment to a nerve. Therefore when the blood gets thin and fails to feed the nerves they show their resentment by becoming inflamed. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at this stage and see how the inflammation subsides as the enriched blood carries to the starved nerves the elements they need.

SICK CHILDREN LOVE CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets "Candy Cathartic" which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

It's an interesting work going through the Sun of a quarter of a century ago and noting the news and comment and the personalities of those days. For instance, I find that the editor of the old Sun must have been a militant church member and my evidence of the fact is in an editorial headed "The Intelligent Church Sexton," which read as follows:

"Why is it that so many church sextons are unable to comprehend the meaning or necessity of ventilation and the difference between heat and cold? No other man on earth but a church sexton has the heart to roast a congregation on a hot day and freeze them almost to death on a cold day. He can see the condensed steam from his boiling victims roll down the iron columns and drip from the window panes to the floor, but he hates to open the windows and spoil the fun. He hears of hundreds who contract colds that lead to sickness and death, from sitting in a cold church during services, but he doesn't take the trouble to improve matters, although the coal-burn is bursting. He hears of sensitive people who will complain of a headache as a result of imperfect ventilation or rather the absence of any ventilation at all, but he can't understand what that means as he never has the headache."

"It takes a good deal of physical courage and pluck devotion to go into a church in good health with full knowledge that one is in danger of coming out sick or on the verge of sickness and yet such are frequent experiences in more than one church in this city, and the complaints are growing louder and stronger. Meanwhile, the sexton rubs his hands in silent satisfaction in the thought that his suffering victims must grin and bear it."

The above is respectfully referred to all local church sextons without comment for their careful consideration between now and next Sunday.

The Mathews' Theatricals

Looking over the accounts of the amateur performances of a quarter of a century ago one finds that while all of the ladies who appeared before the footlights in those days have long since disappeared from the theatrical limelight, some of the gentlemen are still with us and having mellowed with age are even better than they were when 25 years ago they modestly bowed before the prolonged plaudits of their admiring friends. The thought is suggested by a report in

CUTTING ICE AGAIN

Gage Company Resumes Work on the Merrimack River—About 200 Men Employed

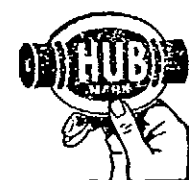

Ice cutting was resumed by the Daniel Gage company today on the Merrimack river. The work was started Monday but had to be postponed on account of the severe storm which lasted Tuesday and Wednesday. All yesterday was spent in scraping the snow from the ice and today a sufficient space of ice was scraped for the cutting to begin. The ice is about 10 inches thick and of good quality. About 200 men will be employed when the work starts in earnest.

AT PANAMA FAIR

Textile School Will Have Exhibit - None From Local Mills

It was learned yesterday that the local manufacturers will not have any exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International exhibition, which will be held at San Francisco. However, many of the Lowell products will be on exhibition, but the names or location of the manufacturers will not be known, for the goods will continue an exhibit arranged by a large body of manufacturers and they will be utilized simply to show the quality of the dye manufactured by the said company.

Nevertheless, Lowell will be represented at the exhibition, for the Lowell Textile school will have quite an exhibit at the Palace of Education. The school's exhibit will be sent under the auspices of the state board of education in order to show what the state is doing in the line of education. The school exhibit will consist of two large glass cases. One will contain a series of boxes including photographs and material designs showing the various steps of manufacturing worsted goods and woolen fabrics. The other case will contain dye stuffs, such as cold fast dyes and color fast dyes, together with material dyed from these, all the articles having been prepared at the school. Another exhibit showing the character of the work performed at the machine shop and the completed products.

A series of multiplex frames 23 inches wide and 45 inches high will be included in the exhibit. These frames will work automatically by means of a motor and will contain charts descriptive of courses at the Lowell Textile school and some of the students' work. What is known as a stereograph, including from 45 to 50 slides, showing men at work in the various departments of the school, the equipment and character of the work and interior and exterior views of the school.

Vocational School
The Lowell Vocational school will also have an exhibit at the exposition, which will consist of the various departments of the school, showing the boys and girls at work. With the pictures will be considerable literature explaining the workings of the school and the benefits derived from it by the many pupils.

CRUSHED IN ICE JAM

STEAMER IOWA SANK IN LAKE MICHIGAN - PASSENGER AND CREW TOOK TO ICE

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The steamer Iowa of the Goodrich Transit Co. sank in Lake Michigan about three miles off the river mouth today after being crushed by an ice jam.

The crew numbering 70 and the one passenger clambered over the ice pack as the vessel tilted and struggled to reach hummocks to shore. Those who reached safety first declared that no one had been lost.

The Iowa, beaten back from the Chicago harbor Tuesday night, made a fresh start from Milwaukee last night and with the Racine and other vessels was caught in the ice pack off the harbor this morning. The vessel, valued at $150,000, carried a miscellaneous cargo from $50,000 to $75,000 in full value. Officials of the company said it was fully insured.

INTEREST IN EXHIBIT

LAWRENCE MANUFACTURERS AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SHOW

REAL SIGNS OF LIFE
LAWRENCE, Feb. 4.—The chamber of commerce gave out the following statement today:

"The storm has not been able to hold up the four cars of Lawrence exhibit now on their way to the Panama-Pacific International exposition.

"Reports received at the chamber of commerce traffic department show cars arriving at and departing from Rotterdam Junction, N. Y., sharp on schedule time.

"The enthusiasm in connection with this exhibit of Lawrence-made goods at the Panama-Pacific International exposition is growing; several manufacturers who would have nothing to do with the matter when it was first agitated, are now expressing an interest. They are beginning to realize that the opportunity for a ten months' free advertisement in an attractively arranged exhibit of hundreds of thousands of people from over the world, is something that should be taken advantage of.

"Leaving out all questions of self-interest, every industry in the city which makes an article that can be displayed, should take enough interest in the attempt to have Lawrence go in and help make a creditable showing.

FIRE INSURANCE AGAIN

Lowell Fire Underwriters to Prepare Reply to Commissioner Carmichael's Statement

The members of the Lowell Fire Underwriters association held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in their quarters in Central street. The meeting had been called for the purpose of preparing a reply to the statement made by Col. James H. Carmichael a few days ago to the effect that the underwriters did not live up to their agreement of 1898. It is stated that the members discussed the matter for a couple of hours without coming to an agreement. Finally, it is claimed, although the president of the association had no statement for the press, that one of the members is to take the matter up with the fire prevention committee of the Lowell board of trade.

CRUISER BREAKING UP

JAPANESE CRUISER ASAMA WAS WRECKED 500 MILES SOUTH OF PORT HARTLOPHE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Rear Admiral Howard, from his flagship San Diego, off Ensenada, Lower California, informed the navy department today by wireless that the Japanese cruiser Asama with 500 men has been wrecked about 500 miles south of Port Hartlophe and is breaking up.

The admiral added he was sending assistance at once from the nearest American vessel.

The Asama is a cruiser of 900 tons displacement. The Japanese cruiser Asama has a war record that dates back to the battle of the sea of Japan, May 26-28, 1905, when she was captured by the surrender of Rear Admiral Nebogatoff of the Russian navy.

More recently the Asama has been active in the Pacific. In November she was reported as hovering outside of Honolulu harbor, awaiting the coming out of a German warship, and in January of last year she was reported as down the coast of Peru, looking for the German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES
CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—More bakers fell off the line today and the slack loaf of bread has superseded the cheaper loaf in every part of the city.

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—At a mass meeting in Faneuil hall today a resolution protesting against the amendment by congress of the ship purchase bill was passed.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Cunard Transatlantic which left New York Feb. 3 and had been expected to arrive at Queenstown on Tuesday of this week, carrying 50 Americans.

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—The house reversed its attitude today on the preparedness of the state for war by killing the resolution for an investigation adopted yesterday.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—By wireless to Sayville, A. defector for French troops has been received from the front. The defector is reported in a despatch in Madrid as given out here today by the Overseas News Agency.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Mary Elizabeth Braddon (Mrs. John Maxwell), the English novelist, died today at her residence at 10, Grosvenor place, after a fortnight's illness. She was born in London, in 1837.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 4.—A freight train and half a mile of tracks of the Kanawha & Michigan railroad were swept into the Kanawha river near here today by a landslide. One of the crew was injured. The rest will be required to open the line.

NEWBURPORT, Feb. 4.—The body of Nicholas Woodward, the youth who was lost in the ice floes in the Merrimack river Tuesday night while endeavoring to rescue a wounded bird, was recovered.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—There has been published in Germany recently what purports to be a list of the names of the British admiralty to British merchant ships instructing them to make use of neutral flags. German officials all are referring to this alleged order.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Freddie Welsh, charged with high larceny, and a son of an Indianapolis were matched today to box six rounds at Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 15. They agreed to fight 12 rounds at 2 p. m. the day of the bout.

DAWSON, Y. T., Feb. 4.—No word concerning Vilhjálmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, was contained in the budget of mail brought from Fort MacPherson by northwest mounted police who arrived yesterday from the Arctic coast. Letters dated as late as Dec. 11 said no tidings had been received from Stefansson, who set out from Herschel Island last March for Banks Island.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 4.—The second war session of the Canadian parliament was opened today by the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada, with the accustomed brilliancy which usually attends the ceremony, but with unusual precautions to protect his royal highness from possible attack by hostile aliens.

BABY SAYRE AIDS BELGIANS
LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 4.—The New Era, the local recipient of Belgian relief funds, received a check of $30 for the sufferers yesterday from Miss Blanche Nevins, a well-known philanthropist. An accompanying letter credits $10 each to Miss Nevins and sister, Miss Alice Nevins, also of Lancaster, the other $10 being credited to Mrs. Francis Sayre, grandson of President Wilson.

The baby's father, Francis B. Sayre, is a nephew of the Misses Nevins. It was from the Nevins home that the first intimation came of his engagement to President Wilson's daughter.

HIGH SCHOOL RIFLE CLUB

The officers of the high school rifle club met in the school hall yesterday and elected the following officers: President, Lieut. Col. Arthur C. McCarthy; vice president, Charles Foley; treasurer, Major Sidney Perham; secretary, Captain J. H. McDonald; captain, Donald Pratt. There were some contests and friendly interest existed. President McCarthy's election was unanimous.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MCANALLY

Obsequies of Prominent Lawrence Woman, Favorably Known in This City

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Mary's church, Lawrence, for the late Mrs. Louise M. McAnally, wife of Frank A. McAnally of 31 Ames street, Rev. George F. Gleason was the deacon and Rev. John R. Leonard the sub-deacon. The pall bearers were School Committeemen Philip McCarthy, Philip O'Connell, Dr. Timothy S. Donovan, Joseph Donovan, Attorney Hugh A. Clegg and Michael Fitzgerald. Interment was in the immaculate conception cemetery, Lawrence, where committal services were said by Fr. Leonard.

Mrs. McAnally was well known here and her passing will be mourned in Catholic circles in Lawrence, where she was deservedly popular. Deceased was married but seven months and the illness which terminated in her death was of comparatively short duration. She was a cousin of Mr. John I. Donovan of the faculty in the Lawrence high school.

PASSES EASY DIVORCE LAW
CARSON CITY, Nev., Feb. 4.—The assembly passed the easy divorce bill by a big majority yesterday in response to the statewide demand for the same, after a long and heated discussion of the matter for a couple of hours without coming to an agreement. Finally, it is claimed, although the president of the association had no statement for the press, that one of the members is to take the matter up with the fire prevention committee of the Lowell board of trade.

STOCKS SHOW FIRMNESS

ALL LEADERS OPENED AT SLIGHT ADVANCES—MARKET RECEIVED SETBACK AT NOON

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Stocks displayed general firmness at today's opening despite the lower range reported by London. All the leaders opened at slight advances which were soon increased. The feature was Bethlehem Steel, which rose 15-8 with gains of almost as much in the special group. High grade railroad shares seemed to be in moderate demand and U. S. Steel moved up almost a point. National Biscuits and American Sugar were exceptions to the higher trend. The market received a decided setback at noon on offerings of Canadian Pacific and S. P. causing a recession of one to two points. Selling of Can. Pac. was assumed to be for foreign account while S. P. was sold by a prominent brokerage house which usually represents important interests. Temporary recession of this movement partially restored the price level and other specialties subject to pool manipulation.

There was recurrent selling of leading stock in the afternoon and Bethlehem Steel reacted a point on denial of dividend rumors. Specialties also declined on profit-taking sales after which trading tapered into dullness. The extreme dullness of the afternoon was followed by further selling in the final dealings. The closing was irregular.

SOARING WHEAT PRICES

When the war first broke out, the prices of wheat and other commodities in this country began to soar without apparent reasons. Soon the public made no secret of its resentment towards a condition which was not warranted by the facts of the case and the intervention of the government was sought. Federal investigations were immediately ordered and though no direct action was ever taken, it is significant that with the publication of the government's intention, the wheat prices ceased soaring and were soon reduced to normal.

Once again the price of wheat is going up by leaps and bounds and as a consequence flour has become very costly with every indication of still higher prices. From day to day the price of wheat is being boosted on the Chicago exchange and already the poor are beginning to feel the difference in the increased cost of living. For this condition two causes are assigned, one by those who adjust the prices and the other by those who say that the increase is needless and unjustifiable. The former declare that the high prices have been occasioned by the legitimate operations of supply and demand, and those opposed say that the wheat owners simply take advantage of a phenomenal opportunity to bleed the dependent public.

The legal department of the United States is apparently anxious to get at the true facts in the case and does not seem to be willing to accept the statements of the great grain companies without full and convincing proof of their accuracy and honesty. Notices have been served on these grain companies to appear before the United States district attorney with records of their transactions for the past five or six months. These records will in all probability reveal whether the controllers of the situation are guilty of conspiracy to rob the public—and especially those of the public who can least afford to be robbed—or whether the high price is justified by the natural fluctuations of trade.

Whatever the coming investigation may reveal, there is no denying the following facts: Last harvest time, the farmers of this country had a greater yield in wheat than ever before. This wheat has been partly distributed along the domestic channels in the usual manner and there has been no increase in domestic consumption. The government did everything possible to tide the farmers over a trying situation caused by the lack of foreign trade and the lack of available shipping. Recently the foreign demand became greater than it had been and immediately the grain companies announced that they would have to raise prices and to raise them again and again to meet the situation. At present our people face what is virtually a war condition, and to the ordinary citizen there seems no legitimate excuse for the existing situation in this country.

If it be established that the exportation of wheat in large quantities is responsible for increased prices, it may be well for the government—if possible—to prevent a degree of exportation that would create shortage and needlessly high prices here. It does not seem right or just that this country should have to suffer from war effects as though we were in the fighting zone, merely because our farmers or wheat agents wish to make abnormal profits. In all recent congressional legislation, the wants and needs of the farmer were given paramount attention and it is a poor return for the farmer to impose a crushing burden on the American public. It is hard to forgive the juggling of any commodity for the creating of artificial conditions, but the crime of gambling with bread is nothing short of heinous. If the government discovers that the high prices of wheat and flour are due to the selfish machinations of the wheat gamblers, it is to be hoped that there will be a liberal donation of direct jail sentences to those responsible.

The recent inclusion of wheat among the articles of contraband, by England, ought to check too great exportation also and make our exporters consider the rights and needs of this country as of primary importance. Whatever the wheat interests may do to increase their foreign trade or to get good prices abroad, they should not be allowed to practice heartless extortion on the American masses.

THE SHIPPING BILL

Though the fate of the shipping bill hangs in the balance, with a very great possibility of its being defeated, those who have opposed it on partisan grounds so persistently and with such a display of artificial apprehension of the consequences may very soon see that they have overdone their part. The arguments urged against the measure—or the one great argument, at least—may cause a speedy reaction in the popular mind when the American public sees how the main issues were carefully kept out of sight, and how selfish and very interested groups put patriotism and business needs aside and deliberately tried to prevent what they must have known was a sincerely designed and fundamentally sound measure.

Opponents of the shipping bill pretended to entertain a great fear that when our government should purchase the ships of any power, belligerent or non-belligerent, the hostility of England and other foreign governments would be immediately aroused. President Wilson, who is in a position to be informed on such things better than the average individual and who is certainly the last man in the country to do anything that would endanger our peace, declared most emphatically that no international complications need be feared. The question was purely a domestic one, America reserving the right to manage her own affairs as she saw fit, while not infringing on the rights of any other power or disregarding international regulations.

The administration urged and still urges the passage of the merchant marine bill, fully conscious of the justice of our cause. It urged this country to do what England herself has done whenever it was to her interest. At the time of our Civil War, England and other powers purchased many ships of American registry and no question of her right to do so was raised. If the purchase be in good faith, we need make no explanation or apology to any power on earth, a fact which is established by many precedents and supported by international law. In time the truth will be well understood by our people, whether the shipping bill passes or not.

WHAT ABOUT ECONOMY?

Owing to his past distinguished services and his recognized knowledge of international relations, Senator Lodge is frequently quoted by those who agitate the army and navy questions, recently raised, or who oppose the administration bill for the restoration of park board declares that it would take from $100,000 to $125,000 to put the woods in condition and that a further expenditure would be necessary to make them a pleasure ground for the people of the city. In this there is food for thought for Lowell which is gradually finding its park problems more and more serious with little promise of a satisfactory solution. In all the cities of this part of the country the people agitate the acquisition of more parks and playgrounds but it is becoming more and more difficult to find money with which to keep them in condition. In this city we need parks in many districts, but with the appropriations now made for park purposes, we cannot do more than barely keep those we already have in fair condition. There is little incentive in present arrangements to private individuals who may be inclined to donate land to the city for park purposes. If things go much farther he who would leave a park to Lowell must also leave a fund sufficiently large for its yearly maintenance.

PRESIDENT VILLA

It looks as though Pancho Villa has taken the first steps towards political suicide—if we may use the word "political" in describing Mexican conditions—by declaring himself president. The miscellaneous collection of gentlemen who have worn that title since the days of the unhappy Madero have not enjoyed it long and if conditions there do not change, there will be no exception in Villa's case. The crafty bandit leader, however, has also kept his hold on the military resources of the country so that for a while he may be the strongest power. With the factions headed by Carranza, Zapata and other generals or soldiers of fortune against him, the people populace or the mob he rules will sooner or later turn on their idol as they have turned against so many under his direction. Other despatches from Mexico declare that fierce fighting is going on and that another "president" named Garza has been elected. If news of the execution of Villa comes in the near future there will not be many American tears—though Secretary Bryan may shed a few for old times sake.

The warning of Germany to American vessels, to avoid the north and west coasts of France, may be taken to indicate some coming German naval activity in those waters, but whether it be mines or submarines time alone will tell. England will be ready for either emergency but in view of recent events the world will await developments with eagerness. The greatest surprise of the war was apt to come any day on the sea.

Ex-Governor Guild works himself into a fine frenzy in his bitter denunciation of President Wilson, declaring himself even in favor of impeachment. One can almost see the contemptuous smile which President Wilson would give the message, were he to receive it. Mr. Guild does not sound quite like himself, somehow, and he is out of touch with public opinion.

That business has no reason to fear

SEEN AND HEARD

Too many of the mutts who are preaching the brotherhood of man seem to keep their eyes on the sisterhood all the time.

Poor man is always up against it. He worries because he discovers that he is becoming bald and then finds out that nothing increases baldness so much as worry.

A man will buy his son a rifle to play with in winter and a canoe to play with in summer. And then he will wonder why there are so many undertakers in this country.

There are all sorts of people in the world. Some men like to raise skunks and others like to carry a dead snipe of a punk cigar into a closed street car.

Any man who has ever been sea sick doesn't have much trouble believing that the whale wasn't doing anything wonderful in getting rid of Jonah.

Some people wonder why Solomon said "All Men are Liars," and didn't mention the women. That's easy. If you had 100 wives I'd dare you to start anything. Solomon was wise, all right.

EARLY SPRING BIRDS

It was a cold Sunday for the early spring birds to show themselves, but according to several reports some of them did so. One suburbanite says that he saw two bluejays about the trees near his home and heard some other kinds of birds there as well, but could not get a glimpse of them to distinguish to what class they belonged. Not many robins have been seen about as yet, so far as reports have come in, but we may expect to hear from them shortly. Then we shall know that spring is on the way, even though the way is a long one.

FEBRUARY TEMPERATURE

If you want to know what the weather for February is going to be all you have to do is to read this: February temperature is going to average lower than usual, which ought to be pleasing news to some people, who make money out of having cold weather, but it is not going to be very stormy. There is going to be a very cold spell about the 16th of the month, which is going to be followed by a warm spell three or four days later when the temperature will go away up. From that time out the temperature is to be above the average. March comes in fairly warm weather. You don't have to believe this prognostication unless you want to, but it is the best guess the writer has seen.

MARKED DOWN

Charles broke the spell as in a dejected tone of voice he said to his wife, "Mrs. Fraser, I love you, but dare not dream of calling you mine. Yesterday I was worth $25,000, but today by a turn of fortune's wheel, I have but a few paltry hundreds to call my own. I would not ask you to accept me in my reduced state. Farewell!"

WOMAN WANTS TO HELP OTHERS

By Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Miami, Okla.—"I had a female trouble and weakness that annoyed me continually. I tried doctors and all kinds of medicine for several years but was not cured until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I hope my testimonial will help other suffering women to try your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. M. R. MILLER, Box 234, Commerce, Okla.

Another Woman who has Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsborg, Kansas.—"Some years ago I suffered with terrible pains in my side which I thought were inflammation, also with a bearing down pain, headache, and I was at times awfully nervous. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now enjoying good health. I will be glad to recommend your medicine to any woman suffering with female trouble and you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. L. SMITH, R. No. 3, Box 60, Lindsborg, Kansas.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to any of the women whose testimonial letters we are constantly publishing. They will tell you their experience and give you confidence to try the medicine.

the intentions of President Wilson is evident from the message of his speech before the national chamber of commerce. In this he makes no departure from his declared stand on previous occasions. To bring about better relations between the government and the business interests, in a legitimate sense, has been one of the main objects of the administration.

The legislature has apparently headed the public attitude on the matter of procrastination; bills are being pushed along more quickly than last year and in other technical respects there is much improvement.

I met with Kaiser Wilhelm, and he took me by the hand, and he said, "How's Italy and Greece and how do they stand?"

The man who calls for home made goods used to be called provincial; now he is called prudent.

SUBSTANTIATED

Abner was a boy who lived in a thrifty country community where from a point of economy his hair was cut at home. At the village Sunday school one afternoon the teacher read the story of Delilah and Samson, whereat Abner sat right up and began to take notice.

"I knowed it! I knowed it!" he exclaimed with an air of positiveness when the story was completed. "That's just exactly what I have been tellin' mother!"

"Do you mean," kindly inquired the pleased teacher, "that you have been telling her about Delilah and Samson?"

"No," was the prompt response of Abner. "I have been tellin' her that it don't pay to let a woman cut a feller's hair."

HERE'S A TANGLE

"Daddy, is today tomorrow?" "No, my son, of course today isn't tomorrow," answered the father. "But you said it was," continued the son.

"When did I say today was tomorrow?" "Yesterday," answered the boy. "Well, it was; today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but yesterday is today and tomorrow will be today tomorrow; which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play, and the father collapsed in his chair with a sigh of relief."

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE

A dog was tied to a rope 10 feet long, 20 feet away was a fat, juicy bone. How did the dog get the bone? "That is an old one," said Carl. "You want me to say 'Give it up' and then you will say, 'That is what the dog did.'"

"No, you're wrong, for the dog got the bone."

"Well, how did he do it?"

"Why, the other end of the rope was not tied."

ALWAYS BELIEVE FATHER

The Sunday school teacher had explained the familiar Bible story at length. He asked Tommy if he expected to be among the sheep or the goats. "Iunno," Tommy pondered dubiously. "How's a feller to know when his mother calls him her poor lamb and his father calls him the confounded kid?"

GOING WRONG WAY

Artists are as a usual thing pretty good observers but occasionally they make an error. As an instance of this a Boston paper of Monday had an item about prisoners knitting stockings, and the item was illustrated with a drawing of a man performing this labor. He had begun at the toe and knitted the stocking up, having it nearly completed going toward the top. Perhaps that is the way they do in prison, but most of the women who have knitted stockings remember of beginning at the top and closing the job at the foot.

WHILE THE YEARS ARE GOING BY

There are lonely hearts to cherish While the years are going by; There are weary souls who perish While the years are going by; If a smile we can renew, As our journey we pursue, Oh, that the years are going by. While the years are going by.

There's no time for idle sorrowing, While the years are going by; Let your face be like the morning, While the years are going by; Oh, the world is full of signs, Full of sad and weeping eyes; Help your fallen brothers rise, While the years are going by.

TOLSTOI AND RUSSIA

Dean of Tufts College Gives Interesting Lecture Before Men's Club
Rev. Lee S. McColister, dean of Tufts college, described and discussed Tolstoi and Russia at a meeting of the Men's Club of the First Universalist Church held in Harrington hall, Central street, last night.

Mr. McColister used stereoscopic pictures, showing various Russian cities, towns and points of interest. It was a view of Russian life intended to show why Tolstoi felt, wrote and lived as he did.

The speaker pictured Tolstoi as a contradictory nature in which two forces prevailed, one for idealism and the other evidenced in his practice. Tolstoi found that Russians were not ready for his reforms and did not understand them. He could not put into operation his theories. He was a modern in spirit but was working among the ancients. Mr. McColister declared that Tolstoi was waiting for Russians in Russia and not for Americans in the United States, and that he should not be judged by the American standards.

As for Tolstoi's influence, he said it was never more alive in Russia than now.

POSSE JUSTIFIED

Verdict in Killing of Doctor, Following Alleged Attack on Woman

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 5.—A coroner's jury last night returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of Dr. A. N. Culbertson, killed near here early yesterday by a citizen's posse seeking him on charge of attacking a young married woman. Witnesses testified that he had drawn a revolver and attempted to flee before he was shot.

Culbertson, who was 35 years old, lived in Evans, a village near Augusta. News of the alleged assault led to the formation of the posse late Wednesday night.

The search ended shortly before dawn, when the physician was located in a country house where he had spent the night. When he was awakened, inquest witnesses said, Culbertson armed himself and attempted to escape by a rear doorway. He was killed by the posse's volley.

PUT TO DEATH

Lee Dock and Eng Hing
Executed at Sing Sing
Prison

OSSING, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Lee Dock and Eng Hing, Chinese, were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison early today.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food-tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

FEAR FOUL PLAY

Young Coe, Protege of Standard Oil President Disappears

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., 23 years old, a trusted employee of the Standard Oil company in Boston, and a protege of Pres. Folger of that concern, seen of one of the best known families in New York and husband of a daughter of A. A. Ainslie, one of the most prominent hotel men in the country, is missing.

Young Coe, who lived with his wife at 1200 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, has not been seen since last Saturday morning and his mysterious disappearance and prolonged absence has caused a countrywide investigation to be instituted in the hope that some clue as to his whereabouts may be gleaned. "Robert Burns of the Burns Detective Bureau has been authorized by Dr. Coe, an eminent New York surgeon, the father of the missing young man, to offer a reward of $250 for information which might lead to the discovery of the young man, and today more than 6000 circulars, bearing a picture of Young Coe, with his description, will be sent broadcast through the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The mystery which surrounds the disappearance of Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., has started fashionable circles in Boston, Brooklyn and New York, where his family is well known.

Had the earth suddenly opened and swallowed the young man he could not have disappeared more completely, and fears of foul play are being entertained by his family and by the private detectives at work on the case.

DARING HOLDUPS

Two Within Half an Hour in Boston Last Evening

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Within half an hour last evening an expressman was held up at the point of a revolver on Southampton street and robbed of $25 and a clerk in a liquor and grocery store at 107 Beach street was robbed of more than $50 by a man who held a revolver in his hand. The police believe both robberies were committed by the same hand.

Shortly after 7:30 Robert Dunn of 130 Broadway, South Boston, was driving his delivery wagon along Southampton street. When under the New Haven railroad bridge a man jumped into the roadway and, pointing a revolver at his head, ordered Dunn to stop. He pulled up his horse and the man jumped up to the seat. He then demanded that Dunn turn

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the food mass expelled.

The well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartic and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

over all the money he had, holding his revolver in his hand. Dunn searched every pocket and turned over about $25.
The robber jumped from the wagon and ordered Dunn to drive off and not make any outcry. Dunn did as directed and went to South Boston, making his first stop at the Broadway police station, where he made a report.

Less than half an hour later a man entered the store of Charles L. Hollander & Co., 107 Beach street, where Charles M. Hollander was in charge with another clerk. Both Hollander and the clerk supposed he was a customer. The stranger walked over to the counter, pulled a revolver from his right overcoat pocket and calmly told Hollander that he wanted money there was in the cash register.

Hollander and his assistant were dumbfounded by the command. But the robber held his revolver menacingly toward them and Hollander opened the drawer and turned over its contents, $50.

FAIR WAGE FOR WOMEN

State Board Recommends That the Employer Pay Price Asked By Employees

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Feb. 5.—That a price of $5.00 for a week of 50 hours is not a fair wage for women who are required to perform an essential operation in the paper-making industry, is the opinion handed down by the state board of conciliation and arbitration in the case of the Valley Paper Co. at Holyoke and its employees in the rag sorting department, which the board publicly investigated on Jan. 22.

The board recommends that the employer pay the price asked by the employees, $7.50 for a 50-hour week.

A. C. F. MEETING HELD

The regular meeting of Branch No. 1, A. C. F., was held last night at the Centralville Social club with President Henri Poirier in the chair. A feature of the evening was the installation of officers, those inducted into office being: Henri Poirier, representative to the executive council; Edmond Pelouquin, president; Henry Collette, first vice president; Joseph Gaudette, second vice president; J. A. Arsenault, secretary-treasurer; Clément Brunelle and Philippe Bouchard, marshals; Armand Trudel, Godfroi Caron and Eudoviste Barrette, auditors.

The installation of the recently elected officers of Branch No. 1, A. C. F., took place last night at a regular meeting of the society held in Grafton hall. General Organizer Chas. E. Bazin of Worcester presided over the installation and the officers inducted into office were as follows: A. C. F. Chaplain, Rev. J. L. Racette, O. M. L. Ph. D.; representative to the executive council, Alfred Latendresse; president, George Houle; first vice president, Joseph Leblanc; second vice president, N. Latendresse; secretary-treasurer, Yvanette LeBlanchette; marshals, Charles Normandin and Calixte Boucher; auditors, Joseph Robitaille, W. Lamoigne and J. B. Hebert.

The meeting closed with a social hour during which refreshments were served.

A SAFE WAY TO STOP INDIGESTION

Without Fear of Weakening the Stomach—Works Fine in Any Case and Brings Relief in Ten Minutes
The greatest folly of today is committed by people with weak dyspeptic stomachs who take artificial digesters to cure indigestion. Artificial digesters—pepsin pills, etc.—simply encourage a lazy or tired stomach to shirk its work by doing most of its work for it. This is fine for a time but as every chronic dyspeptic knows, artificial digesters soon lose their efficiency. Where one once did the trick three or four are now required and the poor old stomach itself is worse off than ever.

Your stomach must be strong enough to expand and contract with a sort of pumping movement so as to mix its digestive juices with your food. If your stomach isn't strong enough to properly churn your food, you will keep right on having indigestion after every meal until you make it strong.

There is one stomach remedy that every dyspeptic can depend on as surely as that the sun will rise tomorrow and that is the famous MILDEN'S Stomach Tablets. Most stomach remedies let the stomach rest and digest the food themselves. MILDEN'S doesn't do anything but it will strengthen and stimulate the stomach and make it do its own digesting. It stops stomach pains, gas, bloating, burning, indigestion, etc. in ten minutes and does still better by making the lazy, inflamed and inactive stomach walls grow strong and elastic and able to do their own churning. MILDEN'S doesn't use artificial digesters need not be used forever. A few weeks' use is generally sufficient to put any stomach in the best of health. MILDEN'S is in Lowell and heretofore sell it with that understanding, agreeing to refund money to anyone who does not get complete relief.

A Lowell Heating Expert's Statement in Regard to the Effect of Coke on Grates:

December 2, 1914.

Lowell Gas Light Co.

Dear Sirs:—You ask my opinion as to whether COKE will destroy grates in a heating plant more quickly than coal?

I unhesitatingly say that neither COKE nor coal will ever destroy grates when properly used.

No grates can be warped or melted unless hot ashes are allowed to accumulate under them.

A clean ashpit preserves grates.

DEFERS TARIFF ORDER

SEN. SULLIVAN GETS DELAY—
SENATE POSTPONES ACTION IN WALKER CASE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—In the Massachusetts senate yesterday consideration was postponed until Tuesday of the order requiring the commission on economy and efficiency to produce all papers in connection with its investigation of Fred E. Walker's administration of the department of animal industry's stamping out of the foot and mouth disease.

On motion of Senator Timothy the adverse report of a committee on the increase of salary of the justice of the Roxbury district court was tabled. On motion of Senator Cavanaugh of Everett an adverse report on the increase of salaries of Middlesex county commissioners was also laid on the table.

Reimburse Cattle Owners

The committee on agriculture reported a resolve to appropriate $10,000 for reimbursing the owners of cattle and other property destroyed because of the foot and mouth disease, provided that in no case shall the commonwealth pay more than 50 per cent of the value of cattle or property so destroyed.

When this report was read Senator Bazley of Uxbridge, chairman of the committee on ways and means, before which committee the resolve would go in the ordinary course of legislative procedure, immediately reported "ought to pass."

He said his committee had already considered the bill.

Municipal Debt Bill Amendment

At the close of the session the following reports were filed:

Cities—Reference to next general court of the petition of Representative Frederick W. Burke for a Saturday

half-holiday for Lynn city laborers:

Metropolitan Affairs—Reference to next general court of the petition of Chester L. Campbell for the construction of Curran Brook parkway in Quincy and an appropriation of $50,000 therefor.

Municipal Finance—A bill to amend the law as to municipal indebtedness of cities by striking out the provision that after the limit has been fixed by ordinance it shall not be changed by a city council within one year and inserting a provision that the mayor and city council after notice of three weeks advertising and after a public hearing may change such limit as in their discretion seems advisable.

UPHOLD WILSON'S VETO OF IMMIGRATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—An attempt to pass the Immigration bill, prescribing a literacy test for the admission of aliens over President Wilson's veto failed in the house yesterday, the affirmative vote lacking just five of the necessary two-thirds.

Of 399 members present, 261 voted to override the veto, 136 voted to sustain the president, and two answered "present."

How House Voted

To pass bill over veto	To sustain the veto
Democrats.....166	102
Republicans.....78	32
Progressives and Progressive Reps.....1	2
Independent.....16	2
Total.....261	136

The final test came at the close of a day of earnest debate, in which party lines were temporarily obliterated. Majority Leader Underwood made a vigorous speech, criticizing the president's reasons for vetoing the bill and urging the house to override executive disapproval.

Mr. Underwood told the house that the country had in several elections returned majorities in congress favoring the restriction of immigration, and that the president's contention that no political platform had placed the issue before the people was futile. "The question is," said he, "whether you stand for the American standard of living and the American standard of wages."

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, republican, urged the house to support the president and defeat the bill. He declared that immigration had had no bad effects on wages and working conditions in this country, and asserted that the restrictions imposed in the bill were contrary to the fundamental principles upon which the forefathers based this republic.

WERNER HORN, GERMAN DYNAMITER, AND CANADIAN BRIDGE HE DAMAGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Formal application was made to the state department by the British government for the extradition of Werner Horn, who was arrested at Vanceboro, Me., after attempting to blow up the Canadian end of the St. Croix river international bridge. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, visited the state department and left with Secretary Bryan and Counselor Robert Lansing a note formally requesting that Horn be extradited for trial in Canada. The request said that Horn had committed an offense in violation of section 282 of the criminal code of New Brunswick, which declared it to be unlawful and punishable by life imprisonment for any person to destroy a train, bridge or railway line "with intent to injure or endanger the safety of any person traveling or being on any railway, bridge, etc." The formal request for the extradition of Horn was referred by the secretary of state to Clegg Johnson, the solicitor of the department, who has the case under advisement. Officials of the state and justice departments were in conference over the case, but no action will be taken by the federal government in Washington until the receipt here of the report of the United States commissioner to be designated by the department of justice—probably the one nearest to Vanceboro—to hear the case. The case will first have to be passed upon by the United States commissioner or by the federal courts, and it is altogether probable that the supreme court of the United States will ultimately have to deliver its opinion before it is determined whether Horn has committed a crime for which he can be extradited. Under the statutes of the United States, which are rather explicit on matters of extradition, neither Secretary Bryan nor any other federal official has authority to surrender Horn into the hands of any Canadian official until the prisoner has had a proper hearing and has been committed by order of the judicial authorities banding the case in this country.

International League Notifies Players of Rule to Retrench

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A circular letter to every player in the international league notifying him that the league will not be made to pay the high salaries which most of the players drew last season has been sent out by President Edward G. Harrow.

The letter also notifies the players that the national commission has given permission to the league to extend the time for sending out contracts to March 1, his month of grace being granted on account of the unsettled condition of the league.

of a special legislative committee to investigate and report on the state of military unpreparedness in Massachusetts.

This order had received a favorable report from the committee on rules and was adopted by the house principally because no one took the trouble to oppose it. But Mr. Washburn made yesterday a characteristic satirical

HORN NOW IN JAIL

Dynamiter Begins His Sentence of 30 Days at Machias

VANCEBORO, Me., Feb. 5.—Werner Horn, who claims to be a German officer, and in that capacity to be tried to blow up the international railroad bridge here was removed to Machias today to serve a sentence of 30 days for the damage which the explosion caused on this side of the border. Deputy Sheriff George W. Ross put his prisoner aboard the train leaving for Bangor at 9:45 o'clock this morning. At Bangor after a wait of two hours, the trip will be continued on another line east to Machias where the party is due at 4:30 o'clock this evening.

The departure of Horn, who has gained notoriety by what he calls his act of war against Great Britain, attracted little attention. A small crowd of men and women gathered at the station. The prisoner, unshackled, smiled on the men and women and waved good-bye as the train drew out. The case is now ended as far as the state is concerned. The next move, it is expected, will be by the federal authorities who are concerned with the application for the extradition of the dynamiter to Canada, where he is wanted to answer for the little damage which he did to the bridge by operating on that side of the boundary line.

speech which persuaded the house to reverse its earlier action.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Washburn assumed the role of prophet and made reference to the day when Speaker Cox would be governor of the commonwealth. This suggestion brought forth hearty and long-continued hand-clapping, which the speaker quelled with difficulty, although he pointed vigorously with his gavel.

Mr. Washburn, disregarding all parliamentary rules, gravely complimented the speaker on his exhibition of "customary modesty," and then went on to allude to Mr. Cox's approaching marriage as an alienation of his affections from the house.

All these things put the house in good humor with the member from Worcester, and his associates not only applauded him when he finished speaking, but also voted with him. The result was that Mr. Cox's approaching marriage was an alienation of his affections from the house.

Richard Bradbrook Walsh and Harold A. Varnum have removed their law offices to 410-412 Sun building.

TO INVITE SUNDAY TO HUB

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO GO TO PHILADELPHIA—RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT MEETING

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—The Billy Sunday campaign committee of the Evangelical Alliance of Greater Boston, at a meeting in Tremont Temple yesterday afternoon, appointed the following committee to go to Philadelphia to invite Mr. Sunday to come to this city to conduct revival meetings: Rev. Cortland Myers, chairman, Rev. A. Z. Conrad, Rev. George Luther Galt, William Shaw, Rev. Richard Wright, P. W. Wyman, W. H. Bryant, Rev. Ernest G. Guthrie, Rev. James Todd, Rev. Dillon Bronson, Wellington Fillmore, Thomas Wood, George Louis Richards, Rev. Alfred Isaac, J. A. Arakelyan, Albert H. Curtis, Arthur Merritt, George E. Briggs and Duncan MacPhee.

After some discussion, a resolution brought by Dr. Todd, to the effect the campaign committee send letters to the various churches in the evangelic denomination in Greater Boston asking their support in the proposed visit of Sunday to Boston, was adopted.

This letter will be sent out as soon as possible in order that the committee which is going to Philadelphia may have some information to present to Rev. Mr. Sunday about the number of churches which are in favor of his visit. No date has been fixed for the journey of the committee to Philadelphia. In the absence of Pres. Murlin, Dr. Todd presided at yesterday's meeting.

Interest begins Saturday, Feb. 6, at the Central Savings bank.

NOW GOES TO VOTERS

LEGISLATURE OF NEW YORK UNANIMOUSLY PASSES WOMAN SUFFRAGE RESOLUTION AGAIN

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The woman suffrage resolution, passed by the legislature in 1912, was adopted in the senate yesterday by unanimous vote. It previously had been adopted in the assembly.

The resolution provides that voters may determine at the polls next fall whether the constitution shall be amended so as to give votes to women. An effort also will be made to have the constitutional convention take some action on the question. By having the convention provide an amendment, a better position will be obtained on the ballot, suffragists think.

By law it was necessary that the resolution be adopted by two different legislatures, before being submitted to vote of the people.

SENATE PASSES THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Only one brief speech was made in the Massachusetts senate yesterday when the woman suffrage question came up for debate, and at its conclusion the senate voted 33 to 3, with one pair and two senators not recorded, in favor of a constitutional amendment to strike the word "male" from the qualifications demanded as a requisite for voting.

The amendment, which was adopted by both branches last year and which year before it can be submitted to the voters next fall, is likely to pass in the house as smoothly as it did yesterday in the upper branch. In fact there was an agreement early in the session that there should be no extended hearing before the committee on constitutional amendments. That the committee would report favorably and that both branches would adopt the amendment in order that the voters might have a chance to declare themselves at the first opportunity.

Unlike the scenes of previous years, only a small group of women were in the gallery to watch the proceedings. Senator Wells of Haverhill, a consistent opponent of woman suffrage, was the sole speaker, and he had prepared his remarks in the course of which he declared 26 of the senators who would vote for the amendment yesterday would vote against it at the polls.

Says 26 Will Vote "No"

Senator Wells said in part: "I have carefully canvassed the entire membership of the senate. This question will probably be voted upon by 26 members, and when the result is announced let it be taken into consideration that irrespective of the number that vote 'No' here today, there are 26 members who intend to vote 'No' upon the question next November, and eight others who are in doubt as to what their vote will be."

"Therefore, let the suffragists' jubilation be somewhat dampened by that statement. By agreeing to this constitutional amendment at this time the senate on its part makes it possible for the people to pass on this matter by a formal vote that will have the effect of a more or less permanent settlement of the entire question. That is what the majority of the members of this body desire to bring about, and not the actual granting of woman suffrage."

"Presumably, Mr. President, some doubt will be cast upon these figures and I shall be asked to produce the names of the senators so expressing themselves. I have those names, but I do not intend to give them out. Many of the senators might be willing, others might not be willing."

Sen. Marchand Votes "Yes"

"As they were obtained in confidence, in confidence they will be held. If good suffrage friends desire an issue on the question of the veracity of these figures, let them make the most of it, but let me warn them that if my word is doubted, there is one member of this honorable body who will corroborate my statement."

As soon as the senator had finished the roll was called, a yea and nay vote being required on all constitutional amendments. Senator Wells, Senator Doyle of New Bedford and Senator Fay of Melford were the three to vote "No." Senator Ellis of Newton was paired with Senator Marchand of Lowell, the former voting "Yes" and the latter voting "Yes." Pres. Coolidge did not vote, and Senator Bent of Rockland was not recorded.

SENATORS PROMINENT IN SHIPPING BILL FIGHT WHICH STIRS HALLS OF CONGRESS

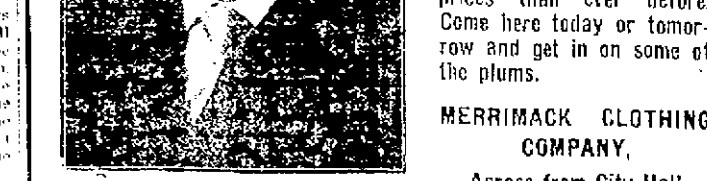

These are some of the United States senators prominent in the ship bill fight. Interest centered around Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, who hurriedly was summoned from Asheville, N. C., to east his vote on the important measure over which the administration had staked so much. The fate of the bill depended largely upon the efforts of these senators for and against it.

TOO MUCH RED TAPE BAD FOR THE NERVES

Present System of Supplementary Assessments Works Hardship—Legislation Asked for

During the month of April in each year the assistant assessors by a house-to-house canvass prepare what is called an "assessed poll" list, and this list is supposed to contain the names of every male person who is 21 years of age and upwards who resided in the city or town on the preceding first day of April and who was liable to be assessed for a poll tax. In preparing this list the assistant assessors are not required to, nor do they, as a rule, see or obtain the information from the persons whose names they place upon their lists. The canvassing being done during the hours of the day when the men are away on business, it is frequently necessary to secure the information from whoever happens to be at the house visited, and either the lady-of-the-house, the servant, the garage man, or other employee may be called upon for the desired list of names of male inhabitants, and in some cases the "assessed poll" list of the previous year may be used in preparing the list.

The result is that those who were assessed the previous year in all probability will be re-assessed if they are still living in the city, but it so happens that the names of many who have just reached the assessable age, and many who have taken up residence in the city prior to April 1st, and since the list of the previous year was prepared, are not secured.

This "assessed poll" list made in April is not printed until the following July or August, and the only notice ordinarily given to a person that his name appears on the list is in the form of a poll tax notice on or about August 1st. If he is assessed for a poll tax only, or such notice on or about Sept. 1st. If he is assessed for other taxes in addition to the poll tax after the "assessed poll" list is printed, and after the tax notices are sent out, any person whose name has been inadvertently omitted from the list must, in order to have his name placed on the list, comply with the "supplementary assessment" law. There is one exception to this requirement, i. e., that if the person whose name has been omitted was, on the "assessed poll" list of the same city on April 1st of the previous year, he may have his name restored by making written application to the assessors.

Works Great Hardships

Under this system, a person whose name should have been entered on the "Assessed Polls" list (which is the prerequisite qualification for the registration as a voter) and which has not been so entered, does not become aware of the fact until he appears before the registrars of voters at the city hall for the purpose of registering.

FURIOUS BATTLE WEST OF WARSAW

Von Hindenburg's Third Attempt to Pierce Russian Line—German Ship Threat Causes Alarm — 3,000,000 British at Front

The British army estimates to which parliament will devote the first part of next week's session, give the number of effective men in the army, exclusive of those serving in India, at three million.

Hostilities against Serbia have been resumed by the Austrians, according to reports received at Geneva.

German Deny Claim

The German official announcement of today does not support the claim, of the Russians of successes on the Warsaw front stating that their attacks were repulsed.

There were no engagements of importance along the western front yesterday.

Furious Battle Near Warsaw

One of the most furious battles of the war is now at its height along the Russo-German frontier west of Warsaw. Large bodies of German troops have been brought up for field maneuvers.

HOAR ON TAXATION AT POMONA GRANGE

Important Address on How to Boom a City or Town or Kill Improvements by Taxation

The regular monthly meeting of the Middlesex North Pomona Grange was held today in a morning and afternoon session at Odd Fellows hall on Bridge street and a large gathering of the members of the various granges which comprise the organization were present when Master Charles Wright of Billerica called the meeting to order shortly after ten o'clock.

As usual the forenoon program included the business and the society's affairs were first brought up for discussion before the members turned to the entertaining and educational features. There was nothing but today's state except the routine business.

Following the business meeting a general discussion was entered into informally by the members on the query "Has the germ theory been overworked?" Many ingenious views were presented by those who spoke on the topic and the result proved both entertaining and instructive.

The Lowell grange were the hosts today and it was this branch of the society which prepared the dinner. A typical farmer's dinner was served in the hall at 12.30 o'clock and was one of the day's features. The usual society which always exists at these dinners of the Middlesex North Pomona Grange was not missing today.

Hon. R. Sherman Hoar's Address

At two o'clock the members of the society once more adjourned to the lodge room for the afternoon session. The Hon. Roger Sherman Hoar of Concord was the speaker and was introduced by ex-Senator Edward Fisher.

Hon. Roger Sherman Hoar spoke on the subject of "Taxation." This is a subject of which he made an especial study while in the senate. An assistant attorney general, he had charge of all the tax matters of the "commonwealth." He is leading the tax reform fight in his own town of Concord. He spoke in part as follows:

"Before coming to my main subject, I wish to call your attention to an entirely disconnected matter, which, however, has considerable interest, owing to the war in Europe. I refer to the movement inaugurated by the World Postal League, which has as its object the extension of the powers of the present postal union between nations, so that this central union shall actually manage the international mails. This is a perfectly practical form of world federation, which is sure to lead at least to a better understanding between the nations, and may eventually grow into the federal government for which we all hope and pray.

Taxation

"I have chosen as my main subject this afternoon, 'How to Boom a City or Town by Correct Methods of Taxation.' This may sound to you like an impossibility, for taxation is regarded, and rightly so, as a destructive rather than an upbuilding force. The first chief justice of the United States, in a recent court opinion said that the power to tax is the power to destroy."

"Many taxes are levied on this theory. For instance, there is a tax on dogs, in order to keep down the number of dogs; and, as female dogs are more of a nuisance than male dogs, a larger tax is placed on them. Sixty per cent of the internal revenue taxes are placed on liquor and tobacco, for the dual purpose of raising revenue and suppressing these subjects of taxation. The protective tariff is also worked on the same principle, a high tax being levied on goods of foreign manufacture in order to keep them out."

"I assume that in many of the cities and towns from which you come there is an improvement association. Let us suppose that your town also contained some disgruntled citizens who wished to do all that they could to hurt the town and to offset the work of improvement. What would be the best way for them to go about it? They would take the most powerful weapon of destruction, namely taxation; and would use it to destroy improvements. In other words, they would tax improvements."

"Some of the papers are conducting a 'Build Now' campaign, in order to relieve unemployment and boom business. An anti-improvement society could more than offset the effects of this campaign by using taxation to suppress building."

"Whenever a man owning a vacant lot full of the cans and rubbish, improved that lot by cleaning it up, fencing it and building an attractive house on it, in this anti-improvement society would rush to the tax assessors and demand that that man be made a horrible example by putting a tax on his improvements. People would wait a long time before subjecting themselves to a fine for improving their property."

"You don't need any anti-improvement societies in Massachusetts. The law now provides all that an anti-improvement society could wish. Men are now fined for improving their property. But if Massachusetts were to fence it and building an attractive house on it, in this anti-improvement society would rush to the tax assessors and demand that that man be made a horrible example by putting a tax on his improvements. People would wait a long time before subjecting themselves to a fine for improving their property."

THE GERMAN SHIP THREAT

Action Considered at Washington as One of the Most Serious Developments of the War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Germany's declaration of a naval zone around Great Britain and Ireland, including the English channel and the northern passage by the Shetland islands, is considered here as one of the most serious developments of the war.

It is regarded as highly possible for one thing that it would hasten the movement begun by the Latin-American countries for a speedy conference of neutral states to devise means to reduce losses to neutral commerce to a minimum.

At first there were some intimations in administration circles that it might be the subject of a protest by the United States, but the official view developed that there was little or no ground for that and it was recalled that no protest was made when the North sea was strewn with mines.

Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland have repeatedly addressed the state department here to secure American backing for measures to relieve distress in their own commerce and the latest German proclamation is expected to cause a redoubled effort of all the neutrals for measures to protect themselves.

Counselor Lansing of the state department took Secretary Bryan's chair at the cabinet meeting today in the latter's absence.

Neither the state department nor the German embassy had received the Berlin admiralty statement and it was said at the German embassy that the Berlin foreign office probably would deliver copies to diplomatic representatives in Berlin and regard that notice as sufficient.

There is no precedent in dealing with the question because heretofore submarines have played no important part in warfare and all of the rules of international law are framed with special reference to ordinary ships.

While it was noted that the proclamation was directed against "enemy ships" and applied to neutral ships only when the attacks were meant for enemy ships through suspicion or misuse of neutral flags, officials expressed grave concern over the implied threat to sink merchant vessels, probably without warning or taking of non-combatant passengers and crews.

The notice from the British government that it is contemplating retaliation against German trade though not formally before the state department today has given rise to much expectation on the part of officials as to what the British have in mind. Although it has been denied that any official declaration that food supplies are contraband has been issued it is believed that the British notice forecasts the speedy issue of such a declaration.

ALLEGED MURDERERS BREAK DOWN IN CELLS

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 5.—The government rested its case today in the trial of Luigi Grassano, Diago Falzone and Ignazio Morello for the murder of Maurice A. Albertson, a Lawrence jewelry salesman at Wakefield, on Dec. 29 last. Fella Pasquale, a 15-year-old boy who yesterday gave a detailed story of the crime as he alleged Falzone had described it to him, resumed his testimony today. He said that the stiletto found buried in Grassano's yard resembled one he had seen in Falzone's possession many times.

Falzone and Grassano broke down in their cells today and sobbed bitterly, their cries arousing the other prisoners. Falzone complained of being ill.

Before the defense opened, District Attorney Corcoran stated that before Grassano turned state's evidence yesterday, his counsel was informed that the government would be willing to withdraw its case against him and if an indictment as an accessory to robbery was returned later a sentence of five years in prison would be accepted.

Morello then took the stand in his own defense and denied that he killed or plotted to kill Albertson. He told of his movements on the day of the murder and admitted that he had told the police false stories regarding his acquaintance with Grassano. His wife corroborated some of his statements.

TWO DEAD, ONE DYING

FATAL AFFRAY OVER RELIGIOUS LECTURE—MARSHALL, TEX. MEN OBJECT TO ATTACKS ON CHURCH

MARSHALL, Texas, Feb. 5.—No hope was held yesterday for the life of John Copeland, bank cashier, shot Wednesday night in the hotel room of William Black of Bellaire, O., a lecturer, who with John Rogers of this city also was killed. George Ryan of this city is charged with killing Black and C. F. Hall, Black's companion, who registered from St. Paul, with killing Rogers and wounding Copeland. The shooting occurred Wednesday night within two minutes after a committee of Marshall men, Copeland, Rogers and Ryan, called on Black with a request that he stop his lectures here, attacking the Roman Catholic church. His first lecture here Tuesday night caused great feeling.

At the post-mortem, the coroner found on Black's body, in addition to the four wounds which caused his death, the scars of seven old wounds, apparently made by bullets. Additional warrants were issued yesterday for Walter Verhalen and George Tier. The pistols carried by Black and by Rogers, who fell fatally wounded across the lecturer's body, are said to show that neither had been fired.

Women's Federation Holds Business Meeting—Excellent Supper and Fine Entertainment

afternoon it was voted to hold socials and suppers on the second Wednesday of the month. An excellent supper was served at 6.30 by a committee headed by Mrs. Nelson Hill and Mrs. Wiggin. There was a very delightful entertainment, too, consisting of a little skit, entitled "The Talent of the Sweet Family." The cast included: Mrs. Clarence Hoyt, "Ma Sweet"; Mrs. Lorenzo Ayer, "Araminta Ann, prima donna"; Miss Susie Caldwell, "Betsy Bellindy," the delicate one; Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall and Miss Eva Henderson, "Caroline Cordelia and Dorothy Dellah, the twins"; Miss Marie McPherson, "Elizabeth Eliza, dramatic recitationist"; Mrs. Bert McKinley, "Frances Fedory, the girl who had been in love"; Miss Irene Coqueline, "Gloriana Gadabout, the singer." The chorus rehearsal and practice meeting were held at the same time in other parts of the church.

LOWELL GRANGE DANCE

A delightful dancing party was held last evening in Lincoln hall under the auspices of Lowell Grange, 323. There was a large attendance, including delegations from granges in the suburban towns. Music for dancing was furnished by Neyman's orchestra.

The following officers had charge of the affair: General manager, Mrs. Jennie L. Abbott; floor director, Donald A. MacKenzie; aide, Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Mary McDermott, Percy Knight, Fred Gilmore, Allan Bowen and Miss Winnie Farmer. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. Frances E. Drew, Mrs. Hallie E. Whitney, Mrs. Nellie Farnum, Mrs. Alice Donovan and Miss as Ida and Minnie Samuels. Harry Sawyer was chairman of the refreshment committee, and he was assisted by Mrs. McRitchie and Mrs. Mooney.

KAISER'S ONLY DAUGHTER HEADS WORK OF RELIEF FOR ORPHANS

KAISER'S ONLY DAUGHTER AND HER BABY

The Duchess of Brunswick, who was Princess Victoria Luise, only daughter of Kaiser Wilhelm, is heading the work for the relief and care of orphans caused by the war. Since the birth of her baby daughter last March the duchess was busy with the duties of young motherhood up to the time the war began. She was forced then to turn her attention from her own nursery to those of her royal father's people. As the war ran into fall and winter the duchess gave much of her time to relief work. The picture shows her with her little child.

Florida Oranges and Grapefruit Ripened Under Nature's Smiles

Citrus fruits came first to Florida of all America—were the heritage of the State from its Spanish discoverers. In no part of the world have oranges and grapefruit attained the perfection they have reached in their adopted "Land of Flowers." The soil and sunshine—the ocean breezes and the summer showers—develop and ripen the fruit in Florida as nowhere else. Every Florida orange and grapefruit which ripens on the tree is filled with citric acid, which has been tempered, sweetened and enriched to a most delicious flavor.

The progressive citrus fruit growers of Florida work together in a co-operative organization for the mutual protection of themselves and the consumers of oranges and grapefruit. This is known as the

FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

Bought in boxes on which the above mark is branded in red, Florida oranges and grapefruit will be found heavy with juice, delightfully sweet and delicately flavored. Only tree-ripened citrus fruits are good and wholesome—hence Exchange growers do not ship their crops to market until fully ripe. In season Florida Citrus Exchange fruit can be secured from most dealers—yours will get it for you if you insist.

There are many ways of serving oranges and grapefruit. They are both food and drink and may be used in confections and cookery. Booklet containing several of recipes for the use of citrus fruits mailed for 4 cents in stamps. Address, Florida Citrus Exchange, 628 Citrus Bank Bldg., Tampa, Fla.

(Marion)

The large assemblage gathered last evening in the rooms of the Young Men's Catholic Institute on Stackpole street to greet and honor their brother member, Frank P. McGilly, who has been recently elected president of the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust company, must have realized before the festivities came to a close that the young man whose energy, initiative and ambition have been so notably crowned, earned all the honor that has come his way by nobility of character and tireless enterprise. Men of state-wide reputation and holding positions of high responsibility in political and financial circles were there, both from this city and Boston to add their personal tribute to those of the fathers of the immaculate Conception church, banking and business men of Lowell. Life-long friends and companions and men who had worked with Mr. McGilly through many of the phases of his as yet brief but brilliant career. The event was characterized not only by the large group of distinguished men, gathered to congratulate the young bank president, but by the spirit of friendliness, enthusiasm and cordiality that was manifested all during the evening. All who spoke declared their personal pride in Mr. McGilly and predicted still greater things for him in the near future. Besides the regular program there were several impromptu speeches, mostly by the prominent bank men present, many of whom had accompanied ex-Mayor Fitzgerald and Bank Commissioner Thorndike from Boston.

The Banquet

Shortly after 8 o'clock the various groups that were gathered informally in the rooms of the Y. M. C. I. were assembled and marched to their places to the strains of the orchestra. The hall had been decorated beautifully for the occasion with vari-colored streamers of bunting, flags and the national colors. Over 250 persons were present. At the head table sat James J. Spillane, P. McGilly, Charles B. Wiggin of Boston, Joseph R. Kennedy of Boston, Hon. John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, John C. Farrington, Frank P. McGilly, Augustus L. Thorndike of Boston, Representative John J. Gilbride, George M. Harrigan, Larkin T. Trull, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, John H. Shea, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. L., Rev. James P. McGarr, O. M. L., Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. L., and Rev. Owen P. McGuire, O. M. L.

Many other distinguished guests were present, most of whom sat at the various tables at the head of the hall. The financial, professional, business and political life of Lowell was well represented.

John C. Farrington, Toastmaster

At the conclusion of the banquet speaker, John Shea, president of the institute, introduced James J. Spillane, chairman of the evening, who in turn introduced as toastmaster John C. Farrington.

Mr. Farrington, the able toastmaster of the evening, presided with tact, intelligence and eloquence. His introductory speech was, in part, as follows:

This is a night of great pleasure and satisfaction, of encouragement, congratulation and delight for the Young Men's Catholic Institute of Lowell, for we have met to rejoice with one of our members upon his entry into a place of useful responsibility and activity in the business life of the city—

his city and our city. This is essentially a young man's night—for the young men of this society and the young men who are the centre of our honored guests on this occasion. We pay all due reverence and respect to age and stability, and long and tried experience—that goes without saying—but we will be pardoned, I know, if we turn for a brief space of these exercises to the glorification of youth, youth with its dreams, its hopes and aspirations, its bright promises of success to be achieved and accomplishments to be realized.

I can wish Mr. McGilly nothing better than that the years to come shall bring a continuation of his growth in ability, character, and that true worth and brightness which with the esteem of honest and discerning men, and win it because they deserve it.

We shall all watch the career of Mr. McGilly in his new sphere, but none will watch it with greater interest and affectionate concern than his boyhood friends of this society. We know him as many know him in his general outside relations with the world; but we know him also as one of the Y. M. C. I. and we feel that some part at least of the training which has made him what he is, may be attributed to his early connection with this society. Now Y is for youth, enthusiastic, untarnished, hopeful, progressive youth; M is for manhood, masterful manhood, manly and modest; C is for character, courage, catholic, Christian character and chivalry; I is for integrity, industry, intelligence and independence. Little by little they are a host of good things, and collectively they stand for the ideal things of God-fearing, hopeful, intelligent, ambitious manhood.

The way to worthy and satisfying success opens attractively and with promise to our friend tonight. He has within him great possibilities for himself, and he also has imposed upon him serious duties and responsibilities, the faithful and intelligent discharge of which will bring great satisfaction to himself, joy and pleasure to his friends, and encouragement and in-

Your Shaving Comfort

Most men shave "on the run."
More time given to shaving, or in "getting ready," soon discloses many hitherto unrealized joys of shaving one's self.
Early morning shaving is considered best for the face, because the flesh and skin have had a chance to relax and get in a normal condition during the night.
The face should be carefully washed and wiped dry before the first lather is applied.
Work in the lather with the brush, or a rubber beard softener, and not the fingers. Then use the razor.

BLOCKADE, SAYS BERLIN

German Press Greet With Satisfaction Order Putting British Waters in War Zone

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The entire German press greets with satisfaction the admiralty's declaration that the waters surrounding England, Scotland and Ireland have been included in the war zone. The headlines of several papers characterize the admiralty's action as a blockade. The Post declares it is a blockade and must be so considered. "Neutral shipping," says the Post, "is given time to take refuge in safe harbors. Only after a measured period do all merchantmen going to and from the British Isles run into danger. Then to be sure, men and freight not only on British ships but under a neutral flag are doomed to sink."

The Tagesschau says: "We have accepted England's battle conditions. We let England play its role and assume ours with all its rights and obligations. Let him guard himself who feels like coming between us."

The Lokal Anzeiger declares England's own weapons are being turned against herself and when Germany's navy has suffered for centuries, it will have accomplished a high historical mission and freed the world from one of its most dangerous enemies.

The Tageblatt says England's conduct in which the new decree is an answer has been disadvantageous. It could not defeat Germany with weapons which Germany realizes are not inconceivable. The paper expresses the opinion that neutral powers will suffer losses from the new declaration but declares these losses will be small compared with those which England imposes upon them.

AMEND SHUTTLE LAW

MANUFACTURERS PETITION FOR AMENDMENT TO LAW FORBIDDING USE OF SUCTION SHUTTLE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Cotton and woolen manufacturers and operatives from New Bedford, Fall River, Lawrence and other textile centers appeared before the legislative committee on public health yesterday on a petition of several manufacturers for an amendment to the present law forbidding the use of suction shuttles. The manufacturers ask to have the law changed so that it shall be unlawful for a mill owner or agent to permit the use of any form of shuttle in the use of which it is necessary to put the thread in the mouth or for the operator to touch the shuttle with his lips.

Another section aims to provide that if a manufacturer can show to the state board of labor and industry any good reason for inability to comply with the law, that board may grant reasonable extension of time.

Among the proponents were Israel Brayton, attorney for the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers Association; John L. Burton of New Bedford of the Nashawena mills; Wheaton Kirtland of Lawrence, for the American Woolen

AT PANAMA FAIR

Textile School Will Have Exhibit—None From Local Mills

It was learned yesterday that the local manufacturers will not have an exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International exhibition, which will be held at San Francisco. However, many of the Lowell products will be on exhibition, but the names or location of the manufacturers will not be known, for these goods will constitute an exhibit arranged by a large dye stuff concern, and they will be utilized simply to show the quality of the dye manufacturing by the said company.

Nevertheless, Lowell will be represented at the exhibition, for the Lowell Textile school will have quite an exhibit at the Palace of Education. The school's exhibit will be sent under the auspices of the state board of education in order to show what the state is doing in the line of education.

The school exhibit will consist of two large glass cases. One will contain a series of boxes including photographs and material designs showing the various steps of manufacturing worsted goods and woolen fabrics. The other case will contain dye stuffs, such as cold far dyes and color lace together with material dyed from these.

All the articles having been prepared at the school. Another exhibit showing the character of the work performed at the machine shop and the completed products.

A series of multiplex frames 23 inches wide and 13 inches high will be included in the exhibit. These frames will work automatically by means of a motor and will contain charts descriptive of courses at the Lowell Textile school and some of the students' work. What is known as a stereomograph, including from 45 to 50 slides, showing men at work in the various departments of the school, the equipment and character of the work and interior and exterior views of the school.

Vocational School

The Lowell Vocational school will also have an exhibit at the exposition, which will consist of a series of pictures of the various departments of the school, showing the boys and girls at work. With the pictures will be considerable literature explaining the workings of the school and the benefits derived from it by the many pupils.

WERNER HORN, GERMAN DYNAMITER, AND CANADIAN BRIDGE HE DAMAGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Formal application was made to the state department by the British government for the extradition of Werner Horn, who was arrested at Vancouver, B. C., after attempting to blow up the Canadian end of the St. Croix river international bridge. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, visited the state department and left with Secretary Bryan and Counselor Robert Lansing a note formally requesting that Horn be extradited for trial in Canada. The request said that Horn had committed an offense in violation of section 282 of the criminal code of New Brunswick, which declared it to be unlawful and punishable by life imprisonment for any person to destroy a train, bridge or railway fence "with intent to injure or endanger the safety of any person traveling or being on any railway, bridge, etc." The formal request for the extradition of Horn was referred by the secretary of state to C. C. Johnson, the solicitor of the department, who has the case under advisement. Officials of the state and justice departments were in conference over the case, but no action will be taken by the federal government in Washington until the receipt here of the report of the United States commissioner to be designated by the department of justice—probably the one nearest to Vancouver—to hear the case. The case will first have to be passed upon by the United States commissioner or by the federal courts, and it is altogether probable that the supreme court of the United States will ultimately have to deliver its opinion before it is determined whether Horn has committed a crime for which he can be extradited. Under the statutes of the United States, which are rather explicit on matters of extradition, neither Secretary Bryan nor any other federal official has authority to surrender Horn into the hands of any Canadian official until the prisoner has had a proper hearing and has been committed by order of the judicial authorities handling the case in this country.

A REAL FLESH BUILDER FOR THIN PEOPLE

A NEW DISCOVERY

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What because of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you haven't got enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are easily out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sweet diets. Limit the flesh cream rub-ups. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those Sargol tablets. In two weeks you note the difference. Five to eight solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol changes your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, in conjunction with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to science. They come in 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive. All druggists in Lowell and vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED

CHARGED WITH STEALING POCKET BOOKS FROM WOMEN IN DOCTORS' OFFICES

As a result of complaints made to the police by business men with offices in downtown Lowell to the effect that pocketbooks and other valuable articles have been stolen from their offices quite frequently of late, two newsboys were arrested yesterday by Sgt. Petrie and both will be arraigned in the juvenile court soon.

The arrests followed some diligent work on the part of the police inspector as the persons from whom the money was stolen had no clue whatever as to the identity of the guilty parties.

In many cases the larcenies are said to have occurred in the waiting rooms of dentists and doctors' offices, where women would leave their pocketbooks, etc., while transacting their business in private offices. The boys arrested are accused of taking part in four different larcenies. One occurred Tuesday night when a woman lost a valuable silver purse containing $8 in bills in the Howe building. When arrested by Sgt. Petrie, a purse containing $2 in coins was one of the boys and this was identified by the woman who claims it was stolen. Another pocketbook was recovered alleged to have been taken from another office and still two other larcenies charges will be preferred against the newsboys. The boys are 14 and 12 years old respectively and their names are withheld for request.

BATTERY - B DISBANDED

ORDER ISSUED BY GOV. WALSH—INTERNAL DISSENSIONS WERE RESPONSIBLE

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Governor Walsh, as commander-in-chief of the militia, today ordered the disbandment of battery B, field artillery of Worcester, the honorable discharge of all the officers and men in the command. The reason given was that the battery had failed below the proper standard of efficiency.

Internal dissensions in the battery were responsible for the governor's action.

Under direction of Gov. Walsh a new battery will be organized in Worcester.

THE SHIP PURCHASE BILL

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ARE CONSIDERING NEW LINES OF ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Democratic leaders in the senate in a further effort to save the administration ship purchase bill were today considering new lines of action.

Outnumbered by the opposition the majority leaders yesterday failed to carry out their plan to recommend the bill with instructions for amendment.

The new plan under consideration is to recommit the bill without instructions so as to bring it up again on a motion to discharge the committee if it failed to return the measure with amendments recommended by the majority. Some of the leaders favor this plan if assured of enough votes to carry it.

Meantime the democratic leaders are waiting for the return here next week of two democratic senators, Newlands and Smith, of South Carolina. Then they expect to bring it up in a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to amend they would count on Vice President Marshall to break a tie in their favor.

THE COMPENSATION ACT

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE DEVOTES THREE SESSIONS TO HEARINGS ON SEVERAL PROPOSED BILLS

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—The legislative committee on judiciary held hearings all day yesterday and last evening on several of the 12 bills providing for changes in the Workmen's Compensation act. The committee will resume consideration of the measures this morning at 10 a. m.

At yesterday afternoon's session John Hobson of the Joint Textile Council of Fall River and New Bedford urged favorable reports on four bills, including one that increased the minimum compensation from $1 to $5, another that compensation date from the time of the injury, and a third that the injured person have the right to select his own physician.

Attorney Louis Sargol spoke in favor of a bill which provides that the costs of court battles over the interpretation of the Workmen's Compensation act shall be paid by the person or persons losing the case. Representative Edward Harrington pleaded for a bill which says compensation shall be made weekly.

A bill giving employers the right of self insurance was discussed at some length, and Senator Clarence W. Hobbs of Worcester, who appeared in favor of the bill, was closely questioned on several phases of the measure not clear to members of the committee. Attorney A. L. Green of Holyoke also spoke in favor of the bill.

Senator Andrew D. Doyle of New Bedford had seven bills before the committee, the most important of which called for an increase in the maximum compensation from $10 to $14 a week. Joseph J. Feeler of the Massachusetts Alliance of Employers and Manufacturers' association spoke on the measure favored by Senator Hobbs. Representative John J. Kearney discussed one bill calling for payment of compensation within seven days from the time of injury and another bringing workmen and mechanics under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation act.

F. P. Saltonstall represented the Boston Elevated on a measure to permit employment of certain persons on waivers of legal rights and Arthur Cundy, vice-president of the Massachusetts Automobile Operators' association, spoke on a bill to apply workmen's compensation to chauffeurs.

The evening session was a quiet affair, only 20 persons attending and of these only three addressed the committee.

Henry Sterling, representing the State Branch of the American Federation of Labor, opposed the bills which would permit employers to carry their own insurance, and pay their employees directly for injuries. He said the reason this proposition meets with favor from employers is that they know that many employees will keep silent concerning their injuries, because they feel, rightly or wrongly, that to insist upon their rights would be to endanger their employment. Many of them, he said, feel that they must accept what the employer is willing to give, or go into the street looking for a new job.

Frank Dresser, representing the American Steel and Wire company, pointed out that every accident and injury reported by the Industrial Accident board, with heavy penalties for failure to report, and the board follows up every case and sees to it that the employee gets what he is entitled to. Thus there is no occasion for the employee to take the initiative in any case.

W. J. O'Malley of the Boston Law department, opposed the bill providing that an injured employee may secure the services of any doctor he pleases. He said that Boston maintains a City hospital at an annual expense of more than $500,000, and it is unfair to require the city to pay other medical bills in addition. Mr. O'Malley will oppose other bills at tomorrow's session.

Worcester, and his associates not only applauded him when he finished speaking, but also voted with him; the result was that Representatives Sherburne of Brookline and Long of Topsfield, who made serious speeches in defense of the order and the committee on rules, could master only a corporal's guard on their side of the question.

SENATORS PROMINENT IN SHIPPING BILL FIGHT WHICH STIRS HALLS OF CONGRESS

LOWELL FIRE UNDERWRITERS TO PREPARE REPLY TO COMMISSIONER CARMICHAEL'S STATEMENT

The members of the Lowell Fire Underwriters' association held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in their quarters in Central street. The meeting had been called for the purpose of preparing a reply to the statement made by Col. James H. Carmichael a few days ago to the effect that the underwriters did not live up to their agreement of 1905.

It is stated that the members discussed the matter for a couple of hours without coming to an agreement. Finally, it is claimed, although the president of the association had no statement for the press, that one of the members is to take the matter up with the fire prevention committee of the Lowell board of trade.

These are some of the United States senators prominent in the ship bill fight. Interest centered around Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, who hurriedly was summoned from Ash Grove, N. C., to cast his vote on the important measure over which the administration had staked so much. The fate of the bill depended largely upon the efforts of these senators for and against it.

REP. WASHBURN WINS WAY BY WIFTY SPEECH AND HOUSE DEFEATS ORDER

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Representative Washburn of Worcester persuaded the state house of representatives yesterday to reconsider and then to kill an order which it had adopted on Wednesday providing for the appointment of a special legislative committee to investigate and report on the state of military unpreparedness in Massachusetts.

This order had received a favorable report from the committee on rules and was adopted by the house principally because no one took the trouble to oppose it. But Mr. Washburn made yesterday a characteristic satirical speech which persuaded the house to reverse its earlier action.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Washburn assumed the role of prophet and made reference to the day when Speaker Cox would be governor of the commonwealth. This suggestion brought forth hearty and long-continued handclapping which the speaker quelled with difficulty, although he quailed vigorously with his caveat.

Mr. Washburn, disregarding all parliamentary rules, gravely complimented the speaker on his exhibition of "customary modesty," and then went on to allude to Mr. Cox' approaching marriage as an alleviation of his affliction from the house.

All these things put the house in good humor with the member from

To Celebrate My Fifth Birthday I Take a Shot at High Prices

My rise in the tailoring business is probably the most phenomenal ever known in this country. Five years ago this month I opened my first store in Schenectady, New York, on a limited capital and with probably my energy and ambition to carry me along. From the very outset this store achieved great success. It was the beginning of the Tom Wilson chain of tailoring stores, of which there are now fourteen in the East and Middle West. Through these stores I have assumed a buying point second to no other tailoring concern in America. I am able to use quantities of woollens that probably no other tailor could handle and I buy at virtually my own prices. Year after year I have sought to increase the efficiency of my workshops and to reduce the cost of production by increasing the volume of business. I believe my cost of making a suit or overcoat will average twenty to thirty per cent. less than any other dealer, with the result that I am able to offer you an unrestricted choice of all suitings and overcoatings in my immense stock at $8.50, made to measure any style you desire.

Included are plain and fancy serges, chevots, tweeds, cassimeres, melton and kersey overcoatings, and fancy plaid back materials.

These will be all cut and made in my usual manner and guaranteed for wear, workmanship and fit.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

SMILE AND WIN THE WORLD

What is more infectious than a woman's smile which emanates directly from the heart and shines from the eyes. The whole soul kind of a smile, not the made-to-order variety. Smiles, dimples and blushes go a long way to enhance a face, whether fair or plain.

The old saying is that dimples and blushes go together, but old sayings are not always true. Blushing is largely a matter of practice and a result of a good healthy skin. The woman who lets her skin grow dull and thick, with hardened muscles and the corners of her mouth sagging, will never find herself blushing; while the girl who looks well to her complexion and her general health will find the rosy flushes come easily.

Cultivate smiles, for these keep the lines softened and help to hide old age. Habitual pouting enlarges and coarsens the underlip, and all the unconscious tricks of facial expressions increase and deepen the lines. In posture, lines, and complexion, of course, a surgeon should be consulted, but the slight defects can be largely relieved at home.

Stand before a mirror and "try on" pleasant expressions just as you would a new hat. Try and try again, always looking in the glass. Strive to attain a smile that shows your teeth, for the whiteness of them will lend brightness to an other wise dull face. Laugh as much as you can. Better have a few tiny wrinkles about the eyes that massage will eliminate, than to go about with a pouting face and sagging mouth. And when you smile, don't do it in an absent-minded manner. It is one of woman's greatest and strongest attractions—that of a pleasant smile. Look at the persons you smile at. Stand in front of the glass and practice it until you get just the right smile that will show two rows of glistening teeth, and you will have gone far toward helping your personal appearance.

BILL GAINS $4,489,300

RIVERS AND HARBORS APPROPRIATIONS REPORTED TO THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—With an increase of $4,489,300 over the bill as it passed the house, the senate commerce committee yesterday reported the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, carrying a total of $38,627,880. Senator Fletcher announced that he hoped to call the bill up as soon as possible.

Items added included $77,500 for the inland waterway between Rehoboth Bay and Delaware Bay, Del., and $30,000 for maintenance of the ship canal connecting the waters of the Great Lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo.

Senator Burton purposes to fight the bill as he did at the last session. If it is reached before adjournment.

JOHN OWENS DROPS DEAD

HAVERHILL BOX MANUFACTURER HAD YEAR OF ILL-LUCK—FACTORIES BURNED

HAVERHILL, Feb. 5.—John Owens, a pioneer box manufacturer, died suddenly of heart disease at his home on Lawrence street last night. He was stricken while reading the evening paper and expired before any of his family could give him aid. He was born in Charlestown, P. E. I., 65 years ago.

His death ended a run of bad luck that had lasted a year. Mr. Owens had a large box factory at Lynn up to a few years ago, when it was destroyed by fire. He removed here and his business prospered so that he sought to enlarge his factory, but the city government refused permission because of the proximity of a school.

Starting a plant in Newton, N. H., Mr. Owens was making money again, when the factory was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago.

He came to Haverhill 40 years ago and for about 35 years had been engaged in the boxmaking industry, which developed along with the shoe industry of Haverhill and Lynn. He was a member of Haverhill council, K. of C. His wife, three sons and a daughter survive him.

DEMOCRATS UNANIMOUSLY NOMINATE HIM TO SUCCEED HIMSELF

—OTHER ELECTIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Democrats elected to the house in the 64th congress last night unanimously nominated Speaker Clark to succeed himself and chose Claude Kitchin of North Carolina to become chairman of the ways and means committee and majority floor leader when Mr. Underwood goes to the senate. Enthusiastic applause greeted the elections, both of which were by acclamation. The speaker and Mr. Kitchin responded with speeches urging democratic harmony.

The caucus named all of the re-elected members of the ways and means committee and chose the following to all vacancies: Crisp of Georgia, Oldfield of Arkansas, Casey of Pennsylvania, Allen of Ohio, McMillan of Maine, Helvering of Kansas.

The makeup of the committee follows the usual plan of having the democratic representation on the committee equally divided between the north and south.

Clerk South Trimble of Kentucky, Sergeant-at-Arms Robert B. Gordon of Ohio, Doorkeeper Joseph L. Sinnott of Virginia, Chaplain Henry N. Conden and Postmaster William M. Dunbar were nominated for reelection without opposition.

In the only real contest E. W. Saunders of Virginia was elected chairman of the caucus over Martin D. Foster of Illinois by a vote of 108 to 86. Ashbrook of Ohio was elected clerk of the caucus.

How to Destroy Catarrh Germs and End Catarrh Forever

A Specialist's Advice

Catarrh is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgment there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop. The trouble with most treatments, like sprays, salves, creams, greasy balms, lotions, etc., is that they give only temporary relief by opening up for a while the clogged head, throat and nostrils. In a little time the Catarrh comes back as bad as ever.

People who suffer continually from catarrh should drop such temporary makeshifts and get something that really gets at the root of the disease and stamps it out. There is nothing better for such cases than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing, healing, germ destroying air of Hyomel (pronounced High-o-mel) made from purest oil of eucalyptus and combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ destroying ingredients. Hyomel penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh germs cannot live in your body after Hyomel reaches them. Good druggists in Lowell and vicinity have long sold Hyomel on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays. Most druggists are now giving a pocket inhaler made from hard rubber with every complete treatment sold. This makes a very simple, easy and convenient as well as a thoroughly reliable means of treating by the best known method this dangerous and often disgusting disease.

NO. CHELMSFORD NEWS

Notes of the Town's Activities— The Mills Busy—Social Events Planned

The town meeting which kept excitement at fever heat the last two months in North Chelmsford is now a thing of the past and there is a sense of satisfaction being expressed at the manner in which most of the rather bulky appropriations were cut down. It is now to be hoped that the town officials will use every means within their power to try and live within the amounts appropriated. The Sun reporter on his weekly visit to the village found the men talking over the election results and the majority seemed to be much pleased at the turn of events. The cut-down in the salary of the superintendent of schools was about the only thing that was wholly unlooked for, but as the majority of the voters deemed it fitting, the politicians are saying nothing. The superintendent was last year given a raise of $200 without the consent of the voters and at the town meeting held in Chelmsford Centre Monday he was cut down $300. However, it may be possible that the school committee will keep the salary of Mr. Martin at the same figure, and obtain the necessary appropriation from some other source, but the majority believe that the board will carry out the will of the people and live within the appropriation of $1500.

The voters of the village feel well satisfied that they will have D. Frank Small and James P. Dunnington to look after their affairs again this year. Both men had practically decided to retire from active politics months before the election period and it was only after much pressure was brought to bear on them by their friends that they decided to re-enter the race. George Shepherd, who was a candidate for constable, put up a very creditable fight for the position and deserves much praise for the vote he received. Mr. Shepherd is in hopes that the voters of the town will see the need of two constables at the next town election.

Snow Storm
The snow storm which started Monday night made traveling very hard, especially for the operatives of the local mills, who found it rather hard work to get to their places of employment. The electric traffic was more or less delayed even though the snow-plows, which the company had out at an early hour, managed to keep the tracks pretty well cleared of drifts. John Marinell had a force of men busily engaged yesterday breaking the roads and they were all well cleared last night.

The snow storm made the sleighing good and from now on many parties from the city will have their long-looked-for opportunity of holding their annual sleighing parties to the town hall. All deliveries in the village are being made on runners. The long procession of puns hauling wood from the wooded tracts surrounding Long-Sought-For pond are being made daily by men employed by the D. Chase Ice Co., and they would remind one of the old logging days.

Ladies' Auxiliary Meeting Postponed
The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Total Abstinence society who were to have met at St. John's hall Tuesday evening, postponed their meeting to a later date, the snow storm having seriously interfered with their plans. Installation of officers was to have taken place at the meeting and other important matters were to have been transacted. A small gathering of members, however, showed up at the hall and made the most of the occasion by spending the evening in a most enjoyable social manner.

Schools
The schools are as usual doing good work under the watchful eye of Mr. Varney, who has made a very capable and efficient principal. More school room is needed, but it is doubtful if the matter will be remedied this year with the small appropriation given the school committee. However, everything will run along smoothly for the present year, but next year something very radical will have to be done to provide more room for the increasing number of school children.

Mills Running Well
The mills in the village are running on full time schedules. The Silesia and Moore mills are operating nights in some departments and the only class of help needed is the wheelers in the Silesia mills. The Lowell

James Murphy, the village barber, was a most interested spectator at the town meeting held in the Centre village the first of the week.

The new store being erected by Mrs. J. Marinell will do much toward adding to the attractiveness of the center.

James Dunnington and D. Frank Small were very active at the town meeting and were leaders in the fight for economy in the various departments.

Dr. Varney, the well known and esteemed physician, besides being interested in caring for the sick, is also very much taken up with town politics as was evidenced at the town meeting Monday.

LATE WAR NEWS

to bottle up the British Isles by means of submarines as a "paper blockade." England is stirred today by this latest development in the marine situation as she seldom has been since the outbreak of hostilities.

The press unanimously substantiates all other war news, not excepting the Turkish attempt to cross the Suez canal, to give prominence to the despatch from Berlin while the foreign office is endeavoring to keep the publication of the German decree, which indicates that the government authorities take the German threat as one requiring a counter stroke promptly. As the statement says, the authorities are considering more stringent measures against German trade. The ministers are treating the subject as of potential urgency and a full official statement as to the attitude of Great Britain should be forthcoming shortly.

German Press Refutes
The German press in the meantime hails this newly announced policy of the navy with great satisfaction. The comments received in London today indicate that the newspapers consider the warning to neutral ships that the waters surrounding the British Isles are to be considered a military area after Feb. 15 and that ships attempting passage outside of the channels specified do so at their own risk.

Some English newspapers declare today that the German announcement will in the end benefit England in that it rightfully entitles the British government to declare contraband all foodstuffs destined for Germany.

Operations in Egypt
Aside from confirmation of the report that no fewer than 12,000 Turkish troops comprise the expedition which has attacked the Suez canal, little news has been received in London relative to the operations in Egypt. That the attempt to even greater force to cross the canal will be renewed, however, is the general belief.

30,000 GERMAN ATTACK RUSSIANS ALONG THE VISTULA

PETROGRAD, Feb. 5.—The official report of the Russian general staff given out this city today relates that the forces of Emperor Nicholas have relinquished some of their mountain positions in the Carpathians. The troops opposed to the Russians in these positions are strong numerically and they are fighting with energy.

Near Borjomo in Russian Poland, the desperate and stubborn fighting which has been going on for several days has not yet at an end. The Russian claim progress, but mention no decisive outcome. The Germans, according to the Russian report brought seven divisions into a front six miles wide. Seven divisions totals about 55,000 men.

The text follows:
In East Prussia we are making progress by fighting our way along both banks of the River Scheschuppe in the vicinity of Laidopen to the east of Tilsit.

On the left bank of the River Vistula the fighting between Borjomo and Wola Saliawicka has continued with extraordinary ferocity. The enemy has brought into the engagement compact masses of men. In the endeavor to penetrate our front the Germans have here introduced into a series of ten versts (about six miles) no fewer than seven divisions supported by 100 batteries of artillery.

Two Thousand Captured
In the Carpathians the fighting continues along the front which extends from Bukovina near Mount Wyszok. We advanced at a point near Swidnik in the valley of the River Latorich, moving in the direction of Oujew. We took 2000 prisoners and 15 machine guns.

Repulsed With Heavy Losses
At Mount Trushkoff and at Mount Denkid our troops during the last few days have been confronting the enemy with a desperate resistance. They accepted no less than ten engagements at the point of the bayonet. On Feb. 3 we resolved to withdraw our soldiers from the mountain positions to other positions previously selected and organized by us. The offensive strength of the enemy in this vicinity is very considerable.

Offensive operations of the enemy in the vicinity of Mount Wyszok have been repulsed with the infliction of heavy losses.

30,000 GERMAN RUSH TO SAVE HUNGARIANS IN CARPATHIANS

VENICE, Feb. 5.—Despatches from Vienna state that 30,000 German troops have arrived in Hungary on the way to Korosmezo in the Carpathians to assist Hungarian forces said to be threatened with envelopment by the Russians.

Austrian forces, despatches say, have attacked the Russian left flank at Jacoben in southern Bukovina, forcing the Russians to retreat toward Radautz.

It also is stated that an Austrian advance guard has been annihilated in Uzok pass.

Confirmation is given the report that 200,000 German troops are being sent from Poland to assist in attempting the relief of Przemyel.

GOOKIN FURNITURE CO., PRES COTT STREET

SWEDISH CONG. CHURCH

A delightful musical event was conducted by the members of the Swedish Congregational church last evening, the occasion being the presence of a noted violin artist, John E. Crest, who is now making his first tour of America, and who won the first prize for folk lore violinists in Stockholm in 1910.

Mr. Crest makes a specialty of reviving old songs and included in his repertoire are selections, which are between 200 and 400 years old.

Mr. Crest delighted his audience with several of these numbers and his playing aroused much enthusiasm among the older persons in the audience, many of whom had heard them hummed and played in childhood. At the conclusion of the artist's playing, the gathering was addressed by Rev. Oscar Lundgren, superintendent of the mission in Boston.

part of the pirate chief, is dainty and most effective, while the 10 other young women sing and dance effectively.

"Sammy Wren," in the part of the seafaring boy, is full of wholesome fun. Nonette, the singing violinist, is talented in two ways. As a violinist she draws a splendid bow, and as a singer she gives positive evidences of good training. Eddie Carr & Co., in their potpourri of fun, music and dancing, hold down a bright spot on the bill. Carr himself is very funny and a good dancer. La Toy Bros., pantomime comedians, are among the week's best performers. Other acts on the bill are Mack & Williams, the Doherty and George C. Gray, and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial. ### MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The last opportunity which local theatre goers will have of witnessing that splendid play, "The Final Settlement" which the Merrimack Square theatre is so expertly presenting this week is rapidly drawing to a close and those who haven't already witnessed the play had best do so for they'll surely regret it afterward if they don't. Sam A. Barry and Marion Chester are covering themselves with glory by their excellent interpretations of their respective roles. The other cast are also worthy of commendation while special and elaborate stage settings also enhance the play's attractiveness.

Next week, a sensation in four acts entitled "The Reformer" will be offered by the company. This remarkable play is from the pen of H. J. Legere and has to do with social and political questions of the present day. The play treats the questions in frank and daring manner, and in cities to which it has been given so far has never failed to arouse intense interest. Seats for performances are now on sale.

PUT TO DEATH

Lee Dock and Eng Hing
Executed at Sing Sing
Prison

OSSINING, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Lee Dock and Eng Hing, Chinese, were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison early today.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food- tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

FEAR FOUL PLAY

Young Coe, Protege of Standard Oil President Disappears

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., 23 years old, a trusted employee of the Standard Oil company in Boston, and a protege of Pres. Folger of that concern, son of one of the best known families in New York and husband of a daughter of A. A. Ainslie, one of the most prominent hotel men in the country, is missing.

Young Coe, who lived with his wife at 1200 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, has not been seen since last Saturday morning and his mysterious disappearance and prolonged absence has caused a countrywide investigation to be instituted in the hope that some clue as to his whereabouts may be obtained. Robert Burns of the Burns Detective Bureau has been authorized by Dr. Coe, an eminent New York surgeon, the father of the missing young man, to offer a reward of $250 for information which might lead to the discovery of the young man, and today more than 6000 circulars, bearing a picture of young Coe, with his description, will be sent broadcast through the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The mystery which surrounds the disappearance of Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., has startled fashionable circles in Boston, Brookline and New York, where his family is well known. Had the earth suddenly opened and swallowed the young man he could not have disappeared more completely, and fears of foul play are being entertained by his family and by the private detectives at work on the case.

DARING HOLDUPS

Two Within Half an
Evening

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Within half an hour last evening an expressman was held up at the point of a revolver on Southampton street and robbed of $25 and a clerk in a liquor and grocery store at 107 Beach street was robbed of more than $50 by a man who held a revolver in his hand. The police believe both robberies were committed by the same band.

Shortly after 7:30 Robert Dunn of 130 Broadway, South Boston, was driving his delivery wagon along Southampton street. When under the New Haven railroad bridge a man jumped into the roadway and, pointing a revolver at his head, ordered Dunn to stop. He pulled up his horse and the man jumped up to the seat.

He then demanded that Dunn turn

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.

This well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartic and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose, at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 412 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

over all the money he had, holding his revolver in his hand. Dunn searched every pocket and turned over about $55.

The robber jumped from the wagon and ordered Dunn to drive off and not make any outcry. Dunn did as directed and went to South Boston, making his first stop at the Broadway police station, where he made a report.

Less than half an hour later a man entered the store of Charles L. Richardson & Co., 107 Beach street, where Charles M. Hollander was in charge with another clerk. Both Hollander and the clerk supposed he was a customer. The stranger walked over to the counter, pulled a revolver from his right overcoat pocket and calmly told Hollander that he wanted what money there was in the cash register.

Hollander and his assistant were dumfounded by the command. But the robber held his revolver menacingly toward them and Hollander opened the drawer and turned over its contents, $50.

FAIR WAGE FOR WOMEN

State Board Recommends That the Employer Pay Price Asked By Employees

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Feb. 5.—That a price of $6.00 for a week of 50 hours is not a fair wage for women who are required to perform an essential operation in the paper-making industry, is the opinion handed down by the state board of conciliation and arbitration in the case of the Valley Paper Co. at Holyoke and its employees in the rag sorting department, which the board publicly investigated on Jan. 22.

The board recommends that the employer pay the price asked by the employees, $7.50 for a 50-hour week.

A. C. F. MEETING HELD

The regular meeting of Branch St. Louis, A. C. F. was held last night at the Centralville Social club with President Henri Poirier in the chair. A feature of the evening was the installation of officers, those inducted into office being: Henri Poirier, representative to the executive council; Edmond Petoquin, president; Henry Collins, first vice president; Joseph Guilmette, second vice president; J. Arsenault, secretary-treasurer; Uderic Brunelle and Philippe Bostart, marshals; Armand Trudel, Godfroy Caron and Eudoviste Barette, auditors.

The installation of the recently elected officers of Branch St. Louis, A. C. F. took place last night at a regular meeting of the society held in Grafton hall. General Organizer Chas. E. Bazin of Worcester presided over the installation and the officers inducted into office were as follows:

The total amount raised and appropriated was $4,067.00.

A SAFE WAY TO STOP INDIGESTION

Without Fear of Weakening the Stomach—Works Fine in Any Case and Brings Relief in Ten Minutes

The greatest folly of today is to combat indigestion with weak stomachics which take artificial digesters to cure indigestion.

Artificial digesters—purgative pills, etc.—simply enervate a lax or tired out stomach, and it is not long before most of its work for it. This is due for a time but as every chronic dyspeptic knows, artificial digesters soon lose their effect. When one gets tired and the trick three or four are now required and the poor old stomach itself is worse off than ever.

Food must be strong enough to expand and contract with a sort of churning movement so as to mix its digestive juices with your food. If your stomach isn't strong enough to perform this duty, you are not on the right on having indigestion after every meal until you make it strong.

There is one stomach remedy that every dyspeptic can depend on as sure as that the sun will rise tomorrow, and that is the famous old M-I-O-N-A Stomach Tablets. Most stomach remedies let the stomach rest and digest the food for themselves. M-I-O-N-A Tablets do nothing but it will strengthen and stimulate the stomach and make it do its own digesting.

It stops stomach aching, belching, etc. in ten minutes and does still better by making the fatty, indurated and inactive stomach walls grow strong and elastic and again their own churning. M-I-O-N-A Tablets never lose their effect and unlike most artificial digesters need not be used forever. A few weeks' use is enough to enable you to get your stomach in fine shape and all leading druggists in Lowell and throughout sell it with that understanding, according to refund policy to anyone who does not get complete relief.

A Lowell Heating Expert's Statement in Regard to the Effect of Coke on Grates:

December 2, 1914.

Lowell Gas Light Co.

Dear Sirs:—You ask my opinion as to whether COKE will destroy grates in a heating plant, more quickly than coal?

I unhesitatingly say that neither COKE nor coal will ever destroy grates when properly used.

No grates can be warped or melted unless hot ashes are allowed to accumulate under them.

A clean ashpit preserves grates.

Very truly yours,

DEFERS TARIFF ORDER

SEN. SULLIVAN GETS DELAY—SENATE POSTPONES ACTION IN WALKER CASE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—In the Massachusetts senate yesterday consideration was postponed until Tuesday of the order requiring the commission on economy and efficiency to produce all papers in connection with its investigation of Fred F. Walker's administration of the department of animal industry's stamping out of the foot and mouth disease.

On motion of Senator Sullivan of Boston consideration was postponed to Tuesday of the resolutions asking for a revision of the tariff.

Senator Langelier had recommended the report of the committee on public service on appointment of clerks of courts pro tempore.

On motion of Senator Timothy the adverse report of a committee on the increase of salary of the justice of the Roxbury district court was tabled, and on motion of Senator Cavanaugh of Everett an adverse report on the increase of salaries of Middlesex county commissioners was also laid on the table.

Reimburses Cattle Owners
The committee on agriculture reported a resolution to appropriate $100,000 for reimbursing the owners of cattle and other property destroyed because of the foot and mouth disease, provided that in no case shall the compensation pay more than 50 per cent of the value of cattle or property so destroyed.

When this report was read Senator Bazelley of Uxbridge, chairman of the committee on ways and means, before which committee the resolution was in the ordinary course of legislative procedure. Immediately reported "ought to pass." He said his committee had already considered the bill.

Municipal Debt Bill Amendment
At the close of the session the following reports were filed:

Cities—Reference to next general court of the petition of Representative Frederick W. Burke for a Saturday

half-holiday for Lynn city laborers. Metropolitan Affairs—Reference to next general court of the petition of Chester L. Campbell for the construction of Furnace Brook parkway in Quincy and an appropriation of $60,000 therefor.

Municipal Finance—A bill to amend the law as to municipal indebtedness of cities by striking out the provision that after the limit has been fixed by ordinance it shall not be changed by a city council within one year and inserting a provision that the mayor and city council after notice of three weeks' advertising, and after a public hearing, may change such limit as in their discretion seems advisable.

FIVE OF HEARTS
The annual concert and dance under the auspices of the Five of Hearts took place at Associate hall last evening and the affair was largely attended. The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the color schemes and potted plants added to the general enjoyment. Minor's orchestra furnished music and vocal selections were given by James McNulty, William J. O'Donnell, Edward Rogers, Joseph Tobin, Miss Marion Kennedy and Miss Madeline Boland. The event was in charge of James F. Bourke and Joseph B. Moyle.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO
Continued

the old Sun of a performance of "Young Mrs. Winthrop" by the Matthews Dramatic club, 25 years ago. The cast was as follows:

Constance, "Young Mrs. Winthrop," Miss Mary Flanagan
Mrs. Dick Chetwick, a society lady, Miss Mary Mansfield
Edith Winthrop, Constance's blind sister, Miss Ida Marion Tripp
Mrs. Ruth Winthrop, Douglas's mother, Miss Mary A. Harrahan
Annette, a servant, Miss Theresa McHugh
Douglas Winthrop, a young capitalist, Mr. M. J. Mahoney
Barton Scott, a lawyer, Mr. William F. Thornton
Herbert Winthrop, brother to Douglas, Mr. J. J. Corcoran
Dr. Milbank, Mr. J. B. Coughlin

With the exception of Mr. Corcoran, the men who appeared in this cast of long ago, are still there with the goods, and are frequently heard from in dramatic performances. "Mike" Mahoney in his time has played many parts and can still make good. You've seen him in "The Littlest Girl" and other attractions. Did you ever hear Trumpet Commissioner Billy Thornton, give Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech, or "Paul Clifford"? If not, you've missed a treat. Did you ever hear him, on the sidewalk, after holding up a kid who was playing "hooky"? Put the fear of God into that youngster's heart! Great! There's where his dramatic ability comes in strongly. Then there's Jim Coughlin whose ability as a recitationist is well known throughout the city; and Jim is going yet.

A Stralight-Lured Firm

Says the old Sun:
"A local firm of wood-engravers are dead set against rum and tobacco. So after are they against the 'weed' and the 'bug-juice' that they refuse to engrave labels, letterheads or any other kind of work that people engaged in the liquor or tobacco business may order of them. More than one dealer has been almost knocked off his pins by this firm refusing to have anything to do with jobs offered by them."

The old Sun might also have added that this firm also refused to do any work on Saturday for they were consistent Seventh Day Adventists, and yet they continued in business with great success for many years until their line of work gave way to the more modern methods of photoengraving and the half-tone process. The firm referred to was that of Coggeshall & Piper, wood-engravers, who did business in the Central block. In those days the local job printing plant did much business with Coggeshall & Piper. Many times and oft a job requiring cuts would come in on a Friday night or Saturday morning with orders to have it out on Monday. Immediately a messenger would be despatched to Coggeshall & Piper's place to have a cut made only to find the place closed tight, for it was Saturday. Speaking of the aversion of the firm to doing any work for liquor or tobacco firms, a local job printer once "slipped an over" on them and they never forgave him for so doing. It seems that the Harvard Brewing company, then known as the Consumers' Brewery, was about to be opened for the first time, a few years less than quarter of a century ago, and at the last moment the job printer received a rush order for 1500 invitations to be printed with a monogram cut "C. B." at the head. It was too late to send to Boston, and the only way to get the job out on time was to have Coggeshall & Piper do it. Knowing the set rule of the firm relative to cuts for liquor concerns, the manager in sending a messenger with the order said nothing to the latter as to what "C. B." stood for. The messenger delivered his order for the rush monogram cut, and one of the firm upon taking the copy said to him: "Who is this for? What does 'C. B.' stand for?"

"I dunno," replied the youth. "Guess it's a hoolery job," for at that time the plant was doing considerable work for the Lawrence hoolery.

To the huge delight of the foreman, the cut came back on scheduled time and the invitations were delivered and sent out, and a few days later the newspapers had lengthy accounts of the opening of the Consumers' Brewery. A short time afterward, however, the job printer received a letter from the firm of Coggeshall & Piper, administering a Christian but very pointed cut-down, and announcing the fact that under the circumstances the firm would accept no money for the work done on the cut.

John I. Coggeshall, of the old firm of Coggeshall & Piper, is today Lowell's most prominent artist. He has a studio at Gloucester where he has painted many beautiful marine scenes, while all Lowell has admired the two big pictures from his brush that adorn the walls of The Sun office, "The Pawtucket Falls" and "The Mill of Mills." Mr. Joseph Piper, the other member of the firm, is connected with the Barr Engraving company and is interested in an invention of his own, a new kind of grate.

Smith Adams Starts Out

Just quarter of a century ago former Alderman Smith J. Adams decided that he would become a journalist and entered the employ of the old Sun as office boy. He is still in the paper business, but a long time ago he jumped to the Federal league, as it were, going from the newspaper to the wall-paper business, in which line he is at present engaged.

General Butler on The Deep Blue

Quarter of a century ago the late General Butler during the summer months entertained his friends aboard

his famous yacht, the "America," which originally brought the cup to this country, ever since known as the "America's Cup," and it is evident that the editor of the old Sun had been entertained to such an extent that the impression remained with him until deep into the winter, when in reminiscent mood during the month of February he penned the following lines:

"The owner of the 'America,' General Benjamin F. Butler, enjoys his famous yacht as well as possible. The general on board ship is a genial and wholehearted amateur tar, and once on the yacht he makes you feel at home. I have some Medford here, something over 50 years old; they say it's very good, won't you have some? is generally one of the first greetings he extends to his guests. Socially, especially aboard his yacht he is genial, hospitable, and kind. He loves yachting, says it does him good, and gives him much needed rest. Capt. Reed, who has been with him for many years says that he is one of the kindest-hearted men he ever knew. The general is not much of a believer in red tape and he has no use for 'dude' yachtsmen, as he calls them. The general's yachting season seldom lasts more than three months and he frequently has to leave his craft while on a cruise to attend to his legal business."

I can actually hear the smacking of the lips of some of my readers. Whether it was Colwell's from Newburyport or Lawrence's from Medford it must have been great at 50 years of age.

Why Is POSTUM Replacing Coffee!

People are waking up to the harmful effects of the powerful drug—caffeine—in coffee, which poisons the system, often resulting in nervousness, heart flutter, headache, biliousness and many other ills and discomforts.

The pure food-drink, Postum, is absolutely drug-free—made only of the choicest wheat and a bit of wholesome molasses. It contains no caffeine or other harmful elements.

If you doubt that coffee hurts you, a sure test is to leave it off for 10 days and use Postum. It's an easy change, too, for Postum tastes much like the mild, high-grade Javas. As the coffee-drug is eliminated from your system, your own feelings will suggest Postum and better health.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be boiled, 15c and 25c packages; Instant Postum—soluble form, made in the cup with hot water instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

the destiny of the "America" under General Butler's ownership was not a Lowell man but a product of the North End, in Boston. Before becoming sailing master of the "America" he was in the pilot service and was one of the best known pilots in New England.

The story of how General Butler came into possession of the "America" is quite interesting and is a typical Butler story. On the night of the Puritan-Genesta race for the America's Cup Sept. 14, 1885, a party of leading yachtsmen and newspaper writers were assembled in a cafe in New York discussing the race. In the course of the conversation the talk turned to the old "America" and an intimate friend of General Butler said to one of the newspapermen: "Do you know how Butler came into possession of the 'America'? 'No, of course, you don't for it has never been told. I had it from Butler himself. A man came into his office in Washington one day and said: 'My name is Lamar and I have a cotton claim against the government for $200,000. It's straight as a string and I need your help to collect.' Leave the papers and call to-morrow," said the general. Lamar was a relative of the secretary of the Interior (under Cleveland). He called the next day. "You have a clear case," said Butler. "I'll collect it for 20 per cent." That is 5 per cent, less than I expect to pay," said Lamar. "So I shall be liberal. I'll tell you what I'll do. I own a yacht which the government has seized. It's over at the navy yard. I can't get possession of it without a more expensive fight than it is worth. If you win this claim, I'll give you a bill of sale for that yacht in addition to 20 per cent." The claim was duly allowed; Lamar got a check for $200,000, Butler got $40,000 and a bill of sale for the yacht. It was in Secretary Robeson's time. Butler walked down to the secretary of the navy one day and said to Robeson: "You've got my boat and I want it. Robeson was nearly frantic. 'Look here, Butler,' he pleaded, 'there's already a heap of talk about my department, and if I let you have this boat, right or wrong, there'll be a horrible howl.' I want my boat," was Butler's exhortation to pay. A naval officer sat in the office and heard this talk. He finally got up and made signs for Butler to follow him out. When the general did so, the officer said: 'General, there is an easy way out of this. Buy the boat at auction. There is bid enough in the bottom to pay the purchase price. If you insist on having your property, they'll strip her of ballast. Besides if you buy her there can be no scandal.' Butler went back and informed Robeson that he was not in earnest in his demand but would bid on the boat when she was to be sold. Robeson had it put up and Butler bought it. Then the general had the curiosity to know how the bargain stood, and had the ballast weighed. There was $400 worth more than he had bid for her!"

USING OLD FUR PIECES

"I have a lot of scraps of fur I would like to utilize this winter," remarked Marjorie one cold, sparkling morning as she ran in to Marie with cheeks aglow and eyes sparkling. "The pieces are so small, however," she continued, "that I don't know as they are much good."

"Don't despair if there is not enough of the fur for scarf and muff trimmings," answered Marie. "Make a collarette to wear when it is not really necessary to carry a muff. If your pieces of pelt are short-haired make them into a fascinating looking collarette consisting of a tall band encircling the throat and rolling a trifle at the neck's nape but flaring into two rather wide points at the ears."

"Under the chin the band buttons inside of a scallop. A second button, also within a scallop, fastens the flat lower section which, being about three inches wide, fits smoothly about the neck and extends half way to the shoulders. To make this a pattern is not needed. First fashion a shell of stiff linen and, having accurately fitted it, use it as a model for the fur accessories."

"Less complicated is a quaint-looking collarette composed of a straight three-inch band snugly blind-fastened under the chin and built up in front of the ears, but running backward with a ruffle of side pleated fur. Still easier to make is an eighteen-inch by four-inch straight little scarf, one end of which having circled the throat, fastens under the chin under the other end, which falls daintily down the front of the figure almost to the waist line. "One of the prettiest of the collarettes consists of a band of ermine, fitted snugly to the base of the throat, but built up an inch higher with a strip of sealskin."

"Over that topmost band extends a tiny collar of ermine which points under either ear and also stops there. The lower edge of the ermine band is finished with rather long monkey fur, which falls about the shoulders, the back and the chest as a dark, irregular fringe. "Stunk, one of the most attractive and practical of the long-haired furs, makes a wonderfully fetching collarette when three strips of it are sewn upon a silk foundation. This, running high against the throat at the back, tapers very gradually from the sides and at front joins to make a point which would be sharp but for the irregular line given to it by the fluffy fur edging."

Worms Sap Children's Health

Mothers often wonder why their children are not rugged and hardy. In a vast number of cases the trouble is—Worms.

Signs of worms are: Indigestion, variable appetite, craving for sweets, nausea, vomiting, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly, eyes heavy and watery, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir, the 60 years time-tested Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, will expel the worms and restore the vim and vigor to your child. Good for adults also. Discovered by my father over 60 years ago. 35c, 50c and $1.00 at all dealers. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

ROACH WOULD NOT SELL

Lowell Man Turned Down Keady's Offer—Latter Going to Manchester—No Change in Circuit

The New England league will remain intact in 1915, Lowell and Manchester will both be in next season's circuit, Andrew Roach, president of the local club, announced that he would accept for another season at least in New England league baseball and refused to dispose of his holdings to Tom Keady, who stood ready to buy the Lowell franchise. Keady, after having turned down the Lowell proposition, made an offer for the Manchester club which was accepted by Fred Lake and Brewster Smith. In brief this is the business transacted yesterday by the New England league magnates in their session at the Quincy house, Boston.

Yesterday's meeting of the New England league was perhaps the most important session held since the organization's birth in 1901. For two hours before the magnates were called to order by President Tom Murnane, members of the league, club circuits, free-out and many other important developments ran riot through the lobby of the Quincy house which was crowded by those interested in New England league baseball.

Nobody seemed to know just what to expect. A feeling of deep uneasiness pervaded throughout the throng of baseball men. The club circuits were discussed as possible castoffs, while not a single owner of a franchise would commit himself in any way.

Finally, however, the meeting was called upstairs and for over three hours the magnates thrashed out the situation among themselves. The ultimate result was what has been prophesied in The Sun since the first talk of a Federal invasion and a merger with the Eastern association. The New England league will open its season in 1915 under exactly the same conditions that existed last season.

Keady Wanted Lowell Club
Although it was announced that Tom Keady had bought the Manchester club his offer was mostly tentative. If the former Hartford athletic club secured that his team will be allowed the use of Textile field next season there is no doubt but what he will take over the Manchester holdings.

Tom Keady was a much disappointed man when he found that he could not buy the Lowell club. He came to the meeting yesterday with that idea in mind.

"I am ready to make Mr. Roach an offer which I think will be accepted," Keady informed the writer. "I have always thought that Lowell was the best town along the New England circuit. The local owner, however, decided to remain in baseball for another season and Tom was forced to give over his intention of locating here."

If Keady is granted the privilege of the ball park in Manchester he should make a great man for the Queen City club as well as for the league itself. Mr. Keady's ability and qualifications are just what is needed to build up a circuit in the New England league now in its infancy.

With Keady at the helm in Manchester that city will surely experience a successful year in baseball.

Merger a Myth
The proposed merger between clubs of this league and the Eastern association proved to be nothing more than a myth. Jim Clarkson, owner of the Hartford club, who was reported to be the main backer of the merger proposition, did not put in an appearance at yesterday's meeting. Although there was some talk about such a deal, the magnates did not enter into any serious discussion of a merger with the Eastern association.

Magnates All Happy
When the long session of the owners was finally adjourned a far different looking body of men trooped down the stairs from the group who climbed the stairway to the league's executive chamber. With Louis Pieper in the lead, his face alight with his well known smile, the outcome of the meeting was a success without a word being spoken. The New England league was once more in harmony with itself.

Burkett and John O'Donnell seemed more than satisfied with the outcome of yesterday's meeting. In spite of the fact that Worcester is situated so as to be able to leap into the fold of the Eastern association should anything occur to mar the even tenor of this circuit's ways both Burkett and O'Donnell were highly elated at the manner in which the New England league uncertainty was laid at rest yesterday.

John Noonan did not smile but he took it that he, too, was happy. Dan couldn't afford to be any other way, for his franchise would not be worth the paper it is written on were any change to be made in the "little of league."

Hughie Duffy, Portland's wise man, did not "klick up" or show any great signs of exuberance but Hugh was tickled to death over the outcome of the session. In his quiet way Duffy told us that he wasn't worried a great deal previous to the meeting, yet he was highly pleased to see the situation develop over so smoothly and harmoniously. And Joe Burns, Duffy's brother Maine magnate, was just as well pleased as was Hugh.

1915 does not look like a very propitious year for baseball anywhere. The tremendous squabble going on between the Feds and organized ball has hurt the game to a big extent.

Next season will be a bad one for the minor league ball players. There were several players present yesterday who did not appear very well pleased with life. The reason for their sad faces was the amount which their 1915 contracts called for.

In spite of the bad times due to ball players and owners alike in all parts of the country the New England league may not be hit by the general hard times in baseball. Wrapped up in itself here in New England the league may go along to a very successful season with the salary limit reduced and the club owners paying due regard to the same there is no reason why New England league baseball shouldn't prosper next season.

Among those present at yesterday's meeting were: F. Roach, president of the Lowell circuit; Joseph Burns, owner of the Lewiston team; Louis Pieper, Lynn manager; Jesse Burkett and John O'Donnell, Worcester; Joseph Sullivan, Lawrence owner; Dan Noonan, Liverpool owner; Hugh Duffy, Portland; Fred Lake, Manchester; Jack Stafford, Portland; White and Tom Duffy, former New England league managers; Paul Howard, Lewiston outfielder; "Chippy" Gaw, Worcester pitcher; Jim Smith, formerly of Concord in N. E. L. now under contract with Chattanooga; John Kieran of Leominster, New Bedford; Walter Gaze, Portland; George last season; Arthur Irwin, formerly business manager, New York Americans; Billy Phoenix, Lewiston, second baseman; Billy Peters, Lawrence Eagle; Bob Partridge, Lowell Sun; Cecil Dodge, Lowell Sun; Mr. Carroll, Worcester; Post, Worcester; Worcester; Gaze, Portland; Hurley, Lynn owner; Mike Lynch, Lawrence Telegram; John Kevels, formerly with Lowell as a pitcher and later with the American league as umpire.

C. Y. M. L. SECONDS WON
There's no stopping the C. Y. M. L. second team. The local quintet of basket shooters tramped all over the Co. P. team of Lawrence last night when they won their 30th straight victory in the season by the score of 14-11. The team from down river was no match for the C. Y. M. L. boys. Flynn and Randall starred for the local team. The summary of last night's game follows:

C. Y. M. L. 2nd CO. P.
Flynn, 17; Randall, 13; Martin, 12; McLaughlin, 10; Maher, 8; Gaze, 7; Gaze, 6; Gaze, 5; Gaze, 4; Gaze, 3; Gaze, 2; Gaze, 1; Gaze, 0.

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB
The Sam Walter Foss club was entertained by Mrs. Charles Howard and Mrs. John Emerson, at the home of Mrs. Howard, 4 Barton avenue. The meeting took the form of a musicale and the following delightful program was given: Vocal solos, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Hopkins and Mr. Howard; violin solos, Mr. Daly; trio, Mrs. Spencer, Mr.

International League Notifies Players of Rule to Retrench

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A circular letter to every player in the International league notifying him that the league will not be made to pay the high salaries which most of the players draw last season has been sent out by President Edward F. Barrow.

The letter also notifies the players that the national commission has given permission to the league to extend the time for sending out contracts to March 1, his month of grace being granted on account of the unsettled condition of the league.

WHITE WAYS WON

Took Fast Game From Crescents—McMahons Defeated Desmonds

The White Ways defeated the Crescents last night by 26 runs in a well-fought game which was decided principally through the brilliant rolling of the bat by the White Ways. The three-straight total of 339 with a high single of 137.

The McMahon's took a very interesting interest from the Jersey in the game. The McMahon's were all in all that separated the two families of bowlers at the conclusion of the last season. The McMahon's were all in all that separated the two families of bowlers at the conclusion of the last season.

UPHOLD WILSON'S VETO OF IMMIGRATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—An attempt to pass the immigration bill, prescribing a literacy test for the admission of aliens over President Wilson's veto failed in the house yesterday, the affirmative vote lacking just five of the necessary two-thirds.

Of 339 members present, 261 voted to uphold the veto, 136 voted to sustain the president, and two answered "present."

How House Voted

To pass bill To sustain over veto	The veto
Democrats .....	102
Republicans .....	78
Progressives and Pro-Independent .....	2
Total .....	182

The final test came at the close of a day of earnest debate, in which party lines were temporarily obliterated. Majority leader Underwood made a vigorous speech, criticizing the president's reasons for vetoing the bill and urging the house to override executive disapproval.

Mr. Underwood told the house that the country had in several elections returned majorities in congress favoring the restriction of immigration, and that the president's contention that no political platform had placed the issue before the people was futile.

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, republican, urged the house to support the president and defeat the bill. He declared that immigration had had no effect on wages and working conditions in this country, and asserted that the restrictions imposed in the bill were contrary to fundamental principles upon which the forefathers based this republic.

ARBITRATION HEARINGS

PROF. FISHER OF YALE WOULD RAISE WAGES AS PRICES INCREASE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Prof. Irving Fisher, head of the department of economics at Yale, was on the stand all day yesterday in Chipman hall at the continued hearing by arbitrators in relation to the wage controversy between the Bay State Street Railway company and its employees.

Even if a street railway company was suffering under financial stress and it was necessary to discontinue certain trips and discharge a number of men to do it, the professor believed, the company should not hesitate to increase the wages of its employees to meet the new condition of things in relation to the cost of living.

He believed this railway would be entitled then to permission to increase its fares. "It should be a six-cent fare or a seven-cent fare, as the honest situation demands," he said. "The fluctuation of gold has done it all. As the thing is now, the value of the ounce of gold dances up and down, and everything—prices, wages, etc.—must dance with it."

"Well, there'd be something of a row started here when the company goes after an increase in the rate of fare," observed Asst. Gen. Swift, appearing for the company.

"But you can't secure any change in these days without a row," answered Prof. Fisher.

The witness was asked in relation to hours of labor, but answered that this matter must be determined largely by the character of the employment.

Prof. Fisher was questioned at length as to certain recent economic movements, one of which suggested that a person could get "three square meals" a day for 10 cents. This witness wouldn't go as far as this, however.

He said he believed generally that the working day is too long today both from the standpoint of the employer and the employee—and, in the case of

Young Man's Antecedents to Be Looked Up—Other Cases

A young man, giving his name as Thomas W. Farrell, who claims a residence in Newmarket, N. H., pleaded guilty before Judge Enright in police court this forenoon to a complaint charging him with the larceny of three pairs of shoes valued at $2.10 each from the Field-Lumber company, shoe manufacturers on West Adams street.

Farrell pleaded with the court for leniency. He said that he came to this city about four months ago and worked in one or two shoe shops about the city, but none of the work was permanent. Upon going to the lumber factory in search of work, he said, he was tempted to steal the shoes and while no one was watching him he picked up three pairs and succeeded in evading the watchmen on his way out. He claims that he was hard pressed for money and was attemping to dispose of the shoes when met by Detect. Maher and subsequently arrested.

Deputy Downey did not believe the defendant was representing himself correctly, however. He told the court that Farrell had been seen on the streets of the city at all hours of the night. At one time he was taken out of the Central block on the complaint of several tenants and held over night at the police station as a suspicious person. His case was continued one week for investigation, bail being fixed at $200.

Raised Ructions

Charles Hill was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Joseph Conidine in a Market street saloon, after climbing over the bar and threatening to beat the bartender who had refused to sell him a drink. Officer Conidine said he had trouble with the defendant a short time before his arrest, but allowed him his freedom on condition that he keep away from the barroom and go home. The court imposed a

A minister was one of the men acquitted. It was in evidence that from $3 to $5 had been paid for votes.

Two months' sentence to jail but the defendant promised to go to a mill town in Maine "where there is no beer to drink." On condition that he remain out of Lowell the sentence was suspended for six months.

Lawrence Charge

Charged with stealing an overcoat from the office of a Lawrence doctor, Edward McDonald of Fall River, was arrested in Merrimack square this forenoon while stepping from a Lawrence car. He was held at the local police station and later returned to the down river city where he will be arraigned in court very soon.

McDonald was somewhat surprised when apprehended by Sgt. Giroux and Patrolman Conidine as he did not believe the doctor would miss the coat until afternoon. However, the doctor immediately made the complaint to the Lawrence police who in turn notified Capt. Brown of the local station. Although no description was given of the man thought guilty he was believed to have taken a Lowell bound car and when McDonald descended from the front platform with a heavy ulster he was accosted by the officers and taken to the station.

HORN NOW IN JAIL

Dynamiter Begins His Sentence of 30 Days at Machias

YANKEEBORO, Me., Feb. 5.—Werner Horn, who claims to be a German officer, and in that capacity to have tried to blow up the International railroad bridge here was removed to Machias today to serve a sentence of 30 days for the damage which the explosion caused on this side of the border.

Deputy Sheriff George W. Ross and his prisoner aboard the train leaving for Bangor at 9:15 o'clock this morning. At Bangor after a wait of two hours, the trip will be continued on another line east to Machias where the party is due at 6:20 o'clock this evening.

The dynamiter, who has gained notoriety by what he calls his act of war against Great Britain, attracted little attention. A small crowd of men and women gathered at the station. The prisoner, unshackled, smiled and waved good-bye as the train drew away. The case is now pending as far as the state is concerned. The next move, it is expected, will be by the local authorities who are concerned with the application for the extradition of the dynamiter to Canada, where he is wanted to answer for the little damage which he did to the bridge by operating on that side of the boundary line.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT SUSPENDS PAYMENT PENDING INVESTIGATION OF HIS LOYALTY

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, announced in the house of commons yesterday that Sir Roger Casement's pension had been suspended, pending an investigation of allegations that he was disloyal.

Reports last November that Sir Roger, the leader of the separatist faction in Ireland, had gone to Berlin and conferred with the German imperial authorities caused a sensation in England. A despatch from Berlin which was attributed to the German foreign office said that it was Sir Roger's intention of opening negotiations between the German government and the anti-English party in Ireland.

EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS

LOWELL CLERGYMEN WILL ATTEND SESSION AT MONTREAL, QUE., JULY 13 TO 15

The Eucharistic congress for all Canada will be held in Montreal, Que., July 13, 14 and 15, according to the announcement of the Association of Priests-Adorers of Canada. The 3500 members of this association have arranged this in the nature of a national congress of their order, following the example of the Priests-Adorers of Italy, who held a congress in Rome in 1913.

His Eminence Cardinal Louis Nazaire Beign, one of the oldest members of the association of Priests-Adorers of Canada, has accepted the congress. His Grace Most Rev. Paul Bruchet, D. D., archbishop of Montreal, will be acting president.

It is expected that a large number of clergymen and laymen throughout the United States will attend the congress. A number of local clergymen will attend and it is possible that representatives of fraternal and church organizations will also be in attendance. Lowell was well represented at the last Eucharistic congress held in Montreal in 1910, for delegations of a score or more of societies had been sent to the Canadian metropolis.

Garde Frontenac of this city, a semi-military organization attended in a body and returned to Lowell with a rich banner of the Sacred Heart presented the organization by the archbishop of Montreal for being the only full organization attending the congress from the states.

SENATE PASSES THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL

Further dragging and development of Lynn harbor and Saugus river.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Only one brief speech was made in the Massachusetts senate yesterday when the woman suffrage question came up for debate, and at its conclusion the senate voted, 33 to 3, with one pair and two senators absent, in favor of a constitutional amendment to strike the word "male" from the qualifications demanded as a requisite for voting.

The amendment, which was adopted by both branches last year and which must be adopted by both again this year before it can be submitted to the voters, will likely to pass in the house as smoothly as it did yesterday in the upper branch. In fact there was an agreement early in the session that there should be no extended hearing before the committee on constitutional amendments, that the committee would report favorably and that both branches would adopt the amendment in order that the voters might have a chance to declare themselves at the first opportunity.

Unlike the scenes of previous years, only a small group of women were in the gallery to watch the proceedings. Senator Wells of Haverhill, a consistent opponent of woman suffrage, was the sole speaker, and he had prepared his remarks, in the course of which he declared 25 of the senators who would vote for the amendment yesterday would vote against it at the polls.

Says 25 Will Vote "No"

Senator Wells said in part: "I have carefully canvassed the entire membership of the senate. This question will probably be voted upon by 39 members, and when the result is announced let it be taken into consideration that irrespective of the number that vote 'No' here today, there are 25 members who intend to vote 'No' upon the question next November, and eight others who are in doubt as to what their vote will be."

"Therefore, let the suffragists' jubilation be somewhat dampened by that statement. By agreeing to this constitutional amendment at this time the senate on its part makes it possible for the people to pass on this matter by a four to one vote that will have the effect of a more or less permanent settlement of the entire question. That is what the majority of the members of this body desire to bring about, and not the actual granting of woman suffrage."

"Presumably, Mr. President, some doubt will be cast upon these figures and I shall not attempt to predicate the names of the senators so expressing themselves. I have those names, but I do not intend to give them out. Many of the senators might be willing, others might not be willing."

Sen. Marchand Votes "Yes"

"As they were obtained in confidence, in confidence they will be held. If my good suffrage friends desire an issue on the question of the veracity of these figures, let them make the most of it. Let me tell them that if my word is doubted, there is one member of this honorable body who will corroborate my statement."

As soon as the senator had finished the roll was called, a ye and nay vote being required on all constitutional amendments. Senator Wells, Senator Doyle of New Bedford and Senator Fay of Medford were the three to vote "No." Senator Ellis of Newton was paired with Senator Marchand of Lowell, the former voting "No" and the latter voting "Yes." Pres. Coolidge did not vote, and Senator Neal of Rockland was not recorded.

POLITICAL YEAR BILL FAILS

Committee Reports Against Change From January to December—Colateral Loan Inquiry Opposed

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—The following committee reports were received in the house yesterday afternoon or filed with the clerk after the close of the session.

Constitution Amendments—Leave to withdraw on the resolve to amend the constitution to make the political year begin in December rather than January. Representative P. J. Donaghue of Boston dissenting.

Harbors and Public Lands—Next general court on bills to provide for Further dragging and development of Lynn harbor and Saugus river. Legal Affairs—Leave to withdraw on a bill permitting police officers with the rank of sergeant, or a higher rank, to act as bail commissioners. Representative Caro of Chelsea dissenting.

Counties—A bill to give county commissioners greater power to borrow money on the credit of the county for laying out highways; a bill authorizing the county of Plymouth to borrow $10,000 for completing and furnishing the courthouse at Plymouth.

Metropolitan Affairs—A bill authorizing the Metropolitan park commission to spend $12,000 in providing additional bathing facilities at the Naumt bathhouse.

Education—A resolve providing for a report by the board of education relative to the use of text books in the public schools; leave to withdraw on a bill to increase from 11 to 16 years the age limit for compulsory school attendance; leave to withdraw on a bill to require cities to maintain their public schools at least 40 weeks in each year.

Agriculture—A bill to authorize the state nursery inspector and his deputies to inspect, and if necessary to destroy, treat or return fruit brought into the state suspected of being infected with injurious insects or plant diseases.

Rules—Ought not to be adopted on an order providing for an investigation of the affairs of the Collateral Loan company.

BIG VESSEL DAMAGED

ALL FREIGHT AND COAL THROWN OVERBOARD BEFORE STEAMER COULD BE FLOATED

ST. JOHN'S N. F., Feb. 5.—All the freight and most of the coal of the coaster steamer Prospero were thrown overboard before she could be floated from a submerged ledge upon which she had been forced by a great ice floe off the north coast of Newfoundland last week. Barely enough coal was left to carry the steamer to the nearest port, where she secured a new supply. The Prospero was forced to wait a favorable wind which drove her off the coast and has just arrived here. The vessel sustained considerable damage.

Ice is now coming from Greenland waters in great quantities, covering the Grand Banks and sweeping seaward towards the trans-Atlantic shipping track. Steamers arriving from British ports report icebergs and floes extending nearly 200 miles from the east coast of Newfoundland. Vessels will have more difficulty than usual in avoiding ice during the remainder of the winter and spring, because the taking over of the wireless stations for exclusive military and naval purposes will make it impossible to send out the customary warnings.

ORDER OF OWLS

A well attended meeting of Lowell members of Owls was held at their quarters in Elks hall. President J. E. MacCallum occupied the chair and a great deal of business was transacted. Many committees reported progress; for the concert and dance to be held at Associated hall, and the degree staff, on their whist party to be held at Elks hall. The sick committee reported very few brothers on the list and those were doing very well. President MacCallum appointed as the auditing committee for the year, Bros. Harrington, Moylan and Libby. Remarks were made by many of the members and the meeting closed with the usual invocation.

TO INVITE SUNDAY TO HUB

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO GO TO PHILADELPHIA—RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT MEETING

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—The Billy Sunday campaign committee of the Evangelical Alliance of Greater Boston, at a meeting in Tremont Temple yesterday afternoon, appointed the following committee to go to Philadelphia to invite Mr. Sunday to come to this city to conduct revival meetings: Rev. Cortland Myers chairman, Rev. A. Z. Conrad, Rev. George Luther Cary, William Shaw, Rev. Richard Wright, F. W. Wyman, W. H. H. Bryant, Rev. Ernest G. Guthrie, Rev. James Todd, Rev. Dillon Bronson, Wellington Phillips, Thomas Wood, George Louis Richards, Rev. Alfred Isaac, J. J. Arakelian, Albert H. Curtis, Arthur Merritt, George E. Briggs and Duncan MacPhee.

After some discussion, a resolution brought by Dr. Todd, to the effect the campaign committee send letters to the various churches in the evangelical denomination in Greater Boston asking their support in the proposed visit of Sunday to Boston, was adopted.

This letter will be sent out as soon as possible in order that the committee which is going to Philadelphia may have some information to present to Rev. Mr. Sunday about the number of churches which are in favor of his visit. No date has been fixed for the journey of the committee in Philadelphia. In the absence of Pres. Murlin, Dr. Todd presided at yesterday's meeting.

Billie's Employees

Middlesex Judge, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, held its regular weekly meeting in the Odd Fellows building last evening and transacted considerable routine business. A number of new members were also initiated.

Billie's Macchist Union

The Billie's Macchist union held a meeting in the union quarters in the Odd Fellows building last night and transacted a list of important business. Seven new members were admitted and several applications for membership were also received. Committee reports were accepted as read and a statement of communications from the various unions and from the American Federation of Labor were read and referred to the secretary for proper disposal. The secretary's report showed the union to be in excellent standing, both financially and numerically.

Painters Union, Local 39

At a meeting of Local 39, Painters union, held last night in Carpenter hall, it was voted to keep Business Agent James H. Doyle in the field until further notice. Mr. Doyle reported that his work among the nonunion master painters of the city had substantially demonstrated the fact that they were in favor of organized labor.

James Fleming, who underwent an operation at St. John's hospital recently, and other members who are on the sick list were reported to be getting along rapidly. Other business of a routine nature was transacted and the report of the financial secretary showed the union to be in good condition.

TOO MUCH RED TAPE BAD FOR THE NERVES

During the month of April in each year the assistant assessors by a house-to-house canvass prepare what is called an "assessed poll" list, and this list is supposed to contain the name of every male person who is 20 years of age and upwards who resided in the city or town on the preceding first day of April, and who was able to be assessed for a poll tax. In preparing this list the assistant assessors are not required to, nor do they use a rule, nor obtain the information from the persons whose names they place upon their lists. The canvassing being done during the hours of the day when the men are away on business, it is frequently necessary to secure the information from whoever happens to be at the house visited, and either the landlady, the house, the servant, the gardener, or other employee may be called upon for the desired list of names of male inhabitants, and in some cases the "assessed poll" list of the previous year may be used in preparing the list.

The result is that those who were assessed the previous year in all probability will be re-assessed if they are still living in the city, but it so happens that the names of many who have just reached the assessable age, and many who have taken up residence in the city prior to April 1st, and since the list of the previous year was prepared, are not secured.

This "assessed poll" list made in April is not printed until the following July or August, and the only notice ordinarily given to a person that his name appears on the list is in the form of a poll tax notice on or about August 1st. If he is assessed for a poll tax only, or such notice on about Sept. 1st, if he is assessed for other taxes in addition to the poll tax. After the "assessed poll" list is printed, and after the tax notices are sent out, any person whose name has been inadvertently omitted from the list must, in order to have his name placed on the list, comply with the "supplementary assessment" law. There is one exception to this requirement, i.e., that if the person whose name has been omitted was on the "assessed poll" list of the same city on April 1st of the previous year, he may have his name restored by making written application to the assessors.

Under this system, a person whose

NEW YEAR'S BILL MISSING BOYS RETURN

Lowell Delegations Will Attend Hearing at State House, Feb. 17

At the request of Rep. Henri Aebin, several local French American organizations have appointed delegates to represent their respective societies at the hearing on the New Year's bill which will be held at the state house in Boston on Feb. 17 at 10:30 a. m. and the societies that have not yet taken action on this matter, will do so at their next meeting.

The various delegations appointed so far are as follows:

C. M. A. C.: Joseph L. Lamoureux, Wilfrid Aebin and Arthur Giroux, Loyal Council, H. St. J. Mc. d'Amour, Henri J. Duprez, Joseph Lussier and Henry G. Mills.

Citizens-American club: Leo Houle, Normand Armand, Joseph Plante, Raphael Palardy and Joseph Provost.

Court St. Antoine, C. O. Y.: Onesime Tremblay, Alfred Guilford and Omer Lahaie.

The Pawtucketville Social club voted at its meeting last night to send a delegation and the matter of appointment was left in the hands of the president, Joseph Payette.

The Centralville Social club will take action at its next meeting, as will also Branch St. Andre, A. C. F., Branch Pawtucketville, A. C. F., Branch St. Joseph, A. C. F., Branch St. Marie, A. C. F., Council J. N. Jacques and Council Carillon, D. St. J. Bre, A. C., Court St. Louis, P. P., Union Samuel de Champlain, P. P., Union Garin Nationale Independant, Union St. Louis, A. C. F., Union St. Joseph and La Societe St. Jean Baptiste. It is expected that the delegation from Lowell at the hearing will number about 60.

GERMANS MAKE DESPERATE EFFORT TO REACH WARSAW

The British army estimates to which parliament will devote the first part of next week's session, give the number of effective men in the army, exclusive of those serving in India, at three million.

Hostilities against Serbia have been resumed by the Austrians, according to reports received at Geneva.

German Deny Claim

The German official announcement of today does not support the claim of the Russians of successes on the Warsaw front stating that their attacks were repulsed.

Furious Battle Near Warsaw

One of the most furious battles of the war is now at its height along the Russo-German frontier west of Warsaw. Large bodies of German troops have been brought up for field marshal Von Hindenburg's third desperate effort to batter a way through the Russian line. The attack is centered near the Polish village of Horlinow, around which for the last few days has been raging a battle that for intensity compares with the struggle in Flanders earlier in the war. Official statements make no mention of the extent of the losses, which, judging from the nature of the fighting, must be enormous.

84,000 Germans Attack Russians

A communication from the Russian war office today says that along a section of the front about six miles long the Germans brought up no less than 84,000 men supported by 100 batteries of artillery. In compact masses these troops were hurled against the Russian positions. The Petrograd statement asserts that these attacks were broken up and that the Russians, assuming the offensive in turn, captured

German trenches and occupied two villages.

Fierce Fighting in Carpathians

In the Carpathians the fighting is hardly less severe. The Petrograd war office admits that the Russians retreated in one section of this front, after fighting ten successive engagements with bayonets. Elsewhere Russian successes are claimed.

The action of the German admiralty in declaring within the war zone the waters surrounding England, Scotland and Ireland is supported enthusiastically by the German press.

ENGLAND STIRRED BY THE LATEST DEVELOPMENT OF NAVAL SITUATION

THE GERMAN SHIP THREAT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Germany's declaration of a naval zone around Great Britain and Ireland, including the English channel and the northern passage by the Shetland Islands, is considered here as one of the most serious developments of the war.

It is regarded as highly possible for one thing that it would hasten the moment begun by the Latin-American countries for a speedy conference of neutral states to devise means to reduce losses to neutral commerce to a minimum.

At first there were some intimations in administration circles that it might be the subject of a protest by the United States, but the official view developed that there was little or no ground for that and it was recalled that no protest was made when the North sea was strewn with mines.

Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland have repeatedly addressed the state department here to secure American backing for measures to relieve distress in their own commerce and the latest German proclamation is expected to cause a redoubled effort of all the neutrals for measures to protect themselves.

Counselor Lansing of the state department took Secretary Bryan's chair at the cabinet meeting today in the latter's absence.

Neither the state department nor the German embassy had received the Berlin admiralty statement and it was said at the German embassy that the Berlin foreign office probably would deliver copies to diplomatic representatives in Berlin and regard that notice as sufficient.

There is no precedent in dealing with this question because heretofore submarines have played no important part in warfare and all of the rules of international law are framed with special reference to ordinary ships.

While it was noted that the proclamation was directed against "enemy ships" and applied to neutral ships only when the attacks were meant for enemy's ships through suspicion or misuse of neutral flags, officials expressed grave concern over the implied threat to sink merchant vessels, probably without warning or taking of non-combatant passengers and crews.

The notice from the British government that it is contemplating retaliation against German trade though not formally, before the state department today has given rise to much expectation on the part of officials as to what the British have in mind. Although it has been denied that any official declaration that food supplies are contraband has been issued it is believed that the British notice forecasts the speedy issue of such a declaration.

State department officials indicated that the German proclamation was analogous in their minds to the strengthening of mines in the North sea and a similar announcement by Great Britain that neutral shipping might be impeded there.

Officials did not view the German proclamation as a threat to destroy neutral ships if found in the war zone, but as a warning that all ships entered there at their own risk.

The statement in the German proclamation that there is in existence a British order to its fleet permitting them to use neutral flags, may draw forth an inquiry from the United States, although Great Britain has in connection with recent submarine raids charged that neutral vessels were used as bases.

Unless a specific case of destruction of an American ship in the new war zone develops it was regarded as most unlikely that any protest would be made by the United States, although further inquiries as to the exact boundaries of the prohibited water areas are expected to be made.

After the cabinet meeting Mr. Lansing said no protest was being prepared. He refused to discuss whether one would be sent later. He indicated, however, that the question was fully covered by international law.

TRIPLE MURDER

Grandmother, Mother and Daughter Found With Heads Crushed

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 5.—A triple murder in which an entire family, consisting of grandmother, mother and daughter was wiped out was discovered today. The victims were in their beds with their heads crushed in a heavy machinist's hammer, smeared with blood and hair, was found on the floor in one of the rooms. The victims are Mrs. Lizzie Drake, 55, Mrs. Irene Spencer, 35, and Gertrude Spencer, 12.

Bones pushing the Drake, home and found the rear door open, entered and made the ghastly discovery. The bodies were in separate rooms and there was no evidence of a struggle.

PATROLMAN COMMENDED

LETTER FROM THE MAYOR COMMENDING POLICE OFFICER KIERMAN IS READ AT ROLL-CALLS

Redmond Welch, superintendent of police, is in receipt of a letter from Mayor Murphy commending his honor's appreciation of the apprehension by Police Officer Michael Kierman of John Hallsworth, John Contois and Leo H. Vinstroff, whom the officer arrested on the night of Jan. 25, while the trio were attempting to enter Colonel's headquarters. The following is a copy of the mayor's letter to the superintendent:

Dear Sir: I desire to publicly commend Patrolman Michael Kierman for the important arrest and conviction of three men who were found breaking and entering the building and store of one of our citizens on the morning of Jan. 25 last.

It is such an arrest as this and other arrests during the past few weeks which show the increased efficiency of your department. It is, therefore, with pleasure that I commend Patrolman Kierman particularly and the department as a whole. The vigilance of this officer and the close application and attention to detail merits the approval of all our citizens.

You will please read this letter at all roll-calls of your department. Respectfully yours, Dennis J. Murphy, Mayor and Commissioner of Public Safety.

HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT

OFFICERS FOR RIFLE CLUB ELECTED—ARTHUR C. MCCARTHY PRESIDENT

The officers of the High School regiment met yesterday to elect the officers of the rifle club, with the following result: Arthur C. McCarthy, president; Charles P. Foley, vice president; Sidney L. Perlman, treasurer; Raymond Mellen, secretary and Donald Pratt, captain. Major Kittredge has given the club the privilege of using the shooting gallery in the armory. The club intends to compete with other rifle clubs of New England.

TWO SMALL FIRES

Members of Hese's responded to a still alarm at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon for a slight fire in the cellar of a tenement at 25 West Adams street. The damage was confined to a bundle of rags which were used by men thawing out water pipes. The building is owned by the Higgins estate.

A pair of overalls, belonging to an employee of the city stables on Broadway, was found in a pile of rags this afternoon while being planned with gasoline at the city stables on Broadway. It is thought that a spark from the employee's pipe caused the fire. No damage was done except to overalls.

CARNEGIE'S DONATIONS IN 1914 $324,657,399

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Andrew Carnegie went on the witness stand today before the federal industrial relations commission and testified that up to the close of 1914 his donations totaled $24,657,399.

"The work still goes bravely on," said the iron master. "I am indeed a most fortunate man."

After Mr. Carnegie had settled himself in the witness chair and prepared to read his statement, which he had prepared in advance, he was asked what his business was.

"My business," he replied, "is to do all the good in the world that I can."

Mr. Carnegie's statement was in part as follows:

"I never bought or sold shares on the exchange; all my earnings were from manufacturing. If it were necessary for me to return to that calling I should not consider the problem of labor as at all different. On the contrary I enjoyed conference with our men. We had one rule, come what may: We would never think of running our works with new men. Able, sober, well-behaved men such as ours were not to be picked up on the streets and we wished no others. We were very particular in regard to drinking; first offense men were excluded 30 days, second offense 60 days, third offense we parted company."

Mr. Carnegie said he had had only one serious disaster with labor. This was at the time of the riot at Homestead, Pa. Mr. Carnegie was abroad at the time and when he heard of it wanted to return home but his partners requested him not to do so.

"Some of the men at the works," Mr. Carnegie said, "called me 'Kind master,' tell me what you want us to do and we will do it for you."

Wages were advanced 30 per cent. Mr. Carnegie said, after that incident. "As I told the great audience at Homestead on my first visit after the strike we shall one day all recognize capital, labor and business ability as a three-legged stool, each necessary for the other. Neither first, second nor third in rank, all equal."

Only once, Mr. Carnegie said, had he had experience with a determined effort to commit wrong on the part of labor. This was when men at the Edgar Thompson blast furnaces sent in a written demand for an immediate advance in wages with the alternative of leaving the furnaces unworked. Mr. Carnegie said that he left New York immediately upon receiving a telegram to this effect and reached the works the next morning.

Disgrace to Labor
He talked with the leaders, he said, all of them admitting that they had contracted to work at certain wages. "You have signed that treaty," Mr. Carnegie said he told the leader of the men, "and you can break it, but the grass will grow over these works before we will have such men in our employ. It will be heralded through the world as a disgrace to labor. You have your answer?"

"There was no strike. That is the best service I ever rendered to American labor. This was the first time I ever found labor ready to break a contract and it was the last."

Mr. Carnegie reiterated his belief, expressed in 1888, that "the man who dies thus rich dies disgraced."

Donations of $5,000,000

"My first act upon retiring from business," continued Mr. Carnegie, "was to give five million dollars to the workmen of the Carnegie Steel Co. as a parting gift, four millions for pensions to the men, and one million to maintain the libraries and halls I had built for them. I was greatly pleased when later the United States Steel Corporation saw fit to duplicate my gift, adding four millions more to the fund for pensions."

Since the Carnegie pension fund was founded by himself and the United States Steel Corporation retired employees of the corporation have received in pensions $1,575,000, Mr. Carnegie testified.

Carnegie Hero Fund

"The Hero fund which I was privileged to found," Mr. Carnegie continued, "has always interested me deeply, perhaps because the idea came to me through personal experience. Mr. Taylor, who was formerly superintendent of a coal mine near Pittsburgh, heard that an accident had occurred and immediately drove to the mine and called for volunteers to descend with him."

TWO DEAD, ONE DYING

FATAL AFFRAY OVER RELIGIOUS LECTURE—MARSHALL, TEX. MEN OBJECT TO ATTACKS ON CHURCH

MARSHALL, Texas, Feb. 5.—No hope was held yesterday for the life of John Copeland, bank cashier, shot Wednesday night in the hotel room of William Black of Bellaire, O., a lecturer, who with John Rogers of this city also was killed. George Ryan of this city is charged with killing Black and C. F. Hall, Black's companion, who registered from St. Paul, with killing Rogers and wounding Copeland.

The shooting occurred Wednesday night within two minutes after a committee of Marshall men, Copeland, Rogers and Ryan, called on Black with a request that he stop his lectures here, attacking the Roman Catholic church. His first lecture here Tuesday night caused great feeling.

At the post-mortem, the coroner found on Black's body, in addition to the four wounds which caused his death, the scars of seven old wounds apparently made by bullets.

Additional warrants were issued yesterday for Walter Verhalen and George Tier. The pistols carried by Black and by Rogers, who fell fatally wounded across the lecturer's body, are said to show that neither had been fired.

FIRST TRINITARIAN CHURCH

Women's Federation Holds Business Meeting—Excellent Supper and Fine Entertainment

At the business meeting of the Women's Federation of the First Trinitarian Congregational church yesterday afternoon it was voted to hold socials and suppers on the second Wednesday of the month. An excellent supper was served at 6.30 by a committee headed by Mrs. Nelson Hill and Mrs. Wiggins. There was a very delightful entertainment, too, consisting of a little skit, entitled "The Talent of the Sweet Family." The cast included: Mrs. Clarence Hoyt, "Ma Sweet"; Mrs. Lorenzo Ayer, "Armadillo Ann, prima donna"; Miss Susie Caldwell, "Betty Bellamy," the delicate one; Mrs. Bell-

Harrington Hall and Mrs. Eva Henderson, "Caroline Cordelia and Dorothy Delilah, the twins"; Miss Marie McPherson, "Elizabeth Eliza, dramatic recitationist"; Mrs. Bert McKinley, "Frances Pedory, the girl who had been in love"; Miss Irene Connelley, "Gloriana, Godabout, the giggler." The chorus rehearsal and trustees' meeting were held at the same time in other parts of the church.

LOWELL GRANGE DANCE

A delightful dancing party was held last evening in Lincoln hall under the auspices of Lowell Grange, 225. There was a large attendance, including delegations from granges in the suburban towns. Music for dancing was furnished by Neyman's orchestra.

The following officers had charge of the affair: General manager, Mrs. Jennie L. Abbott; floor director, Donald A. Blackmore; aides, Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Mary McDermott, Percy Knight, Fred Gilmore, Allen Bowen and Miss Winnie Farmer. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. Frances E. Drew, Mrs. Hallie E. Whitney, Mrs. Nellie Farnum, Mrs. Alice Donovan and Misses Ida and Minnie Samuels. Harry Sawyer was chairman of the refreshment committee, and he was assisted by Mrs. McRitchie and Mrs. Mooney.

KAISER'S ONLY DAUGHTER HEADS WORK OF RELIEF FOR ORPHANS

KAISER'S ONLY DAUGHTER AND HER BABY

The Duchess of Brunswick, who was Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of Kaiser Wilhelm, is heading the work for the relief and care of orphans caused by the war. Since the birth of her baby daughter last March the duchess was busy with the duties of young motherhood up to the time the war began. She was forced then to turn her attention from her own nursery to those of her royal father's people. As the war ran into full and winter the duchess gave much of her time to relief work. The picture shows her with her little child.

Florida Oranges and Grapefruit Ripened Under Nature's Smiles

Citrus fruits came first to Florida of all America—were the heritage of the State from its Spanish discoverers. In no part of the world have oranges and grapefruit attained the perfection they have reached in their adopted "Land of Flowers." The soil and sunshine—the ocean breezes and the summer showers—develop and ripen the fruit in Florida as nowhere else. Every Florida orange and grapefruit which ripens on the tree is filled with citric acid, which has been tempered, sweetened and enriched to a most delicious flavor. The progressive citrus fruit growers of Florida work together in a co-operative organization for the mutual protection of themselves and the consumers of oranges and grapefruit. This is known as the

FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

Bought in boxes on which the above mark is branded in red, Florida oranges and grapefruit will be found heavy with juice, delightfully sweet and delicately flavored. Only tree-ripened citrus fruits are good and wholesome—hence Exchange growers do not ship their crops to market until fully ripe. In season Florida Citrus Exchange fruit can be secured from most dealers—yours will get it for you if you insist.

There are many ways of serving oranges and grapefruit. They are both food and drink and may be used in confections and cookery. Booklet containing scores of recipes for the use of citrus fruits mailed for 4 cents in stamps. Address, Florida Citrus Exchange, 628 Citrus Bank Bldg., Tampa, Fla.

JAMES P. SPILLANE,
Chairman Banquet Committee.
(Marion)

The large assemblage gathered last evening in the rooms of the Young Men's Catholic Institute on Blackpole street to greet and honor their brother member, Frank P. McGilly, who has been recently elected president of the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust company, must have realized before the festivities came to a close that the young man whose energy, initiative and ambition have been so notably crowned, earned all the honor that has come his way by nobility of character and tireless enterprise. Men of statewide reputation and holding positions of high responsibility in political and financial circles were there, both from this city and Boston to add their personal tribute to those of the fathers of the immaculate conception, church, banking and business men of Lowell, life-long friends and companions and men who had worked with Mr. McGilly through many of the phases of his as yet brief but brilliant career.

The event was characterized not only by the large group of distinguished men, gathered to congratulate the young bank president, but by the spirit of friendliness, enthusiasm and cordiality that was manifested all during the evening. All who spoke declared their personal pride in Mr. McGilly and predicted still greater things for him in the near future. Besides the regular program there were several impromptu speeches, mostly by the prominent bank men present, many of whom had accompanied ex-Mayor Fitzgerald and Bank Commissioner Thorndike from Boston.

The Banquet

Shortly after 8 o'clock the various groups that were gathered informally in the rooms of the Y. M. C. I. were assembled and marched to their places to the strains of the orchestra. The hall had been decorated beautifully for the occasion with vari-colored streamers of bunting, flags and the national colors. Over 250 persons were present. At the head table sat James J. Spillane, P. McGilly, Charles E. Wiggin of Boston, Joseph R. Kennedy of Boston, Hon. John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, John C. Farrington, Frank P. McGilly, Augustus L. Thorndike of Boston, Representative John J. Gilbride, George M. Harrigan, Larkin T. Trull, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, John H. Shea, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. I., Rev. James J. McCarlin, O. M. I., Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. I. and Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O. M. I.

Many other distinguished guests were present, most of whom sat at the various tables at the head of the hall. The financial, professional, business and political life of Lowell was well represented.

John C. Farrington, Toastmaster

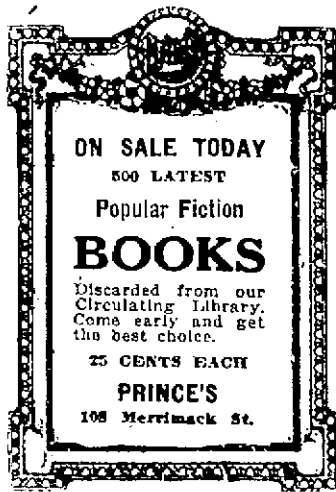

At the conclusion of the banquet proper, John Shea, president of the institute, introduced James J. Spillane, chairman of the evening, who in

ALL HER LIFE

But Miss Ayres Got a "Beautiful Complexion" at a Cost of Only $2.00

Nov. 23, 1914.—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. I used two jars of Resinol Ointment and some Resinol Soap, the total cost being only $2.00, and this completely cured my case. My skin is without a blemish and I am the possessor of a beautiful complexion." (Signed) Mabel Ayres, Stone Mountain, Va.

his city and our city. This is essentially a young man's night—for the young men of this society and the young man who is the centre of our honored guests on this occasion. We pay all due reverence and respect to age and stability, and long and tried experience—that goes without saying—but we will be pardoned, I know, if we turn for a brief space of these exercises to the glorification of youth; youth with its dreams, its hopes and aspirations, its bright promises of success to be achieved and accomplishments to be realized.

"I can wish Mr. McGilly nothing better than that the years to come shall bring a continuation of his growth in ability, character, and that true worth and uprightness which win the esteem of honest and discerning men, and win it because they deserve it."

We shall all watch the career of Mr. McGilly in his new sphere, but none will watch it with greater interest and affectionate concern than his boyhood friends of this society. We know him, as many know him in his general outside relations with the world; but we know him also as one of the Y. M. C. I., and we feel that some part at least of the training which has made him what he is, may be attributed to his early connection with this society. Now Y is for youth, enthusiastic, untroubled, hopeful, progressive youth; M is for manhood, masterful manhood, manly and modest; C is for character, courage, catholic, Christian character and chivalry; I is for integrity, industry, intelligence and independence. Little by little they are a host of good things, and collectively they stand for the ideal things of God-fearing, hopeful, intelligent, ambitious manhood.

The way to worthy and satisfying success opens attractively and with promise to our friend tonight. He has within him great possibilities for himself, and he also has imposed upon him serious duties and responsibilities, the faithful and intelligent discharge of which will bring great satisfaction to himself, joy and pleasure to his friends, and encouragement and in-

Your Shaving Comfort

Most men shave "on the run."
More time given to shaving, or in "getting ready," soon discloses many hitherto unrealized joys of shaving one's self.

Early morning shaving is considered best for the face, because the flesh and skin have had a chance to relax and get in a normal condition during the night.

The face should be carefully washed and wiped dry before the first lather is applied.

Work in the lather with the brush, or a rubber beard softener, and not the fingers. Then use the razor.

MITCHELL BUYS FOR SPOT CASH 965 PIECES OF WORSTEDS

The above cut represents the largest purchase ever made in New England or maybe in America by any tailor at one time. Nine Hundred and Sixty-Five Bolts of woollens requiring fifteen double horse team loads to convey to my sponging and examining plant. After careful examination they are distributed to my different stores, comprising 18 in all.

My Lowell Store, 31 to 35 Merrimack Square

Will show two hundred and fifty full pieces of this purchase today and tomorrow. You will see them piled up in my store. You can see whole bolts in my windows, with the original tickets, from the different mills. When I go out and dig up goods from Worsteds mills like SHIRREFFS, THE SINGLETON, THE PARAGON, THE PERSEVERANCE, and WANSKUK, and makes of equal celebrity, you should realize from the start that no concerns in America make better goods at any price. No cloth mills in America make better goods—a broad statement, but only fair to these makers and their reputations.

MY 6th ANNIVERSARY. At this time I wish to call attention to my sixth anniversary in Lowell, and my sixteenth in Boston. February 13th, 1899, I opened my first store in Boston at 305 Washington street, and 10 years later I opened my eighth store, in Lowell, February 13, 1909. In these sixteen years I have grown from a small tailoring business of $30,000 the first year, to close on a million and a half dollars last year, and I want the sixteenth year of Mitchell, the Tailor, to be the greatest in my history, with the prospects of better business conditions for the United States and AS AN OPTIMIST, I sincerely believe that better business conditions will prevail.

I start the spring season of 1915 with the greatest variety of woollens it has ever been my pleasure to show. If there is a trade offered in the city of Boston to a tailor, I am the first man it is shown to, and if I pass it, then the others get a chance—this on account of the volume of business I do, and my ready cash to purchase, which make it possible for me to handle any stock no matter how great its magnitude.

MR. READER! My ambition is to build this business to TWO MILLION DOLLARS YEARLY. In order to do this I must have your co-operation. Now I want you to try me this season. Come in, get samples, order a suit of Blue Serge or Black Clay Worsteds at a price of $12.50 or $15.00. If these are not the colorings you want, go through my stock and remember, if I take your order and this suit when finished, does not fit satisfactorily to you, a new suit will be made. This is written on your receipt.

LEST YOU FORGET—EASTER COMES EARLY—APRIL 4. If you are not in a hurry, order now and have it done the Saturday before Easter, or I can have it done in a week.

This week is Old Home Week—I want my old customers to drop in and renew their acquaintanceship with my store force, and myself. NEXT WEEK LOOK FOR MY ANNIVERSARY.

MITCHELL, The TAILOR 31 to 35 Merrimack Sq. LOWELL

FRANK P. MCGILLY HONORED

some of the problems now confronting the legislature, prefacing his remarks by paying a high tribute to Mr. McGilly. "We are all proud to be here," he said, "to honor a young man who has achieved something, who has won a high place in the business circle of his native city, who has established a standard—a man among men." He then spoke more specifically of the ideal on which the state is founded and touched lightly on many of the questions of the hour, as reflected in the legislature. In closing he expressed his personal hope and the hope of the institute that the guest of the evening would rise still higher in his chosen profession.

Hon. Dennis J. Murphy

Mayor Murphy spoke mostly in a humorous vein, saying in opening that it was not necessary for him to speak for the city as the city government spoke for itself in the presence of Commissioners Carmichael, Morse and Putnam. This, he said, was an indication of the esteem in which Mr. McGilly is held by the city government. He also referred to his own connection with Mr. McGilly's nursery in the banking business—the Lowell Trust company—as a worker and expressed regret that he had not continued. He closed by wishing the new bank president continued success.

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald

The popularity of ex-Mayor Fitzgerald was again strikingly demonstrated by the tumultuous applause that greeted him when he arose to speak. He spoke for the most part in a light vein and briefly as he had to hurry for his train, but in the course of his remarks he paid a very high compliment to Mr. McGilly who, he said, is highly regarded in Boston banking and political circles and whose ability and fine qualities are much admired. "I have known Frank McGilly for many years," he said, "and I have watched his work; it is my firm conviction that he will make good and instead of congratulating him, I congratulate the bank that has acquired his services." Mr. Fitzgerald then spoke of the opportunity that this age gives young men and, closed with a prediction of greater Lowell prosperity, following the development of the Merrimack river.

Commissioner Thorndike

Mr. McGilly's former superior, Hon. Augustus L. Thorndike, bank commissioner of Massachusetts was next called upon for a brief address. He said, in part: "I am proud and more than gratified to see that a Lowell banking institution has recognized efficiency. Frank McGilly has had an enviable opportunity to acquire a knowledge of the banking business and in him has been selected a young man who is well versed in conservative banking. I wish the Middlesex Safe Deposit company continued success, and I am proud of Frank McGilly."

Charles B. Wiggin

Charles B. Wiggin, vice president of Merchants National bank, Boston, made a brief but pithy address. In opening he said that he felt like congratulating many people, but especially the mother who sat at home, to whom the evening meant more than to anybody else. This he said he knew from personal experience. He also paid a high tribute to the guest of the evening and spoke of the debt which he owed to his father and all whose influence had shaped his early career.

Joseph P. Kennedy

Joseph P. Kennedy the youthful but able president of the Columbia Trust company, Boston, and son-in-law of ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, said only a few words but they carried force, conviction and great meaning. After referring humorously to his connection with Mr. Fitzgerald, he spoke of Mr. McGilly, as follows: "You are lucky today if you can call two or three men your friends. Few men deserve the title. Frank McGilly is on the level. He goes through with you. He will stick to a friend and will go down the line with you. You will make no mistake in aiding and supporting him."

Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe

In responding to the toast "The Church," Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, the pastor of the Immaculate Conception, said in part: "I might speak of the glories of the church and of its clear and true message to all who study it sincerely, but I shall refrain and content myself with merely referring to the influence of the church on the Catholic young man. "When a boy starts out the church places before him his duties and also emphasizes the absolute necessity for honesty, integrity and fair dealing. It teaches him in terms that he cannot misunderstand that to succeed he must be true to God, to his fellow man and to himself. I am proud that Frank McGilly has been a member of this church and has put its precepts in practice. I am also proud to say that he is a product of a Catholic school. We are proud as priests to honor one of our young men. May his success increase and may he ever be true to the principles of his church which stand for honesty, integrity and fair dealing."

George H. Harrigan

After extending congratulations to the guest of the evening, Mr. Harrigan said in part: "We are proud as priests to honor one of our young men. May his success increase and may he ever be true to the principles of his church which stand for honesty, integrity and fair dealing."

risen from poor circumstances to great wealth—we usually hear some young fellow say, "Oh, yes, when he started there were lots of chances but a fellow can't do that now."

This has been said during the past half century and fifty years from now it will be said about these times. This statement is generally made by some young man who is not awake to present-day conditions. To be poor is not an unmountable obstacle. On the contrary, it is oftentimes the greatest inheritance a young man can have, for it creates a stimulus, which, backed by ambition and hard work, finds the surest road to material success.

No man, business house or corporation, keeps a man down because he is poor. The demand for brains today is too great. A young man of push, capacity and honesty has such a field for his efforts as never before existed.

An editor of a western newspaper sent this question to the successful man of his city: "Why is it that not more of our young men succeed?" One reply was: "Because too many of them are looking for white shirt jobs"—plain talk right from the shoulder. Most young men want success but are not willing to work for it.

Many men are educated, bright and tenacious but lack decisiveness. In this busy heyday of life a decision must be made and the man who can train his mind to concentrate quickly and act decisively generally obtains the results, while the other fellow is thinking it over.

In an organization like yours, the best presiding officer is not necessarily the one who knows all the technical points of parliamentary law, but it is the one who decides all matters off-hand, when presented. Doesn't he always have the majority with him?

Work will make the stupid man bright, the bright man brilliant and the brilliant man steady. To the youth it brings hope, to the middle-aged confidence, and to the aged it brings repose, for whoever is satisfied with what he now does has reached his limit and he will progress no more.

Did you ever read Sir Thomas Lipton's recent for success? "Work hard, deal honestly, be enterprising, exercise careful judgment, and never despair, but keep pushing on." We are builders of our own characters. We have different positions, spheres, capacities, privileges and different work to do in the world but we are all alike in this, we are architects of fate. A man must have a starting point before he can fix the direction of his going. Have an ideal as well as an idea, and ideals should constantly be resolved into essential and practical things. Our ultimate ideal may forever keep beyond us but we must nevertheless pursue it, for as a great writer once said, "Ideals are like stars, you may not succeed in touching them with your hands; but, like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides and following them you reach your destiny."

"The heights by great men reached and kept Were not attained by sudden flight, But they, while their companions slept, Were toiling upward in the night."

Rev. James McCarlin

Rev. James McCarlin was called upon to respond to the toast, "The Y. M. C. I." and he did so with earnestness and eloquence, saying, in part: "To you, Young Men's Catholic Institute, fostering parent of Christian youth, we pledge undying love and loyalty. Tonight we pay a fitting tribute to one of our members and through him to this great society which through 25 years in existence is today fresh, young and vigorous. Casting a retrospective glance backwards, what an inspiring spectacle greets us! How many storied years have passed with their sacred memories! Here hangs our banner soiled with the storms of 25 years, but suggestive of the storm and sunshine through which it and the society have passed. Here on the banner is the motto which has symbolized the success that has attended all true members of the institute: 'God and Our Neighbor.'"

Fr. McCarlin then branched out into a lofty idealistic interpretation of the motto which advises the giving unto Caesar of the things that are Caesar's and the giving unto God of the things that are God's. He urged obedience to God and to country as being the summary of the church's teaching, and dwelt eloquently on the justice of American institutions. He also paid a touching tribute to the memory of Fr. Joyce and to the other priests who have directed the Y. M. C. I. since its institution.

Silver Loving Cup

At this point Fr. McCarlin turned to Mr. McGilly and in well chosen words presented him with a splendid silver loving cup in the name of the society. The ebony base, he said, symbolized the struggles of the recipient, and the three pillars that supported the cup symbolized obedience to God, obedience to country and personal integrity. Finally, he said, that into the silver cup which stood for worth of character, the institute members had poured the gold of the wishes and prayers and their heart's best love.

President McGilly

Frank P. McGilly, the young man who was so signally honored, was visibly affected, on responding, but he mastered his feelings and spoke as follows: Webster says the meaning of the word friend is one joined to another by affection and mutual good will and esteem; a well wisher; but to me the word friend means a bank of credit on which we can draw supplies of confidence, counsel, sympathy, help and love. I do not think you would be honoring me this evening were it not for my friends; and were it not for my having such friends, I know that I would not have been able on Wednesday evening, January 20th, to go home and tell my mother that I had accomplished my ambition and that I was a bank president in my native city. If anyone should say to you that I was a fairly smart fellow and got this on my merit, tell him that you heard me say in the Y. M. C. I. hall on February 4th that it was my friends who put me where I am. To prove to you that I feel what I say, let me relate, if you will pardon an attempt at a synopsis of my life. I was born in a small town in New England. To my dear mother and kind father, I owe everything. They sent me at an early age to the Immaculate Conception church where I learned the commandments and other good teachings from the good fathers, and above all to be honest and love God, and my neighbor as myself. To the dear teachers of the Immaculate Conception school, I owe very much for entering the banking world. He labored hard in my behalf teaching me the fundamental principles of mathematics, which are very essential in the banking business. To the faculty of the Lowell High school, which I entered after graduating from the Immaculate Conception school, I owe another debt of gratitude, for they also were very kind to me. To my dear uncle, now dead, I owe much for his counsel and advice. Before entering the banking world, he called me to one side and said, "There is just one thing I want you to do in business. Keep your eyes and ears open, and your mouth shut." Were it not for this advice, perhaps you would have known of my election before it was officially announced. To the officers and directors of the Lowell Trust company and the officers and trustees of the Washington Savings bank, I owe the opportunity for starting in banking business. To His Honor the ex-Mayor of Lowell, Mr. Fitzgerald, who is still mayor of Boston to his friends, together with another kind friend whose name I touch modestly to himself, I will not divulge, in conjunction with Hon. John W. Weeks and Hon. William T. Dwyer, who was then senate chairman of the committee on railroads I owe my heartfelt thanks for endorsing my nomination for a position under Bank Commissioner Chapin. Very kind to me, although he resigned shortly after my going into his department to become vice president of the American Trust company, Boston, and was succeeded by Hon. Augustus L. Thorndike, under whom I had the pleasure of serving for three years, and who has just been reappointed by His Excellency the Governor for another term of three years. I owe a great deal to Mr. Thorndike and to the members of his department for banking men of Massachusetts and other states know that an opportunity to become a part of the banking department has for many years been recognized as an education and finishing school for the banking business. Were it not for my experience there, perhaps I would not have been able to place my case before Col. Percy Parker, who before August 1st of last year hardly knew of my existence. I want to say right now that to Col. Percy Parker I owe the opportunity of becoming bank president. It is with great regret I note that he is not here for I want my friends to know him as I have known him, one of the fairest and squarest men that I have ever been called south to attend a meeting of stockholders of a corporation in which he has a large financial interest. To Mr. Larkin T. Threl, vice president, and Charles L. Knapp, secretary and treasurer of the bank, I owe much for the last two years and for the opportunity of meeting some of the directors of the institution. On the board of directors I met some of my old friends. Mr. E. B. Conant, I knew when I was in High school, as I attended for him at the Vesper Country club. Mr. Putnam was instrumental in helping me to obtain a position in my early life. Mr. Kelley and Mr. McQuade I have known from childhood. It has been my pleasure to have been associated with Mr. Knapp since the sinking fund commission for the last two years and our association there started a strong affection between us. To this institution I owe a great deal. Your kindness in honoring me tonight I know is greatly appreciated by my family and, it always has been a pleasure to come back here at least once a year, especially on Christmas afternoon and receive my knickknacks from the Christmas tree. I sincerely hope and pray that I shall live to come back here from time to time and render an account of my stewardship. It is with sincere pleasure that I thank you for my family and myself for honoring me tonight. The musical program included selections by McMahon's orchestra, solos by James E. Donnelly, Frank McCarron, Andrew Doyle, William L. Gookin and Edward P. Shea, and recitations by James E. Donnelly and William Marren. The singing of "America," by all present brought the memorable affair to a close.

THE SHIP PURCHASE BILL

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ARE CONSIDERING NEW LINES OF ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Democratic leaders in the senate in a further effort to save the administration ship purchase bill were today considering new lines of action. Outnumbered by the opposition the majority leaders yesterday failed to carry out their plan to commit the bill with instructions for amendment.

The new plan under consideration is to recommend the bill without instructions as to how to bring it up again on a motion to discharge the committee if it failed to return the measure with amendments recommended by the caucuses. Some of the leaders favor this plan if assured of enough votes to carry it.

Meantime the democratic leaders are waiting for the return here next week

To Celebrate My Fifth Birthday I Take a Shot at High Prices

My rise in the tailoring business is probably the most phenomenal ever known in this country. Five years ago this month I opened my first store in Schenectady, New York, on a limited capital and with probably my energy and ambition to carry me along. From the very outset this store achieved great success. It was the beginning of the Tom Wilson chain of tailoring stores, of which there are now fourteen in the East and Middle West. Through these stores I have assumed a buying point second to no other tailoring concern in America. I am able to use quantities of woolsens that probably no other tailor could handle and I buy at virtually my own prices. Year after year I have sought to increase the efficiency of my workshops and to reduce the cost of production by increasing the volume of business. I believe my cost of making a suit or overcoat will average twenty to thirty per cent. less than any other dealer, with the result that I am able to offer you an unrestricted choice of all suitings and overcoatings in my immense stock at $8.50, made to measure any style you desire.

SPECIAL NOTICE

In this sale, which I commence today to celebrate my fifth anniversary in business, I offer nearly one thousand different styles of suitings and overcoatings from the best known mills of the country. Included are plain and fancy serges, chevots, tweeds, cassimeres, melton and kersey overcoatings, and fancy plaid back materials.

These will be all cut and made in my usual manner and guaranteed for wear, workmanship and fit.

SMILE AND WIN THE WORLD

What is more infectious than a woman's smile which emanates directly from the heart and shines from the eyes? The whole souled kind of a smile, not the made to order variety. Smiles, dimples and blushes go a long way to enhance a face, whether fair or plain. The old saying is that dimples and blushes go together, but old sayings are not always true. Blushing is largely a matter of practice and a result of a good healthy skin. The woman who lets her skin grow dull and thick, with hardened muscles and the corners of her mouth sagging, will never find herself blushing; while the girl who looks well to her complexion and her general health will find the rosy blushes come easily. Cultivate smiles, for these keep the lines softened and help to hide old age. Habitual pouting enlarges and coarsens the underlip, and all the unconscious tricks of facial expressions increase and deepen the lines. In positive malformations, of course, a surgeon should be consulted, but the slight defects can be largely relieved at home. Stand before a mirror and "try on" pleasant expressions just as you would

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT DANDERINE

Girls! Girls! Save your hair! Make it grow luxuriant and beautiful.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you can not have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots (anist) loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scruffy or loosely, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made. We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually why not now?

a new hat. Try and try again, always looking in the glass. Strive to attain a smile that shows your teeth, for the whiteness of them will lend brightness to an otherwise dull face. Laugh as much as you can. Better have a few tiny wrinkles about the eyes that massage will eliminate, than to go about with a pouting face and sagging mouth. And when you smile, don't do it in an absent-minded manner. It is one of woman's greatest and strongest attractions—that of a pleasant smile. Look at the persons your smile at. Stand in front of the glass and practice it until you get just the right smile that will show two rows of glistening teeth, and you will have gone far toward helping your personal appearance.

BILL GAINS $4,489,300

RIVERS AND HARBORS APPROPRIATIONS REPORTED TO THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—With an increase of $4,489,300 over the bill as it passed the house, the senate commerce committee yesterday reported the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, carrying a total of $38,627,880. Senator Fletcher announced that he hoped to call the bill up as soon as possible.

Items added included $77,000 for the inland waterway between Rehoboth Bay and Delaware Bay, Del., and $30,000 for maintenance of the ship canal connecting the waters of the Great Lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo.

Senator Burton purposes to fight the bill as he did at the last session, if it is reached before adjournment.

JOHN OWENS DROPS DEAD

Haverhill Box Manufacturer Had Year of Ill-Luck—Factories Burned

Haverhill, Feb. 5.—John Owens, a pioneer box manufacturer, died suddenly of heart disease at his home on Lawrence street last night. He was stricken while reading the evening paper and expired before any of his family could give him aid. He was born in Charlestown, N. E. L., 65 years ago.

His death ended a run of bad luck that had lasted a year. Mr. Owens had a large box factory at Lynn up to a few years ago, when it was destroyed by fire. He removed here and his business prospered so that he sought to enlarge his factory, but the city government refused permission because of the proximity of a school.

Starting a plant in Newton, N. H., Mr. Owens was making money again, when the factory was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago.

He came to Haverhill 40 years ago and for about 35 years had been engaged in the boxmaking industry, which developed along with the shoe industry of Haverhill and Lynn. He was a member of Haverhill council, K. of C. His wife, three sons and a daughter survive him.

How to Destroy Catarrh Germs and End Catarrh Forever

A Specialist's Advice

Catarrh is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgment there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop. The trouble with most treatments, like sprays, salves, ointments, greasy balsams, lotions, etc., is that they give only temporary relief by opening up for a while the clogged head, throat and nostrils. In a little time the Catarrh comes back as bad as ever.

People who suffer continually from catarrh should drug such temporary makeshifts and get something that really gets at the root of the disease and stamps it out. There is nothing better for such cases than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing, healing, germ destroying, air of Ilyonol (pronounced High-on-ol) made from purest oil of eucalyptus and combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ destroying ingredients. Ilyonol penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages, and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh of the nose and throat, Ilyonol reaches them. Good druggists in Lowell and vicinity have long sold Ilyonol on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays. Most druggists are now giving a pocket inhaler made from hard rubber with every complete treatment sold. This makes a very simple, easy and convenient as well as a thoroughly reliable means of treating by the best proven method this dangerous and often disgusting disease.

SPEAKER CLARK AGAIN

DEMOCRATS UNANIMOUSLY NOMINATE HIM TO SUCCEED HIMSELF—OTHER ELECTIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Democrats elected to the house in the 64th congress last night unanimously nominated Speaker Clark to succeed himself and chose Claude Kitchin of North Carolina to become chairman of the ways and means committee and majority floor leader when Mr. Underwood goes to the senate. Enthusiastic applause greeted the elections, both of which were by acclamation. The speaker and Mr. Kitchin responded with speeches urging democratic harmony.

The caucus named all of the re-elected members of the ways and means committee and chose the following to fill vacancies: Crisp of Georgia, Oldfield of Arkansas, Casey of Pennsylvania, Allen of Ohio, McCullough of Maine, Holvering of Kansas.

The makeup of the committee follows the usual plan of having the democratic representation on the committee equally divided between the north and south.

Clerk South Trimble of Kentucky, Sergeant-at-Arms Robert B. Gordon of Ohio, Doorkeeper Joseph L. Sinsott of Virginia, Chaplain Henry N. Couden and Postmaster William M. Dunbar were nominated for reelection without opposition.

Notes of the Town's Activities— The Mills Busy—Social Events Planned

The town meeting which kept excitement at fever heat the last two months in North Chelmsford is now a thing of the past and there is a sense of satisfaction being expressed in the manner in which most of the rather bulky appropriations were cut down. It is now to be hoped that the town officials will use every means within their power to try and live within the amount appropriated. The Sun reporter on his weekly visit to the village found the men talking over the election results and the majority seemed to be much pleased at the turn of events. The cut-down in the salary of the superintendent of schools was about the only thing that was wholly unlooked for, but as the majority of the voters deemed it fitting, the politicians are saying nothing. The superintendent was last year given a raise of $200 without the consent of the voters and at the town meeting held in Chelmsford Centre Monday he was cut down $100. However, it may be possible that the school committee will keep the salary of Mr. Martin at the same figure, and obtain the necessary appropriation from some other source, but the majority believe that the board will carry out the will of the people and live within the appropriation of $1500.

The closeness in the school board fight was also much talked about. William H. Hall was re-elected by the majority of four votes, defeating Franklin E. Johnson, a former member of the Lowell school board. The lucky candidate can, however, attribute his success at the polls to the voters of the North village, who turned out in large numbers for him. Mr. Johnson did no campaign work for the office.

The affair gives promise of being a brilliant success. Dances to the strains of the orchestra will follow the entertainment each evening. Rev. E. C. Mitchell is at the head of the affair, and he is assisted by a very hard working and energetic committee.

Old Folks' Night

A concert for the entertainment of the old folks will be given in the town hall tonight. The proceeds to go to the Congregational church fund, and a good evening's entertainment is assured all who attend.

Personal

Reginald McAdoo, a prominent member of the orchestra, is confined to his home in Church street with appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bonest welcomed a little girl at their home in the old Tyngham road at the first of the week.

James Murphy, the village barber, was a most interested spectator at the town meeting held in the Centre village the first of the week.

The new store being erected by Mrs. J. Marinel will do much toward adding to the attractiveness of the center.

James Dunnigan and D. Frank Small were very active at the town meeting and were leaders in the fight for economy in the various departments.

Dr. Varney, the well known and esteemed physician, besides being interested in caring for the sick, is also very much taken up with town politics as was evidenced at the town meeting Monday.

LATE WAR NEWS

to bottle up the British Isles by means of submarines as a "paper blockade."

England is stirred today by this latest development in the marine situation as she seldom has been since the outbreak of hostilities.

The press unanimously substantiated all other war news, not excepting the Turkish attempt to cross the Suez canal, to give prominence to the despatch from Berlin while the foreign office statement following quickly the publication of the German decree, indicates that the government authorities take the German threat as one requiring a counter stroke promptly. As the statement says, the authorities are considering more stringent measures against German trade. The ministers are treating the subject as of particular urgency and a full official statement as to the attitude of Great Britain should be forthcoming shortly.

German Press Rejoices

The German press in the meantime hails this newly announced policy of the navy with great satisfaction. The comments received in London today indicate that the newspapers consider the sailing of the German decree, indicating that the waters surrounding the British Isles are to be considered a military area after Feb. 15 and that ships attempting passage outside of the channels specified do so at their own risk.

Some English newspapers declare today that the German announcement, with regard to the closing of the Suez canal, is rightly entitled the British government to declare contraband all foodstuffs destined for Germany.

Operations in Egypt

Aside from confirmation of the report that no fewer than 12,000 Turkish troops comprise the expedition which has attacked the Suez canal, little news has been received in London relative to the operations in Egypt. That the attempt to even greater force to cross the canal will be renewed, however, is the general belief.

30,000 GERMANS ATTACK RUSS- IANS ALONG THE VISTULA

PETROGRAD, Feb. 5.—The official report of the Russian general staff given out in this city today relates that the forces of Emperor Nicholas have retaken some of their most important positions in the Carpathians. The troops opposed to the Russians in these positions are strong numerically and they are fighting with energy.

Near Borjino in Russian Poland, the desperate and stubborn fighting which has been going on for several days is not yet at an end. The Russian claim progress, but mention no decisive outcome. The Germans, according to the Russian report brought seven divisions into a front six miles wide. Seven divisions totals about 80,000 men.

The text follows: we are making progress by fighting our way along both banks of the River Scheschuppe in the vicinity of LasDepen to the east of Tilsit.

On the left bank of the River Vistula the fighting between Borjino and Wola Szalwicka has continued with extraordinary ferocity. The enemy has brought into the engagement great masses of men. In the endeavor to penetrate our front the Germans have here introduced into a sector of ten versts (about six miles) no fewer than seven divisions supported by 100 batteries of artillery.

Two Thousand Captured

In the Carpathians the fighting continues along the front which is between Pukla and the River Wiszlow. We advanced at a point near Swidzisk in the valley of the River Labortch, moving in the direction of the town. We took 2000 prisoners and 10 machine guns.

Repulsed With Heavy Losses

At Mount Tunkhala and at Mount Boshik our troops during the last few days have been confronting the enemy with a desperate resistance. They accepted no less than ten engagements on Feb. 3 we resolved to withdraw our soldiers from the mountain positions to other positions previously selected and organized by us. The offensive strength of the enemy in this vicinity is very considerable.

Offensive operations of the enemy in the vicinity of Mount Wassyk have been repulsed with the infliction of heavy losses.

Austrian forces, despatches say, have attacked the Russian left flank at Jacoben in southern Bukovina, forcing the Russians to retreat toward Radautz.

It also is stated that an Austrian advance guard has been annihilated in Czechoslovakia.

SWEDISH CONG. CHURCH

A delightful musical event was conducted by the members of the Swedish Congregational church last evening, the occasion being the presence of a noted violin artist John E. Ost, who is now making his first tour of America, and who won the first prize for folk lore violinists in Stockholm in 1910.

Mr. Ost makes a specialty of reviving old songs and included in his repertoire are selections, which are between 300 and 400 years old.

Mr. Ost delighted his audience with several of these numbers and his playing aroused much enthusiasm among the older persons in the audience, many of whom had heard them hummed and played in childhood. At the conclusion of the artist's playing, the gathering was addressed by Rev. Oscar Lindgren, superintendent of the mission in Boston.

part of the pirate chief, is dainty and most effective, while the 10 other young women sing and dance effectively. Sammy Wren, in the part of the scullery boy, is full of whimsical fun. Nonette, the singing violinist, is talented in two ways. As a violinist she draws a splendid bow, and as a singer she gives positive evidences of good training. Eddie Carr & Co. in their portrayal of the music and dancing, hold down a bright spot on the bill. Carr himself is very funny and a good dancer. Joe Toy Bros., pantomime comedians, are among the week's best performers. Other acts on the bill are Mack & Williams, the Dohertys, George C. Dray and the Heist-Selig News Pictorial. Good seats for remaining performances may be obtained at the box office. Phone 28.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The last opportunity where local theatre goes will have of witnessing that splendid play, "The Final Settlement" which the Merrimack Square theatre is so capably presenting this week is rapidly drawing to a close and those who haven't already witnessed the play had best do so for they'll surely regret it afterward if they don't. Sharon A. McNary and Marion Cross are covering the play with glory by their excellent interpretations of their respective roles. The others are also worthy of commendation while special and elaborate stage settings also enhance the play's attractiveness.

Next week, a sensation in four acts entitled "The Refractor" will be the offering by the company. This remarkable play is from the pen of H. J. Legere and has to do with social and political questions of the present day. The play treats the question in a frank and daring manner, and in cities in which it has been given so far has never failed to arouse intense interest. Seats for performances are now on sale.

THE OWL THEATRE

"Life's Shop Window," the great novel, will be seen in pictures on Monday and Tuesday at the Owl, Victoria Cross. The author, here consented to have this play filmed, because of its great popularity, and a fine production.

MIDDLESEX SOCIAL CLUB

WHIST TOURNAMENT ENJOYED AT THE QUARTERS ON MIDDLESEX STREET.

A delightful social was enjoyed at the Middlesex Social club in Middlesex street last evening, the occasion being a whist tournament between the members of this organization and those of the Broadway Social and Athletic club. The program included a game of whist followed by a musical program and the serving of refreshments.

The affair was in charge of President William Murphy of the Middlesex Social club, who welcomed the guests in a short address. Twenty-four deals were played and at the close of the tournament the score stood: Middlesex Social club, 335; Broadway Social club, 294, giving the entertainers a 42-point victory. In the first encounter on Jan. 21, the Broadway aggregation scored a 15-point win. The third and final match will be held within a few weeks.

At the close of the whist a musical program was carried out, those taking part being: Highland orchestra, A. Olinson, W. Carr, G. Keeney, W. Brown and B. Rogers of the Manhattan club; W. McGookin, J. Kane, Patrick McCann, H. Smith, Representative Dennis A. Murphy of the Broadway club, and F. Gregoire, W. Murphy, J. Edgar, H. Landry, L. Lord and Adelaire Berard of the Middlesex club.

The committee in charge of the tournament is as follows: Chairman, Herbert H. Edgar; Thomas Jones, Geo. Brenette, Adelaire Berard and Fred Tucker. Officers of the Middlesex Social club for the 1915 term are: President, William Murphy; vice president, Joseph Rolinger; treasurer, Louis Lord; financial secretary, Russell Swann; recording secretary, Herbert H. Edgar; sergeant-at-arms, Emilio Dyon, and board of trustees, L. Landry, A. Jacques and H. Campbell.

WHAT SCIATICA IS

There is something terrifying about the word sciatica. Yet sciatica is nothing but neuralgia of the sciatic nerve and neuralgia is an inflammation caused by lack of nourishment.

Application of dry heat as hot sand bags or flannel to the course of the inflamed nerve often quiets the pain but it does not feed the nerve. It is temporary relief, a good thing to know about, but not a remedy.

What causes the nerve starvation that results in neuralgia and sciatica and how may it be corrected?

The most common cause is a run-down physical system and a frequent exciting cause is exposure to cold. Thin blood is often at fault. It is through the blood that the nerves get their nourishment. Mortal man knows of no other way of getting nourishment to a nerve. Therefore when the blood gets thin and fails to feed the nerves they show their resentment by becoming inflamed. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at this stage and see how the inflammation subsides as the enriched blood carries to the starved nerves the elements they need.

SICK CHILDREN LOVE CASCARETS FOR THE BOWELS

Give "Candy Cathartic" for a bad cold, sour stomach, constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets Candy Cathartic which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

SUN FEATURES SATURDAY

Real Estate Page, Spellbinders, "They Do Say" and Others On Tomorrow's List

An extensive "Build Now" movement has been launched and has greatly increased the public interest in real estate and building matters. The latest news of local activities in these lines will be found on the Real Estate and Builders' Page of The Sun tomorrow.

The Spellbinders will discuss the candidate for sheriff, salaries and other municipal matters.

"Boxes for Everything" is the topic of discussion in "What the French Maid Said," an interesting feature which will be printed tomorrow in The Sun. "The Rabbit's Foot" will tell of the proper care of the hair. The "Sleepytime Tale" for tomorrow is "Ver's New Doll."

Mrs. Ray's low cost menus for an entire week and "They Do Say" will be highly interesting features for Sun readers tomorrow.

FOR SOLDIER'S RELIEF

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

It's an interesting work going through the Sun of quarter of a century ago and noting the news and comment and the personalities of those days. For instance, I find that the editor of the old Sun must have been a militant church member and my evidence of the fact is in an editorial headed "The Intelligent Church Section," which read as follows:

"Why is it that so many church sections are unable to comprehend the meaning or necessity of ventilation and the difference between heat and cold? No other man on earth but a church sexton has the heart to raise a congregation on a hot day and freeze them almost to death on a cold day. He can see the condensed steam from his boiling victims roll down the iron columns and drip from the window panes to the floor, but he hates to open the windows and spell the fun. He hears of hundreds who contract colds that lead to sickness and death, from sitting in a cold church during services, but he doesn't take the trouble to improve matters, although the coal-burn is bursting. He hears of sensitive people who will complain of a headache as a result of imperfect ventilation or rather the absence of any ventilation at all, but he can't understand what that means as he never has the headache.

"It takes a good deal of physical courage and pious devotion to go into a church in good health with full knowledge that one is in danger of coming out sick or on the verge of sickness and yet such are frequent experiences in more than one church in this city, and the complaints are growing louder and stronger. Meanwhile, the sexton rubs his hands in silent satisfaction in the thought that his suffering victims must grin and bear it."

The above is respectfully referred to all local church sections without comment, for their careful consideration between now and next Sunday.

The Mathews' Theatricals

Looking over the accounts of the amateur performances of quarter of a century ago one finds that while all of the ladies who appeared before the footlights in those days have long since disappeared from the theatrical limelight, some of the gentlemen are still with us and having mellowed with age are even better than they were when 25 years ago they modestly bowed before the prolonged plaudits of their admiring friends. The thought is suggested by a report in

CUTTING ICE AGAIN

Gage Company Resumes Work on the Merrimack River—About 200 Men Employed

Ice cutting was resumed by the Daniel Gage company today on the Merrimack river. The work was started Monday but had to be postponed on account of the severe storm which lasted Tuesday and Wednesday. All yesterday was spent in scraping the snow from the ice and today a sufficient space of ice was scraped for the cutting to begin. The ice is about 10 inches thick and of good quality. About 200 men will be employed when the work starts in earnest.

PUT TO DEATH

Lee Dock and Eng Hing Executed at Sing Sing Prison

OSSENING, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Lee Dock and Eng Hing, Chinese, were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison early today.

Both men were members of the Hip Sing Tong. They were convicted of the murder of Lee Kay, the aged leader of the On Leong tong. The murder occurred Feb. 17, 1912, during a tong war in New York city and followed the murder of Hip Pon Sing, a Hip Sing member. It was brought out at the trial that Lee Dock and Eng Hing were delegated to carry out a decree of the Hip Sing tong that Tom Lee, head of the On Leong tong himself should pay the penalty for Hip Sing's murder. Tom Lee, however, escaped and Lee Kay, his bodyguard, received the bullets intended for the rival tong leader. Warden Thomas Osborn, who is opposed to capital punishment, was absent from the prison when the executions occurred.

FEAR FOUL PLAY

Young Coe, Protege of Standard Oil President Disappears

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., 23 years old, a trusted employee of the Standard Oil company in Boston, and a protege of Pres. Folger of that concern, son of one of the best known families in New York and husband of a daughter of A. A. Austin, one of the most prominent hotel men in the country, is missing. Young Coe, who lived with his wife at 1200 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, has not been seen since last Saturday morning and his mysterious disappearance and prolonged absence has caused a countrywide investigation to be instituted in the hope that some clue as to his whereabouts may be gleaned. "Robert Burns of the Burns Detective Bureau has been authorized by Dr. Coe, an eminent New York surgeon, the father of the missing young man, to offer a reward of $250 for information which might lead to the discovery of the young man and today more than 6000 circulars, bearing a picture of young Coe, with his description, will be sent broadcast through the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

The mystery which surrounds the disappearance of Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., has startled fashionable circles in Boston, Brookline and New York, where his family is well known. That the earth suddenly opened and swallowed the young man he could not have disappeared more completely, and fears of foul play are being entertained by his family and by the private detectives at work on the case.

DARING HOLDUPS

Two Within Half an Hour in Boston Last Evening

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Within half an hour last evening an expressman was held up at the point of a revolver on Southampton street and robbed of $25 and a clerk in a liquor and grocery store at 107 Beach street was robbed of more than $50 by a man who held a revolver in his hand. The police believe both robberies were committed by the same bandit.

Shortly after 7:30 Robert Dunn of 125 Broadway, South Boston, was driving his delivery wagon along Southampton street. When under the New Haven railroad bridge a man jumped into the roadway and, pointing a revolver at his head, ordered Dunn to stop. He pulled up his horse and the man jumped up to the seat.

He then demanded that Dunn turn

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.

This well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartics and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 432 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

over all the money he had, holding his revolver in his hand. Dunn searched every pocket and turned over about $25.

The robber jumped from the wagon and ordered Dunn to drive off and not make any outcry. Dunn did as directed and went to South Boston, making his first stop at the Broadway police station, where he made a report.

Less than half an hour later a man entered the store of Charles L. Richardson & Co., 107 Beach street, where Charles M. Hollander was in charge with another clerk. Both Hollander and the clerk supposed he was a customer. The stranger walked over to the counter, pulled a revolver from his right overcoat pocket and calmly told Hollander that he wanted what money there was in the cash register.

Hollander and his assistant were dumfounded by the command. But the robber held his revolver menacingly toward them and Hollander opened the drawer and turned over its contents, $50.

FAIR WAGE FOR WOMEN

State Board Recommends That the Employer Pay Price Asked By Employees

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Feb. 5.—That a price of $8.00 for a week of 50 hours is not a fair wage for women who are required to perform an essential operation in the paper-making industry, is the opinion handed down by the state board of conciliation and arbitration in the case of the Valley Paper Co. at Holyoke and its employees in the rag sorting department, which the board publicly investigated on Jan. 22.

The board recommends that the employer pay the price asked by the employees, $1.50 for a 50-hour week.

A. C. F. MEETING HELD

The regular meeting of Branch St. Louis, A. C. F., was held last night at the Centralville Social club with President Henri Poirier in the chair. ## A SAFE WAY TO STOP INDIGESTION

Without Fear of Weakening the Stomach or Making It Lazy, and Bringing Relief in Ten Minutes. The greatest folly of today is committed by people with weak dyspeptic stomachs who take artificial digesters to cure indigestion. They are simply encourage a lazy or tired stomach to shirk its work by doing most of its work for it. This is fine at first, but as every chronic dyspeptic knows, artificial digesters soon lose their efficiency. Where one once did the trick three or four are now required and the tired old stomach itself is worse off than ever. Your stomach must be strong enough to expand and contract with a sort of pumping movement so as to mix the food with gastric juices with your food. If your stomach isn't strong enough to properly churn your food, you will keep right on having indigestion after every meal until you make it strong. There is one stomach remedy that every dyspeptic can depend on as sure as that the sun will rise tomorrow and that is the famous old M-I-O-N-A Stomach Tablets. Most stomach remedies do the stomach rest and digest the food themselves. M-I-O-N-A won't digest anything but it will strengthen and stimulate the stomach and make it do its own digesting. It stops stomach aches, pains, gas, bloating, burning, belching, etc., in ten minutes and does it by making the stomach healthy, strong and elastic and able to do its own churning. M-I-O-N-A Tablets are sold in all drug stores and by mail. Complete relief.

A Lowell Heating Expert's Statement in Regard to the Effect of Coke on Grates:

December 2, 1914.

Lowell Gas Light Co.

Dear Sirs:—You ask my opinion as to whether COKE will destroy grates in a heating plant, more quickly than coal?

I unhesitatingly say that neither COKE nor coal will ever destroy grates when properly used.

No grates can be warped or melted unless hot ashes are allowed to accumulate under them.

A clean ashpit preserves grates.

SEN. SULLIVAN GETS DELAY—SENATE POSTPONES ACTION IN WALKER CASE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—In the Massachusetts senate yesterday consideration was postponed until Tuesday of the order regarding the commission on economy and efficiency to produce all papers in connection with its investigation of the department of animal industry's stamping out of the foot and mouth disease.

On motion of Senator Sullivan of Boston consideration was postponed to Tuesday of the resolutions asking for a revision of the tariff.

Senator Langelier had recommended the report of the committee on public service on appointment of clerks of courts pro tempore.

On motion of Senator Thibault the adverse report of a committee on the increase of salary of the justice of the Roxbury district court was tabled, and on motion of Senator Cavanaugh of Everett an adverse report on the increase of salaries of Middlesex county commissioners was also laid on the table.

Reimburse Cattle Owners

The committee on agriculture reported a resolve to appropriate $100,000 for reimbursing the owners of cattle and other property destroyed because of foot and mouth disease, provided that in no case shall the commonwealth pay more than 50 per cent of the value of cattle or property so destroyed.

When this report was read Senator Bazley of Uxbridge, chairman of the committee on ways and means, before which committee the resolve would go in the ordinary course of legislative procedure, immediately reported "ought to pass." He said his committee had already considered the bill.

Municipal Debt Bill Amendment

At the close of the session the following reports were filed: Cities—Reference to next general court of the petition of Representative Frederick W. Burke for a Saturday half-holiday for Lynn city laborers. Metropolitan Affairs—Reference to next general court of the petition of Chester L. Campbell for the construction of Farmaco Brooks parkway in Quincy and an appropriation of $50,000 therefor.

Municipal Finance—A bill to amend the law as to municipal indebtedness of cities by striking out the provision that after the limit has been fixed by ordinance it shall not be changed by a city council within one year and inserting a provision that the mayor and city council after notice of three weeks' advertising, and after a public hearing, may change such limit as in their discretion seems advisable.

FIVE OF HEARTS

The annual concert and dance under the auspices of the Five of Hearts took place at Associate hall last evening and the affair was largely attended. The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the color schemes and potted plants added to the general enjoyment. Minors' orchestra furnished music and vocal selections were given by James McNulty, William J. O'Donnell, Edward Powers, Joseph Tobin, Miss Marion Kennedy and Miss Madeline Boland. The event was in charge of James R. Bourke and Joseph B. McVey.

Continued

the old Sun of a performance of "Young Mrs. Whitthrop" by the Matthews Dramatic club, 25 years ago. The cast was as follows:

Constance, "Young Mrs. Whitthrop," Miss Mary Plaugan
Mrs. Dick Chelwick, a society lady, Miss Mary Mansfield
Edith Whitthrop, Constance's blind sister, Miss Ida Marion Trip
Mrs. Ruth Whitthrop, Douglas' mother, Miss Mary A. Harrahan
Annette, a servant, Miss Theresa McHugh
Douglas Whitthrop, a young capitalist, Mr. M. J. Mahoney
Benton Scott, a lawyer, Mr. W. F. Thornton
Herbert Whitthrop, brother to Douglas, Mr. J. J. Corcoran
Dr. Milbank, Mr. J. B. Coughlin

With the exception of Mr. Corcoran, the men who appeared in this cast of long ago, are still there with the goods and are frequently heard from in dramatic performances. "Mike" Mahoney in his time has played many parts and can still make good. You've seen him in "The Littlest Girl" and other attractions. Did you ever hear "Truant Commissioner Billy Thornton" give Bryan's "Cross of gold" speech, or "Paul Clifford"? If not, you've missed a treat. Did you ever hear him, on the sidewalk, after holding up a kid who was playing "hooky," put the fear of God into that youngster's heart? Great! There's where his dramatic ability comes in strongly. Then there's Jim Coughlin whose ability as a recitationist is well known throughout the city; and Jim is going yet.

A Straight-Laced Firm

Says the old Sun:
"A local firm of wood-engravers are dead set against rum and tobacco. So bitter are they against the 'weed' and the 'bug-jule' that they refuse to engrave labels, letterheads or any other kind of work that people engaged in the liquor or tobacco business may order of them. More than one dealer has been almost knocked off his pins by this firm refusing to have anything to do with jobs ordered by them."

The old Sun might also have added that this firm also refused to do any work on Saturday for they were consistent Seventh Day Adventists, and yet they continued in business with great success for many years until their line of work gave way to the more modern methods of photoengraving and the half-tone process. The firm referred to was that of Coggeshall & Piper, wood-engravers, who did business in the Central block. In these days the local job printing plants did much business with Coggeshall & Piper. Many times and oft a job requiring cuts would come in on a Friday night or Saturday morning with orders to have it out on Monday. Immediately a messenger would be despatched to Coggeshall & Piper's place to have a cut made, only to find the place closed tight, for it was Saturday. Speaking of the aversion of the firm to doing any work for liquor or tobacco firms, a local job printer once "slipped one over" on them and they never forgave him for so doing. It seems that the Maynard Brewing company, then known as the Consumers' Brewery, was about to be opened for the first time, a few years less than quarter of a century ago, and at the last moment the job printer received a rush order for 1500 invitations to be printed with a monogram cut "C. B." at the head. It was too late to send to Boston, and the only way to get the job out on time was to have Coggeshall & Piper do it. Knowing the set rule of the firm relative to cuts for liquor companies, the manager in sending a messenger with the order said nothing to the latter as to what "C. B." stood for. The messenger delivered his order for the rush monogram cut, and one of the men upon taking the copy said to him: "Who is this for? What does 'C. B.' stand for?"

"I dunno," replied the youth. "Guess it's a hosiery job," for at that time the plant was doing considerable work for the Lawrence hosiery.
To the huge delight of the foreman, he cut back on scheduled time and the invitations were delivered and sent out, and a few days later the newspapers had lengthy accounts of

IS THE RIGHT METHOD OF DOING BUSINESS

One set of prices for P&Q Clothes! That's $10-and-$15, always, but you've got to go some to duplicate them short of $20-to-$25.

One method of distribution! Direct from the makers to you. No middlemen have a finger in the pie. You save their profits of $5-to-$8, sure as you are alive!

One kind of clothes. We are specialists! You get clothes crowded with quality and built with a backbone by our all-year-round force of 150 skilled New York tailors.

One small margin of profit above wholesale costs, because we sell thousands and thousands of garments, a season, in our 10 stores. P&Q styles are new—our stock is always on the move and so we take one small profit because of our frequent "turn-overs."

the opening of the Consumers' Brewery. A short time afterward, however, the job printer received a letter from the firm of Coggeshall & Piper, administering a Christian but very pointed call-down, and announcing the fact that under the circumstances the firm would accept no money for the work done on the cut.

John L. Coggeshall, of the old firm of Coggeshall & Piper, is today Lowell's most prominent artist. He has a studio at Gloucester where he has painted many beautiful marine scenes, while all Lowell has admired the two big pictures from his brush that adorn the walls of The Sun office, "The Pawtucket Falls" and "The Mill of Mills."

Mr. Joseph Piper, the other member of the firm, is connected with the Barr Engraving company and is interested in an invention of his own, a new kind of grate.

Smith Adams Starts Out

Just quarter of a century ago former Alderman Smith J. Adams decided that he would become a journalist and entered the employ of the old Sun as office boy. He is still in the paper business, but a long time ago he jumped to the Federal league as it were, going from the newspaper to the wall-paper business, in which line he is at present engaged.

General Butler on The Deep Blue

Quarter of a century ago the late General Butler during the summer months entertained his friends aboard

his famous yacht, the "America," which originally brought the cup to this country, ever since known as the "America's Cup," and it is evident that the editor of the old Sun had been entertained to such an extent that the impression remained with him until deep into the winter, when in remembrance of the month of February he penned the following lines:
"The owner of the 'America,' General Benjamin F. Butler, enjoys his famous yacht as well as possible. The general on board ship is a genial and wholesome amateur, far and once on the yacht he makes you feel at home. 'I have some Medford here, something over 50 years old; they say it's very good, won't you have some?' is generally one of the first greetings he extends to his guests. Socially, especially aboard his yacht he is genial, hospitable, and kind. He loves yachting, says it does him good, and gives him much needed rest. Capt. Reed, who has been with him for many years says that he is one of the kindest-hearted men he ever knew. The general is not much of a believer in red tape and he has no use for 'dude' yachtsmen, as he calls them. The general's yachting season seldom lasts more than three months and he frequently has to leave his craft while on a cruise to attend to his legal business."

I can actually hear the smacking of the lips of some of my readers. Whether it was Colwell's from Newburyport or Lawrence's from Medford it must have been great at 50 years of age.

Why Is POSTUM Replacing Coffee!

People are waking up to the harmful effects of the powerful drug—caffeine—in coffee, which poisons the system, often resulting in nervousness, heart flutter, headache, biliousness and many other ills and discomforts.

The pure food-drink, Postum, is absolutely drug-free—made only of the choicest wheat and a bit of wholesome molasses. It contains no caffeine or other harmful elements.

If you doubt that coffee hurts you, a sure test is to leave it off for 10 days and use Postum. It's an easy change, too, for Postum tastes much like the mild, high-grade Javas. As the coffee-drug is eliminated from your system, your own feelings will suggest Postum and better health.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be boiled, 15c and 25c packages; Instant Postum—soluble form, made in the cup with hot water instantly, 30c and 50c tins. Both kinds are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

the destiny of the "America" under General Butler's ownership was not a Lowell man but a product of the North End, in Boston. Before becoming sailing master of the "America" he was in the pilot service and was one of the best known pilots in New England.

The story of how General Butler came into possession of the "America" is quite interesting and is a typical Butler story. On the night of the Puritan-Genesee race for the America's cup Sept. 14, 1885, a party of leading yachtsmen and newspaper writers were assembled in a cafe in New York discussing the race. In the course of the conversation the talk turned to the old "America" and an intimate friend of General Butler said to one of the newspapermen: "Do you know how Butler came into possession of the 'America'? No, of course, you don't for it has never been told. I had it from Butler himself. A man came into his office in Washington one day and said: 'My name is Lamar and I have a cotton claim against the government for $200,000. It's straight as a string and I need your help to collect it.' Leave the papers and call to-morrow," said the general. Lamar was a relative of the secretary of the interior (under Cleveland). He called the next day. "You have a clear case," said Butler, "I'll collect it for 20 per cent." That is 5 per cent. less than I expected to pay," said Lamar. "So I shall be liberal. I'll tell you what I'll do. I own a yacht which the government has seized. It's over at the navy yard. I can't get possession of it without a more expensive fight than it is worth. If you win this claim I'll give you a bill of sale for that yacht in addition to 20 per cent." The claim was duly allowed; Lamar got a check for $200,000. Butler got $40,000 and a bill of sale for the yacht. It was in Secretary Robeson's time. Butler walked down to the secretary of the navy one day and said to Robeson: "You've got my boat and I want it. Robeson was nearly frantic. 'Look here, Butler,' he pleaded, 'there's already a heap of talk about my department, and if I let you have this boat, right or wrong, there'll be a horrible howl.' 'I want my boat,' was Butler's stubborn reply. A naval officer sat in the office and heard this talk. He finally got up and made signs for Butler to follow him out. When the general did so, the officer said: 'General, there is an easy way out of this. Buy the boat at auction. There is lead enough in the bottom to pay the purchase price. If you insist on having your property they'll strip her of ballast. Beside if you buy her there can be no scandal.' Butler went back and informed Robeson that he was not in earnest in his demand but would bid on the boat when she was to be sold. Robeson had it put up and Butler bought it. Then the general had the curiously to know how the bargain stood, and had the ballast weighed. There was $160 worth more than he had bid for her."

USING OLD FUR PIECES

"I have a lot of scraps of fur I would like to utilize this winter," remarked Marjorie one cold, sparkling morning as she ran in to Marie with cheeks aglow and eyes sparkling.

"The pieces are so small, however," she continued, "that I don't know as they are much good."

"Don't despair if there is not enough of the fur for scarf and muff trimmings," answered Marie. "Make a collarette to wear when it is not really necessary to carry a muff. If your pieces of pelt are short-haired make them into a fascinating looking collarette consisting of a tall band encircling the throat and rolling a trifle at the neck's nape but flaring into two rather wide points at the ears."

"Under the chin the band buttons

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS OVERWORKED?

How They Fight Uric Acid

If you eat meat, then you have uric acid in your blood. And uric acid is the chief cause of weak kidneys. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of irritating uric acid, but it is a losing fight for them. They become weak from the overwork. They get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the work of filtering the blood is performed very poorly and the waste is retained to poison the entire system. When your kidneys are weak, you have a dull ache, when they feel like lumps of lead, when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, tired feeling, constipation and bladder disorders, you can make up your mind that these troubles come from weak, sluggish kidneys.

You can help the weakened kidneys and put them in good working order again by asking your druggist for about five ounces of Rheumacalts. Take two teaspoonfuls in one-half glass of water before breakfast for a few mornings and the results will surprise you.

Rheumacalts acts quickly without griping or nausea. It is delicious to take. It is a uric acid solvent as well as a saline laxative—delightfully effective.

These famous salts are very inexpensive. Every one can profitably take a little Rheumacalts occasionally to keep the kidneys clean, working and efficient.

Rheumacalts is prepared by the famous Rheumacalts Company, Minneapolis, Minn. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles.

back and the chest as a dark, irregular fringe.

"Skunk, one of the most attractive and practical of the long-haired furs, makes a wonderfully fetching collarette when three strips of it are sewn upon a silk foundation. This, running high against the throat at the back, tapers very gradually from the sides and at front joins to make a point which would be sharp but for the irregular line given to it by the furry fur edging."

Worms Sap Children's Health

Mothers often wonder why their children are not rugged and hardy. In a vast number of cases, the trouble is—Worms.

Signs of worms are: Indigestion, variable appetite, craving for sweets, nausea, vomiting, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly, eyes heavy and itchy, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. Truie's Elixir, the 60 years tried Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, will expel the worms and restore the vim and vigor to your child. Good for adults also. Discovered by my father over 60 years ago. 35c, 50c and $1.00 at all dealers. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

SOARING WHEAT PRICES

When the war first broke out, the prices of wheat and other commodities in this country began to soar without apparent reasons. Soon the public made no secret of its resentment towards a condition which was not warranted by the facts of the case and the intervention of the government was sought. Federal investigations were immediately ordered and though no direct action was ever taken, it is significant that with the publication of the government's intention, the wheat prices ceased soaring and were soon reduced to normal.

Once again the price of wheat is going up by leaps and bounds and as a consequence flour has become very costly with every indication of still higher prices. From day to day the price of wheat is being boosted on the Chicago exchange and already the poor are beginning to feel the difference in the increased cost of living. For this condition two causes are assigned, one by those who adjust the prices and the other by those who say that the increase is needless and unjustifiable. The former declare that the high prices have been occasioned by the legitimate operations of supply and demand, and those opposed say that the wheat owners simply take advantage of a phenomenal opportunity to bleed the dependent public.

The legal department of the United States is apparently anxious to get at the true facts in the case and does not seem to be willing to accept the statements of the great grain companies without full and convincing proof of their accuracy and honesty. Notices have been served on these grain companies to appear before the United States district attorney with records of their transactions for the past five or six months. These records will in all probability reveal whether the controllers of the situation are guilty of conspiracy to rob the public—and especially those of the public who can least afford to be robbed—or whether the high price is justified by the natural fluctuations of trade.

Whatever the coming investigation may reveal, there is no denying the following facts: Last harvest time, the farmers of this country had a greater yield in wheat than ever before. This wheat has been partly distributed along the domestic channels in the usual manner and there has been no increase in domestic consumption. The government did everything possible to tide the farmers over a trying situation caused by the lack of foreign trade and the lack of available shipping. Recently the foreign demand became greater than it had been and immediately the grain companies announced that they would have to raise prices and to raise them again and again to meet the situation. At present our people face what is virtually a war condition, and to the ordinary citizen there seems no legitimate excuse for the existing situation in this country.

If it be established that the exportation of wheat in large quantities is responsible for increased prices, it may be well for the government—if possible—to prevent a degree of exportation that would create shortage and needlessly high prices here. It does not seem right or just that this country should have to suffer from war effects as though we were in the fighting zone, merely because our farmers or wheat agents wish to make abnormal profits. In all recent congressional legislation, the wants and needs of the farmer were given paramount attention and it is a poor return for the farmer to impose a crushing burden on the American public. It is hard to forgive the juggling of any commodity for the creating of artificial conditions, but the crime of gambling with bread is nothing short of heinous. If the government discovers that the high prices of wheat and flour are due to the selfish machinations of the wheat gamblers, it is to be hoped that there will be a liberal donation of direct jail sentences to those responsible.

The recent inclusion of wheat among the articles of contraband, by England, ought to check too great exportation also and make our exporters consider the rights and needs of this country as of primary importance. Whatever the wheat interests may do to increase their foreign trade or to get good prices abroad, they should not be allowed to practice heartless extortion on the American masses.

THE SHIPPING BILL

Though the fate of the shipping bill hangs in the balance, with a very great possibility of its being defeated, those who have opposed it on partisan grounds so persistently and with such a display of artificial apprehension of the consequences may very soon see that they have overdone their part. The arguments urged against the measure—or the one great argument, at least—may cause a speedy reaction in the popular mind when the American public sees how the main issues were carefully kept out of sight, and how selfish and very interested groups put patriotism and business needs aside and deliberately tried to prevent what they must have known was a sincerely designed and fundamentally sound measure.

Opponents of the shipping bill pretended to entertain a great fear that when our government should purchase the ships of any power, belligerent or non-belligerent, the hostility of England and other foreign governments would be immediately aroused. President Wilson, who is in a position to be informed on such things better than the average individual and who is certainly the last man in the country to do anything that would endanger our peace, declared most emphatically that no international complications need be feared. The question was purely a domestic one, America reserving the right to manage her own affairs as she saw fit, while not infringing on the rights of any other power or disregarding international regulations.

The administration urged and still urges the passage of the merchant marine bill, fully conscious of the justice of our cause. It urged this country to do what England herself has done whenever it was to her interest. At the time of our Civil War, England and other powers purchased many ships of American registry and no question of her right to do so was raised. If the purchase be in good faith, we need make no explanation or apology to any power on earth, a fact which is established by many precedents and supported by international law. In time the truth will be well understood by our people, whether the shipping bill passes or not.

WHAT ABOUT ECONOMY?

Owing to his past distinguished services and his recognized knowledge of international relations, Senator Lodge is frequently quoted by those who agitate the army and navy questions, recently raised, or who oppose the administration bill for the restoration of park board, declares that it would take from $100,000 to $125,000 to put the woods in condition and that a further expenditure would be necessary to make them a pleasure ground for the people of the city. In this there is food for thought for Lowell which is gradually finding its park problems more and more serious with little promise of a satisfactory solution. In all the cities of this part of the country the people agitate the acquisition of more parks and playgrounds but it is becoming more and more difficult to find money with which to keep them in condition. In this city we need parks in many districts, but with the appropriations now made for park purposes, we cannot do more than barely keep those we already have in fair condition. There is little incentive in present arrangements to private individuals who may be inclined to donate land to the city for park purposes. If things go much farther he who would leave a park to Lowell must also leave a fund sufficiently large for its yearly maintenance.

PRESIDENT VILLA

It looks as though Pancho Villa has taken the first steps towards political suicide—if we may use the word "political" in describing Mexican conditions—by declaring himself president. The miscellaneous collection of gentlemen who have worn that title since the days of the unhappy Maximilian have not enjoyed it long and if conditions there do not change, there will be no exception in Villa's case. The crafty bandit leader, however, has also kept his hold on the military resources of the country so that for a while he may be the strongest power. With the factions headed by Carranza, Zapata and other generals or soldiers of fortune against him, the little populace or the mob he rules will sooner or later turn on their idol as they have turned against so many under his direction. Other despatches from Mexico declare that fierce fighting is going on and that another "president" named Garza has been executed. If news of the execution of Villa comes in the near future there will not be many American tears—though Secretary Bryan may shed a few for old times sake.

The warning of Germany to American vessels, to avoid the north and west coasts of France, may be taken to indicate some coming German naval activity in those waters, but whether it be mines or submarines time alone will tell. England will be ready for either emergency but in view of recent events the world will await developments with eagerness. The greatest surprise of the war are apt to come any day on the sea.

Ex-Governor Guild works himself into a fine frenzy in his bitter denunciation of President Wilson, declaring himself even in favor of impeachment. One can almost see the contemptuous smile which President Wilson would give the message, were he to receive it. Mr. Guild does not sound quite like himself, somehow, and he is out of touch with public opinion.

SEEN AND HEARD

Too many of the mutts who are preaching the brotherhood of man seem to keep their eyes on the sisterhood all the time.

Poor man is always up against it. He worries because he discovers that he is becoming bald and then finds out that nothing increases baldness so much as worry.

A man will buy his son a rifle to play with in winter and a canoe to play with in summer. And then he will wonder why there are so many undertakers in this country.

There are all sorts of people in the world. Some men like to make stunts and others like to carry a dead end of a punk cigar into a closed street car.

Any man who has ever been sea sick doesn't have much trouble believing that the whale wasn't doing anything wonderful in getting rid of Jonah.

Some people wonder why Solomon said, "All Men Are Liars," and didn't mention the women. That's easy. If you had 700 wives I'd dare you to start anything. Solomon was wise, all right.

EARLY SPRING BIRDS

It was a cold Sunday for the early spring birds to show themselves, but according to several reports some of them did so. One suburbanite says that he saw two bluejays about the trees near his home and heard some other kinds of birds there as well, but could not get a glimpse of them to distinguish to what class they belonged. Not many robins have been seen about as yet, so far as reports have come in, but we may expect to hear from them shortly. Then we shall know that spring is on the way, even though the way is a long one.

FEBRUARY TEMPERATURE

If you want to know what the weather for February is going to be, all you have to do is to read this: February temperature is going to average lower than usual, which ought to be pleasing news to some people, who make money out of having cold weather, but it is not going to be very stormy. There is going to be a very cold spell about the 15th of the month, which is going to be followed by a warm spell three or four days later, when the temperature will go away up. From that time out the temperature is to be above the average. March coming in fairly warm weather. You don't have to believe this prognostication unless you want to, but it is the best guess the writer has seen.

MARKED DOWN

Charles broke the spell as in a dejected tone of voice he said: "Miss Fraser, I love you, but dare not dream of calling you mine. Yesterday I was worth $25,000, but today, by a turn of fortune's wheel, I have but a few shabby hundred dollars left. I would not ask you to accept me in my reduced state. Farewell forever."

WOMAN WANTS TO HELP OTHERS

By Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Miami, Okla.—"I had a female trouble and weakness that annoyed me continually. I tried doctors and all kinds of medicine for several years but I was not cured until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I hope my testimonial will help other suffering women to try your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. M. R. MILLER, Box 234, Commerce, Okla.

Another Woman who has Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lindsborg, Kansas.—"Some years ago I suffered with terrible pains in my side which I thought were inflammation, also with a burning pain, backache, and I was at times awfully nervous. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now enjoying good health. I will be glad to recommend your medicine to any woman suffering with female trouble and you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. L. SMITH, R. No. 3, Box 60, Lindsborg, Kansas.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to any of the women whose testimonial letters we are constantly publishing. They will tell you their experience and give you confidence to try the medicine.

the intentions of President Wilson is evident from the message of his speech before the national chamber of commerce. In this he makes no departure from his declared stand on previous occasions. To bring about better relations between the government and the business interests, in a legitimate sense, has been one of the main objects of the administration.

The legislature has apparently heeded the public attitude on the matter of procrastination; bills are being pushed along more quickly than last year and in other technical respects there is much improvement.

I met with Kaiser Wilhelm, and he took me by the hand, and he said, "How's Italy and Greece and how do they stand?"

The man who calls for homo mado goods used to be called provincial; now he is called prudent.

As Charles was about to stride momentarily away she caught him and eagerly cried: "Good gracious! Reduced from $25,000 to $100! What a lagoon! Of course, I'll take you! You might have known I couldn't resist!"

SUBSTANTIATED

Abner was a boy who lived in a thrifty country community where from a point of economy his hair was cut at home. At the village Sunday school one afternoon the teacher read the story of Delilah and Samson, whereat Abner sat right up and began to take notice.

"I knowed it! I knowed it!" he exclaimed with an air of positiveness when the story was completed. "That's just exactly what I have been tellin' me!"

"Do you mean," kindly inquired the pleased teacher, "that you have been telling her about Delilah and Samson?"

"No," was the prompt response of Abner. "I have been tellin' her that it don't pay to let a woman cut a feller's hair."

HERE'S A TANGLE

"Daddy, is today tomorrow?" "No, my son, of course today isn't tomorrow," answered the father. "But you said it was," continued the son. "When did I say today was tomorrow?" "Yesterday," answered the boy. "Well, it was; today was yesterday; yesterday, but today, today is today; just as yesterday was today yesterday, but yesterday is today and tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play," and the father collapsed in his chair with a sigh of relief.

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE

A dog was tied to a rope 10 feet long, 20 feet away was a fat, juicy bone. How did the dog get the bone? "Oh, that is an old one," said Carl. "You want me to say 'Give it up' and then you will say, 'That is what the dog did'?" "No, you're wrong, for the dog got the bone."

"Well, how did he do it?" "Why, the other end of the rope was not tied."

ALWAYS BELIEVE FATHER

The Sunday school teacher had explained the familiar Bible story at length. He asked Tommy if he expected to be among the sheep or the goats.

"I dunno," Tommy pondered dubiously. "How a feller to know when his mother calls him her poor lamb and his father calls him the confounded kid?"

GOING WRONG WAY

Artists are as a usual thing pretty good characters but occasionally they make an error. As an instance of this a Boston paper of Monday had an item about prisoners knitting stockings, and the item was illustrated with a drawing of a man performing this labor. He had begun at the toe and knitted the stocking up, having it nearly completed going toward the top. Paraphrase: It was the way they do in prison, but most of the women who have knitted stockings remember of beginning at the top and closing the job at the foot.

There are lonely hearts to cherish While the years are going by; Let your face be like the morning; While the years are going by; Oh, the world is full of sighs; Full of sad and weeping eyes; Help your fallen brothers rise; While the years are going by.

All the loving links that bind us While the years are going by; And any one who leaves behind us While the years are going by; By the seeds of good we sow; Both in shade and shine will grow; And will keep our hearts aglow; While the years are going by.

DEAN OF TUTT'S COLLEGE GIVES INTERESTING LECTURE BEFORE MEN'S CLUB

Rev. Lee S. McCollister, dean of Tutts' college, described and discussed "Russia and Russia" at a meeting of the Men's club of the First Universalist church held in Harrington hall, Central street, last night.

Mr. McCollister used stereoscopic pictures, showing various Russian cities, towns and points of interest. It was a view of Russian life intended to show why Tolstol felt, wrote and lived as he did.

The speaker pictured Tolstol as a contradictory nature in which two forces prevailed, one for idealism and the other evidenced in his practice. Tolstol found that Russians were not ready for his reforms and did not understand them. He could not put into operation his theories. He was a modern in spirit but was working among the ancients. Mr. McCollister declared that Tolstol was writing for Russians in Russia and not for Americans in the United States, and that he should not be judged by the American standards. As for Tolstol's influence, he said it was never more alive in Russia than now.

POSSE JUSTIFIED

Verdict in Killing of Doctor, Following Alleged Attack on Woman

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 5.—A coroner's jury last night returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of Dr. A. N. Culbertson, killed near here early yesterday by a citizen's posse seeking him on charge of attacking a young married woman. Witnesses testified that he had drawn a revolver and attempted to flee before he was shot.

Culbertson, who was 35 years old, lived in Evans, a village near Augusta. News of the alleged assault led to the formation of the posse late Wednesday night.

The search ended shortly before dawn, when the physician was located in a country house where he had spent the night. When he was awakened, inquest witnesses said, Culbertson armed himself and attempted to escape by a rear doorway. He was killed by the posse's volley.

UPHOLD WILSON'S VETO OF IMMIGRATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—An attempt to pass the immigration bill, prescribing a literacy test for the admission of aliens over President Wilson's veto failed in the house yesterday, the affirmative vote lacking just five of the necessary two-thirds.

Of 399 members present, 261 voted to override the veto, 136 voted to sustain the president, and two answered "present."

How House Voted

	To pass bill	To sustain veto
Democrats	186	109
Republicans	78	33
Progressives and Progressive Rep.	1	2
Independent	16	1
Total	281	136

The final test came at the close of a day of earnest debate, in which party lines were temporarily obliterated. Majority leader Underwood made a vigorous speech, criticizing the president's reasons for vetoing the bill and urging the house to override executive disapproval.

Mr. Underwood told the house that the country had in several elections returned majorities in congress favoring the restriction of immigration, and that the president's contention that no political platform had placed the issue before the people was futile. "The question is," said he, "whether you stand for the American standard of living and the American standard of wages."

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, republican, urged the house to support the president and defeat the bill. He declared that immigration had had no effect on wages and working conditions in this country, and asserted that the restrictions imposed in the bill were contrary to the fundamental principles upon which the forefathers based this republic.

THEFT OF SHOES SOLD THEIR VOTES

Young Man's Antecedents to Be Looked Up—Other Cases

A young man, giving his name as Thomas W. Farrell, who claims a residence in Newmarket, N. H., pleaded guilty before Judge Enright in police court this forenoon to a complaint charging him with the larceny of three pairs of shoes valued at $210, stolen from the Field-Lambert company shoe manufacturers on West Adams street.

Farrell pleaded with the court for leniency. He said that he came to this city about four months ago and worked in one or two shoe shops about the city, but none of the work was permanent. Upon going to the Lambert factory in search of work, he said, he was tempted to steal the shoes and while on one was watching him picked up three pairs and succeeded in evading the watchmen on his way out. He claims that he was hard pressed for money and was willing to dispose of the shoes when met by Lieut. Maher and subsequently arrested.

Deputy Downey did not believe the defendant was representing himself correctly, however. He told the court that Farrell had been seen on the streets of the city at all hours of the night. At one time he was taken out of the Central block on the complaint of several tenants and held over night at the police station as a suspicious person. His case was continued one week for investigation, bail being fixed at $200.

Charles Hill was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Joseph Connelley in a Market street saloon, after climbing over the bar and threatening to shoot the bartender who had refused to sell him a drink. Officer Connelley said he had trouble with the defendant a short time before his arrest but allowed him his freedom on condition that he keep away from the barroom and go home. The court imposed a two months' sentence to jail but the defendant promised to go to a mill town in Maine "where there is no beer to drink." On condition that he remain out of Lowell the sentence was suspended for six months.

James McGrath, a middle-aged man, was arraigned today for drunk and disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty and was immediately sentenced to jail for one month. The state farm was given a suspended sentence.

HORN NOW IN JAIL

Dynamiter Begins His Sentence of 30 Days at Machias

YANKEEBORO, Me., Feb. 5.—Werner Horn, who claims to be a German officer, and in that capacity to have tried to blow up the International railroad bridge here was removed to Machias today to serve a sentence of 30 days for the damage which the explosion caused on this side of the border.

Deputy Sheriff George W. Ross put this prisoner aboard the train leaving Bangor at 5:15 o'clock this morning. At Bangor after a wait of two hours, the trip was continued on another line east to Machias where the party is due at 12:30 o'clock this evening.

The departure of Horn, who has gained notoriety by what he calls his act of war against Great Britain, attracted little attention. A small crowd of men and women gathered at the station. The prisoner, unshackled, sat on the men and women and waved good-bye as the train drew out. The case is now ended as far as the state is concerned. The next move, it is expected, will be by the federal authorities who are concerned with the application for the extradition of the dynamiter to Canada, where he is wanted to answer for the little damage which he did to the bridge by operating on that side of the boundary line.

SENATE PASSES THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL

Further dredging and development of Lynn harbor and Sagua river.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Only one brief speech was made in the Massachusetts senate yesterday when the woman suffrage question came up for debate, and at its conclusion the senate voted, 33 to 19, with one pair and two senators not recorded, in favor of a constitutional amendment to strike the word "male" from the qualifications demanded as a requisite for voting.

The amendment, which was adopted by both branches last year and which must be adopted by both again this year before it can be submitted to the voters next fall, is likely to pass in the house as smoothly as it did yesterday in the upper branch. In fact there was an agreement early in the session that there should be no extended hearing before the committee on constitutional amendments, that the committee would report favorably and that both branches would adopt the amendment in order that the voters might have a chance to declare themselves at the first opportunity.

Unlike the scenes of previous years, only a small group of women were in the gallery to watch the proceedings. Senator Wells of Haverhill, a consistent opponent of woman suffrage, was the sole speaker, and he had prepared his remarks. In the course of which he declared 26 of the senators who would vote for the amendment yesterday would vote against it at the polls.

Senator Wells said in part: "I have carefully canvassed the entire membership of the senate. This question will probably be voted upon by 39 members, and when the result is announced let it be taken into consideration that irrespective of the number that vote 'No' here today, there are 56 members who intend to vote 'No' upon the question next November, and eight others who are in doubt as to what their vote will be."

"Therefore, let the suffragists' jubilation be somewhat dampened by that statement. By agreeing to this constitutional amendment at this time the senate on its part makes it possible for the people to pass on this matter by a formal vote that will have the effect of a more or less permanent settlement of the entire question. That is what the majority of the members of this body desire to bring about, and not the actual granting of woman suffrage."

Summerville, Mr. Wells, some doubt will be cast upon these figures and I shall be asked to produce the names of the senators so expressing themselves. I have those names, but I do not intend to give them out. Many of the senators might be willing, others might not be willing.

Sen. Marchand Votes "Yes"

"As they were obtained in confidence, in confidence they will be held. If my good suffrage friends desire an issue on the question of the veracity of these figures, let them make the most of it, but let me warn them that if my word is doubted, there is one member of this honorable body who will corroborate my statement."

As soon as the senator had finished the roll was called, a yea and nay vote being required on all constitutional amendments. Senator Wells, Senator Doyle of New Bedford and Senator Vose of Medford were the three to vote "No." Senator Ellis of Newton was paired with Senator Marchand of Lowell, the former voting "No" and the latter voting "Yes." Pres. Coolidge did not vote, and Senator Beal of Rockland was not recorded.

ARBITRATION HEARINGS

PROF. FISHER OF YALE WOULD RAISE WAGES AS PRICES INCREASE

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Prof. Irving Fisher, head of the department of economics at Yale, was on the stand all day yesterday in Chipman hall at the continued hearing by arbitrators in relation to the wage controversy between the Bay State Street Railway company and its employees.

Even if a street railway company was suffering under financial stress and it was necessary to discontinue certain trips and discharge a number of men to do it, the professor believed, the company should not hesitate to increase the wages of its employees to meet the new condition of things in relation to the cost of living.

He believed this railway would be entitled then to permission to increase its fares. "It should be a six-cent fare or a seven-cent fare, as the honest situation demands," he said.

The fluctuation of gold has done it all. As the thing is now, the value of the ounce of gold dances up and down, and everything—prices, wages, etc.—must dance with it.

"Well, there'd be something of a row started here when the company goes after an increase in the rate of fare," observed Ex-Atty Gen. Swift, appearing for the company.

"But you can't secure any change in these days without a row," answered Prof. Fisher.

The witness was asked in relation to hours of labor, but answered that this matter must be determined largely by the character of the employment.

Prof. Fisher was questioned at length as to certain recent economic menus, one of which suggested that a person could get "three square meals" a day for 10 cents. This witness wouldn't go as far as this, however.

He said he believed generally that the working day is too long today both from the standpoint of the employer and the employee—and, in the case of

NOW GOES TO VOTERS

LEGISLATURE OF NEW YORK UNANIMOUSLY PASSES WOMAN SUFFRAGE RESOLUTION AGAIN

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The woman suffrage resolution, passed by the legislature in 1913, was adopted in the senate yesterday by unanimous vote. It previously had been adopted in the assembly.

The resolution provides that voters may determine at the polls next fall whether the constitution shall be amended so as to give votes to women. An effort also will be made to have the constitutional convention take some action on the question. By having the convention provide an amendment, a better position will be obtained on the ballot, suffragists think.

By law it was necessary that the resolution be adopted by two different legislatures, before being submitted to vote of the people.

LOWELL JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION

At a recent meeting of the Lowell Jewellers' association each member received a framed certificate of membership which is to be placed in a conspicuous place in the stores of the members. The aim of the association is to protect the public against misrepresentation in the buying of jewelry.

Adams & Co.'s February furniture sale and the annual sale of Oriental rugs commences next Monday.
